Toronto Hostile to Liberals

Times News Services

The federal Liberal Party will lose at least three cabinet ministers in the Metropolitan Toronto area and will not win a seat in the borough of Scarborough unless voters' attitudes change soon, says the party's Ontario campaign chairman.

(For more federal campaign stories see page 17.)

Canvassers, candidates and others have reported hostility towards the Liberals in Scarborough, on Toronto's east side, Sen. Royce Frith said Wednesday.

He said he is worried about Scarborough East, where Labor Minister Martin O'Connell is the incumbent; Scarborough West, where Liberal MP Alan Martin is the incumbent; York-Scarborough, taken from the Liberals in the October byelection by Progressive Conservative Paul McCrossan; and Scarborough Centre, a new riding where a Liberal candidate will be nominated Monday.

He said Secretary of State John Roberts (St. Paul's) and Anthony Abbott, minister of revenue and small businesses in Mississauga North, also are in trouble.

In Sydney, N.S., Wednesday Prime Minister Trudeau said results of the latest Gallup poll, taken three weeks before the election was called, indicate Canada will have a majority government after the May 22 election.

Trudeau said the drop in New Democrat support to 15 per cent of decided voters from 19 per cent while the Liberals and Conservatives are tied at 41 per cent is good.

"It will make people choose between the two main parties."

The poll also shows an increase in the undecided vote to 35 per cent from 29 per cent the previous month.

FAR-OUT FLAIR for fashion comes in form of this all-wool ensemble by Paris designer Robert Nelissen. While it might appear more suitable for a costume piece in an ice show, the price tag for the all-wool outfit is more likely to place it on an aspiring jet-setter than in an ice show's chorus line's wardrobe.

Egypt Will Hit Back Sadat Warns Arabs

Times News Services

CAIRO — In a defiant speech, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat today told Arab opponents of his peace treaty with Israel that Egypt can do without their aid if it is linked to outside control over Egyptian policy.

He said Egypt will hit back at Palestinians if they launch any terrorist act against his country.

"Egypt can return for one slap, two slaps, and we shall return this a hundred and a thousand times stronger."

He called on Palestinians in the West Bank of Jordan and the Gaza Strip to stop demonstrations against Israel and co-operate instead in his upcoming negotiations with Israel on Palestinian autonomy as the first step on the road to self-determination.

However, PLO leader Yasser Arafat again today exhorted Arab states to launch a "strategic strike" against U.S. interests in retaliation to President Carter's peace moves. A Kuwaiti newspaper said Palestinian commandos are training for strikes inside Egypt.

In Jerusalem, a terrorist bomb exploded today near a bus stop in the Arab east end, wounding four Arabs and two Jews, none seriously, authorities reported.

In Nicosia, Cyprus, terrorists exploded bombs outside the Israeli Embassy and the local agents for Egypt's airline, shattering windows in surrounding areas but causing no causulaties.

The Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries today announced a special session in Kuwait next Monday to debate whether to suspend Egypt's membership. The OPEC announcement, at Iraq's urging, was the latest Arab move to retaliate against the peace treaty.

Sadat challenged his Arab detractors in a three-hour policy report to Parliament presenting the treaty for ratification, to get better terms for peace from Israel. If they can do so, he said, "then I shall cancel the terms I got and follow them."

Sadat boasted that the arms deal he has made with the Uniited States after the treaty was signed will mean "20 leaps forward" for the Egyptian armed forces. He said the deal includes Phantom F-4 fighter-bombers, missiles and warships.

The Egyptian Cabinet Wednesday approved the peace treaty with Israel unanimously and Sadat convened the Parliament today for its ratification.

Fallout Kills N-Trial

MONTESANO, Wash. (AP) — Trespassing charges against 148 anti-nuclear demonstrators have been dropped here because an impartial jury could not be found in the aftermath of the nuclear power plant leak near Harrisburg, Pa.

The charges, which involved protesters arrested last June at the construction site of the Satsop nuclear plants, were dismissed by County District Court Judge Edward Brown.

The prosecutor, Curt Janhunen, said as a result of the Harrisburg plant incident, he could not find an impartial local jury of six people.

"It would be irresponsible for me as the attorney for the people in Grays Harbor county to ask jurors to put aside their fears and personal concerns about their own safety and to objectively and unemotionally decide the case," said Janhunen.

Chuck Caldart, lawyer for the Crabshell Alliance, an anti-nuclear group, said it was a victory that came in an unexpected manner.

Bennett Lying: Barrett

NDP leader Dave Barrett said today Premier Bill Bennett lied to the people of B.C. over the possible takeover of Ocean Falls pulp mill by a private eastern corporation.

Barrett said Bennett Wednesday issued a statement denying the B.C.-owned mill was up for sale but turned around today and admitted negotiations are under way with a number of prospective buyers, including Kruger paper of Quebec.

In fact, Barrett said, there is a signed letter of intent between Kruger and the B.C. resources corporation over Ocean Falls.

"He was not telling the truth yesterday when he said it was not for sale," Barrett told a news conference.

"The premier has decided to come clean this morning."

Barrett said he wonders what else is for sale in B.C. that Bennett has not told the people about.

Bennett said Wednesday in Vancouver that there are no negotiations under way for Ocean Falls but there is an "opportunity."

Today the premier said the government has been keeping Ocean Falls going for the past couple of years but its future depends on private enterprise.

"Ocean Falls is uneconomic. The best guarantee of continued employment and development is to have a fully integrated forest industry in that area," the premier said.

Bennett said the town and paper mill would become part of a large forestry complex that will be owned by private interets.

One of the conditions of any sale would be that the company maintain its head office in B.C., Bennett said.

Under the letter of intent, Ocean Falls cannot be sold until Kruger completes an economic study of the operation.

CUPW Bosses Voted to Defy

OTTAWA (CP) — Although doubts were raised by Ontario and Western representatives of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW), the union's national executive board made a majority decision Oct. 18 to defy Parliament's back-to-work order, the Ontario Supreme Court was told Wednesday.

Members were advised to continue their national strike despite the back-to-work order which took effect Oct. 19, Leroy Hiltz, national secretary-treasurer of CUPW, said at the trial of union president Jean-Claude Parrot. The trial was adjourned to Friday.

Hiltz was testifying under protection of the Canada Evidence Act, meaning that his statements cannot be used against him, because he has been charged along with Parrot and the rest of the CUPW executive board with defying an act of Parliament.

Hiltz said there was extensive discussion on whether to defy the back-to-work law at an Oct. 18 CUPW executive board meeting.

The director of the Atlantic region, Darrell Tingley, and the director of the Quebec region, Clement Morel, reported to the executive board that members in their regions were prepared to defy the law.

Doubts were raised by a representative of the Ontario region and the director of the Western region, Frank Walden, "indicated that his members would not defy the law regardless of the executive board's decision," Hiltz said.

However, after a full discussion the board voted to continue the strike, which had started legally Oct. 16. Hiltz said according to the union constitution, all members of the union executive are bound by majority decisions of CUPW's national executive board.

City Hall Mugging

City police today are looking for two suspects in connection with a $20 mugging under the city hall archways in Centennial Square Wednesday night.

A police spokesman said John Eric Hill was walking across the square just after 10 p.m. when he was attacked from behind and thrown to the ground.

He told police one man sat on him while the other took his wallet containing $20.

After warning Hill not to move, the pair ran off.

Hill said one of the men was in his mid 20s, five feet six inches tall, 145 pounds with light brown hair. He didn't see the other.

U.S. Sleeping Pill Use Draws Severe Warning

By VICTOR COHN

WASHINGTON (WP) — The heavy consumption of sleeping pills by Americans is on the whole medically unjustified and possibly dangerous, a National Academy of Sciences study group said Wednesday.

In one of the most severe indictments yet of these pills, currently taken by 8.5 million persons a year, the group said they should not be the primary treatment for most patients with persistent insomnia.

The study group, a committee of the academy's Institute of Medicine, said the pills can often be useful. But it called on doctors to tell patients more about their dangers, to limit prescriptions mainly to "very limited numbers of pills for use for a few nights at a time," and to prescribe the drugs only rarely for regular use for more than two to four weeks.

The committee said drug ads in medical journals extolling sleeping-pill benefits are often incomplete.

Doctors prescribe the pills far less than they once did. In 1971, they wrote 41.7 million prescriptions; in 1977, only 25.6 million, though they wrote several million more for tranquilizers, anti-depressants and antihistamines, which some patients use to seek sleep.

Nonetheless, the committee said, "it is difficult to justify" most current use.

In recent years, the sleeping pills once most often used, the barbiturates, have been passed in popularity by the generally safer benzodiazepines, which includes Dalmane, as well as the tranquilizers Valium and Librium.

But the committee said:

—Only in the past year did the Food and Drug Administration require Hoffman-La Roche to tell doctors that Dalmane breaks down in the bloodstream to produce one product that can stay there for days.

—Even the company's new labelling fails to say that this lingering compound's level on the eighth morning after a week of consecutive use is likely to be four to six times that on the first morning — with a proportionately greater potential for making the user too drugged to drive or operate machinery safely.

Dollar Reaches '79 High

Times News Services

The Canadian dollar rose to a 1979 high today and was at 86.90 cents (U.S.) at noon in New York.

The dollar moved up sharply Wednesday on the interbank wholesale market where banks trade large amounts of currencies with one another, closing at 86.75 cents (U.S.), up from Tuesday's close of 86.40 and this year's previous peak of 86.45.

Analysts attribute the Canadian dollar's growing appeal for world traders to high interest rates, a relatively stable political situation and a positive outlook on energy issues.

"A resurgence of oil and energy problems on the world markets has made our dollar very attractive," one analyst said.

Invaders On Kampala's Doorstep

Times News Services

Invading Tanzanian and Ugandan exile forces have captured Uganda's international airport at Entebbe and now are on the outskirts of the virtually undefended capital of Kampala, diplomatic sources said today in Nairobi, Kenya.

Uganda government radio said President Idi Amin made a dramatic reappearance in his beleaguered capital of Kampala today and told a group of soldiers: "I'm still going strong and am physically fit."

The account could not be independently confirmed, but it fitted the Ugandan dictator's flair for the flamboyant gesture.

The diplomatic sources in Nairobi said the invasion force launched its final assault Wednesday with one prong driving towards Entebbe, Uganda's fourth biggest city on the northern shore of Lake Victoria, and the other pushing towards the suburbs of Kampala.

One of the sources said Entebbe fell to the invaders Wednesday night.

Ugandan exile sources said the invading force moving into the southern suburbs of Kampala has halted its advance and is waiting for two other columns to push into the western and nortwestern suburbs along the roads from Hoima and Mityana.

Residents of Kampala and military sources in Tanzania reported that the anti-Amin invasion force seized key roads north, west and south of Kampala, overran Amin's death-and-torture factory at the Makindye military police barracks five kilometres south of the city and pushed into the suburbs without apparent resistance.

The informants said most of the Libyan troops who had been defending the city since Amin's Ugandan army disintegrated have retreated 24 kilometres east along the Jinja road to an Anglican college at Mukono.

Exile sources in Dar es Salaam, the Tanzanian capital, said the road east to Jinja, Uganda's second largest city, was left open as an escape route for the troops which Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy sent to help Amin, a fellow-Moslem.

Some sources said Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere and the exiled leaders of the Uganda National Liberation Front hope Amin and the Libyans will escape east into Kenya. But some observers in Nairobi speculate that the Ugandan president is preparing a defence line at Jinja.

Unconfirmed reports say at least 150 Libyans out of an estimated total force of 2,600 have been killed in the fighting.

The invaders, estimated at more than 7,000, have been pushing slowly toward Kampala since late last year after Amin started the war in October by invading part of northern Tanzania. The Tanzanian army pushed his forces back and then, reinforced by Ugandan exiles, crossed into Uganda with the declared aim of ousting Amin.

Bhutto's Hanging Sparks Massive Pakistani Riots

RAWALPINDI (AP) — Pakistani protests over the execution of former Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto escalated today in Rawalpindi, Lahore and in Karachi. Rocks and teargas grenades flew as police broke up prayer meetings held by Bhutto supporters.

A Pakistani newspaper said Bhutto, normally a tower of confidence and coolness, broke down shortly before the hanging and was carried to the gallows on a stretcher.

At least 200 anti-government demonstrators were seen in custody at Rawalpindi near the jail where Bhutto, 51, was hanged Wednesday on murder conspiracy charges.

The Rawalpindi disturbance started when a crowd of more than 5,000 massed at Liaquat Gardens to pray for Bhutto.

They poured into the streets chanting pro-Bhutto slogans and denouncing President Zia ul-Haq, the army general who overthrew Bhutto 21 months ago and refused to commute Bhutto's sentence.

Women beat their breasts and screamed: "Zia has killed our father, the father of our nation!"

Police met barrages of stones and bricks when they tried to break up the crowd. They hurled back the rocks, fired tear gas and charged demonstrators with clubs. Witnesses said six buses and trucks were burned and several vehicles damaged by rocks.

The United News of India (UNI), the country's domestic news agency, said police fired tear gas to disperse 9,000 protesters who tried to set fire to the Ahmediya Mosque in central Srinagar, the capital of Kashmir. There was no immediate word on injuries or arrests.

Indian newspapers carried outraged editorials today condemning the execution. The independent Times of India predicted, "Bhutto's ghost will haunt them (the Zia government) and Pakistan," and the Indian Express, also independent, said, "Gen. Zia may soon discover that Bhutto dead is even more powerful than Bhutto alive."

Stuffed Vote, By Jiminy!

LERIDA, Spain (AP) — A voter stuffed a live cricket into a voting envelope in municipal elections Tuesday. Election officials said they could not stop the cricket's chirping until voting had ended because it was illegal to remove any ballots from the ballot box. They added that the ballot would not be invalidated.

ICBC to Appeal on Pot

The Insurance Corporation of B.C. will appeal a a human right's board ruling that the ICBC contravened the human rights code by cancelling the insurance of a Sidney man charged with trafficking in marijuana.

The appeal will be heard in the B.C. Supreme Court. No date has been set as yet.

Leon Getz, former B.C. Law Reform Commission head, who served as a one-man board of inquiry, ruled last month the corporation's decision to cancel Robert Heerspink's insurance was a reflection of naked prejudice.

Heerspink's insurance was cancelled on June 16, 1976, less than two months after he was committed for trial on a charge of trafficking in marijuana. He was subsequently convicted and fined on a charge of simple possession.

Kathleen Ruff, director of the human rights branch called Getz's ruling a landmark decision that would protect persons against unreasonable disrimination.

Hanson Trying Again

The third-place finisher for the two Victoria seats in the last provincial election is seeking the NDP nomination once again.

Gordon Hanson, who finished close behind Deregulation Minister Sam Bawlf and NDP running mate Charles Barber, has joined two others vying for the nomination.

Hanson has taken an unpaid leave of absence from his post as Victoria-based servicing representative for the B.C. Government Employees' Union and will be running for the nomination against physician Mark Fisher and Victoria Labor Council president John Shields.

Seaman Runs As Esquimalt Independent

A 27-year-old seaman will run as an independent in the Esquimalt-Port Renfrew riding in the provincial election May 10.

Wayne Arthur Williams, 1268 West Burnside, said today he's running on a broad platform focusing on issues to give "more help to the little guy."

Williams, who was born in Victoria, is an oiler on the Princess Marguerite.

It will be the first election contest for Williams, who is married and has two small children.

It Wasn't Love But Politics For Abdication

Politics, not love, spurred the abdication of King Edward VIII in 1936, according to a book published in London Wednesday. U.S. historians James and Suzanne Pool say in the book that they base their claim on a memorandum Joachim von Ribbentrop, then German foreign minister, sent to Adolf Hitler on Jan. 2 1938. Edward had to abdicate, since it was not certain whether, because of his views, he would co-operate in an anti-German policy, the authors claim the memorandum said. The two historians add that the king's refusal to give up American divorcee Mrs. Wallace Simpson was a facade to conceal the more critical objection which the government had with him, namely his pro-Nazi attitudes.

True love, however, ruled in Saskatoon Wednesday . . for a while at least. Andre Remillard and his young bride were married before a judge in the Municipal Justice Building and all seemed normal. All, that is, but the watchful guard of several policemen. Minutes after the ceremony, Remillard was whisked away and taken back to Vancouver where he faces several narcotics charges and a possible sentence of seven years in prison.

Veteran actress Marlene Dietrich is not impressed with many of the U.S. actors she worked with in the movies. Many of them were "not richly blessed" with brains, she says. "I will not say that there were no intelligent actors in Hollywood but the really great actors were regrettably never my partners," the 74-year-old actress says in her memoirs, which are being published in the West German magazine Stern. Jimmy Stewart, one of her leading men, she writes, played love scenes "as if he had put on only one shoe and couldn't find the other." She also recalls meeting John Wayne while he was supporting a wife and two sons on a meagre salary — "when he worked." Wayne, she claims, "could barely say his lines."

Another veteran actress, Lillian Gish came back to the scene of her beginnings Wednesday — and very cold beginnings they were. She's still making movies at the age of 82, but it was in 1920 that she first came to Dartmouth College, filming D.W. Griffith's Way Down East just across — and in — the Connecticut River from the Hanover, N.H., school. In the role, she was cast out into a raging blizzard and left floating, in a swoon, down the river on an ice floe. Miss Gish revisited the scene of that melodrama Wednesday after Dartmouth awarded her its first film award for life achievement in American cinema.

When you're an actor, happiness is being so busy generating fame and fortune that you have to turn down Barbara Walters. By that criterion, Animal House and Saturday Night Live star John Belushi is one happy man. He's just said no to Barbara who wanted to interview him for her next network special. He says he's too busy — with five production irons in the fire.

Lastly, on the Hollywood scene, character actor Edgar Buchanan, known to millions as Uncle Joe on the Petticoat Junction television show, has died aged 76 from complications after brain surgery. Buchanan, who appeared in dozens of movie westerns, had been in a coma for six weeks. He died Wednesday in Palm Springs as a result of the prolonged coma, complicated by pneumonia and a stroke.

Mayor-elect Jane Byrne, the first woman ever elected to Chicago's top position, received a congratulatory call Wednesday from President Jimmy Carter and an invitation to dine at the White House.

And, for what it's worth, U.S. Congressswoman Marilyn Lloyd Bouquard, submitted 89 pieces of legislation to the House of Representatives in one day last month. . . including a measure to reduce the amount of paperwork in the federal government.

Auto Plants Go On Short Time

Times News Services

WASHINGTON — As a four-day trucking shutdown continues to send shock waves through the auto industry in both Canada and the U.S., government officials say truckers and the Teamsters union might stay locked in a test of strength at least into next week.

Federal mediators arranged a resumption of contract talks today for the first time since the industry lockout of striking Teamsters began Sunday.

However, sources said they see no rapid progress towards a break in the impasse.

The dispute, pitting 500 of the largest general freight haulers in the U.S. against their 235,000 unionized drivers and warehouse workers, has resulted in the most extensive trucking shutdown in the country's history.

The auto industry has been hurt the most so far.

In Ontario, More than 2,000 workers have been laid off by Chrysler Canada Ltd. at Windsor and Ajax and other Chrysler plants are working half shifts. Short-time working also has been introduced by Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. at its Oakville and St. Thomas assembly plants.

Production cutbacks announced Wednesday brought to 123,000 the number of U.S. auto workers either laid off or working short shifts.

Chrysler said its only assembly plant still operating Wednesday will close today. Company officials said all 41 Chrysler plants in six states might be closed and 85,000 workers laid off by Monday.

Shortages of food and other critical supplies are not expected for one to two weeks, said administration officials, who repeated Wednesday that President Carter has no immediate plans to seek a court order ending the shutdown.

While the dispute generally has been peaceful, state police in Maryland said eight striking drivers were arrested for allegedly placing nail-studded boards across the road from a terminal. Ohio authorities reported several violent confrontations and arrests involving strikers and non-strikers.

A Chrysler spokesman said its Windsor, Ont., spring plant was closed, idling about 360 workers, as well as the company's trim plant, which employs about 1,700 in Ajax, just east of Toronto.

Canada's major auto manufacturers depend on a continuous flow of parts delivered by truck from the U.S. because most plants keep only a three-day supply.

The Chrysler car assembly, van and engine plants in Windsor already are shut down this week because of poor sales and company spokesman Walter McCall said the scheduled Monday reopening may be postponed.

General Motors of Canada assembly plants in Oshawa, Ont., Toronto and Ste. Therese, Que., continued working half-shifts Wednesday while company officials said they were trying to arrange delivery of parts by independent truckers.

"We have dependency on about 100 trucks a day coming in here," company spokesman James Hamilton said. "If the thing is prolonged, it's just questionable as to how long we can keep going."

Ted Murphy, president of Local 222, United Auto Workers, in Oshawa, said the workers would not become involved if the company uses independent truckers to deliver the badly-needed parts.

"We've got a contract with GM and we have to honor that but I think the Teamsters are going to take a dim view of it," Murphy said. "They're not going to take it lightly."

Hamilton said GM fabrication plants have not been affected but about 12,000 workers in assembly plants, which are running out of supplies, are being paid on the basis of a short work week — about 80 per cent of regular pay.

He said the half-day shifts would continue "on a day-to-day proposition until we know what comes in here off the trucks."

Major Violation Claimed

Times News Services

WASHINGTON — At least three separate human errors contributed significantly to the breakdown at the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant in Pennsylvania, a study by the staff of the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission concluded Wednesday.

One of them, an extended shutdown of auxiliary cooling pumps, is a major violation of federal regulations.

The NRC's top man on the scene told reporters in Middletown, Pa., Wednesday, "There would have been an entirely different outcome if they (the pumps) had been operational, as they should have been."

He did not elaborate.

The analysis presented to the commission said the staff investigation found these three human errors involved in the accident at the nuclear plant:

— Valves on an emergency pumping system were closed when they should have been open.

— An operator turned off the plant's main emergency core cooling system at the wrong time.

— Four auxiliary water pumps were disengaged when there was no apparent reason for them to be deactivated.

Darrell Eisenhut, an NRC engineer, told commission members that the valves to the emergency pumping system apparently had been closed during routine repairs two weeks before the accident.

The emergency core cooling system is designed to automatically keep the nuclear fuel cool if the other cooling systems are interrupted.

Eisenhut, briefing the five NRC commissioners, said some mechanical and perhaps some design problems also were "major contributors" to the accident.

The NRC said, however, it has no immediate intention of closing down eight other reactors similar to the stricken Three Mile Island reactor, which was manufactured by Babcock and Wilcox, a Virginia engineering firm.

Meanwhile, it was announced in Paris today that the French government will authorize the construction of nine nuclear power stations between 1980 and 1985 producing a total of 10,500 megawatts.

Industry Minister Andre Giraud said that taking account of expectations for other forms of energy, France has no alternative but to pursue nuclear power.

Tidal Wave Fatal

ATHENS (AP) — A tidal wave struck the Mediterranean island of Crete and some southern Greek islands Wednesday, killing two persons and injuring 11, police said.

A darker report

Almost hidden under the glow of the tax cuts and giveaways of the government's "sunshine budget" on Monday was a dark shadow. It was the first annual report of B.C.'s new auditor-general, Erma Morrison.

The first conclusion to be drawn from the report is that the appointment of an auditor-general, a true watchdog on government financial management, was long, long overdue. Give the current Social Credit government credit for setting up the office in 1976, some 20 or 50 years later than it should have been done and long after most other governments in Canada had done so.

The second conclusion, however, is that this government — like its predecessors — has a long way to go to achieve fiscal responsibility and proper financial controls. Mrs. Morrison has concluded that the legislation governing B.C. finances is hopelessly out of date, that the deficiencies in the province's accounting policies and practices are so serious a full-scale study should be undertaken, and that its controls over spending do not meet acceptable standards.

That's rather damning stuff to be told a finance minister who said, just hours before tabling the report, "our responsible management of the public's money has given the government . . . financial strength."

To give the Socreds their due, Mrs. Morrison did note that some improvements had begun. For instance, the idea of quarterly (instead of annual) financial reports is a good one, she said, but so far few of the ministries are using those reports effectively. Other improvements had begun once she had pointed out problems to individual ministries.

However, these beginnings appear to have scarcely dented the surface of the decades-old problems within the administration. Mrs. Morrison cited a number of instances in which any layman can see glaring weaknesses and a total lack of accountability in government spending.

For example, in some offices the same person can order supplies, sign the form saying he has received them, and sign the next form authorizing payment with no checks on the process at all. That must surely be an open invitation to unscrupulous employees to defraud the government. It's probably a testimony to the honesty of our civil service that thousands of dollars haven't been wasted through that loophole.

In another example, there is, in many operations, no check to ensure that the payment vouchers were actually signed by the person whose name appeared on them, certainly another invitation to abuse.

In other divisions, quite junior employees are entitled to commit the government to spending huge sums of money without any authorization from their superiors.

One of the main pieces of legislation by which the government runs its financial operations has not been substantially revised since 1917.

And so on. And so forth.

It would be unfair to blame the current government for all these problems. Clearly they have been going on for years, definitely since the days of W.A.C. Bennett and probably even through the days of coalition government before it.

However, Social Credit is in power now and thus has the responsibility for cleaning up the mess. Mrs. Morrison's suggestions for reform are an excellent starting point.

By any other name

The English language is wonderfully flexible. Useful new words and changed meanings of old ones are coined and adopted by the lexicographers as a matter of course.

And sometimes neologisms quickly fall out of favor. A fad fades and the word is passe. A lot of the handiwork of bureaucracies blooms in the nurtured atmosphere of government but dies upon exposure to the rougher air breathed outside.

Our very own Capital Regional District lately has offered up "septage" — a noun describing the contents of septic tanks. Its invention seems motivated by a desire to sanitize a smelly subject and pacify the neighbors in View Royal where the CRD would like to build a "septage disposal station." The bureaucracy, ever-respectful of impinging on other jurisdictions, has decreed there is a difference between "septage" and conventional sewage, a perfectly serviceable term derived from Latin words meaning "water" and "out."

Is the sewage — pardon, septage — any nicer out in the unorganized territory beyond the reach of the city's sewer pipes? Does a definition derived from Latin meaning "rotten, putrefying" improve the tone of the discussion?

Despite the CRD's shining new word and its attempt not to offend their sensibilities, the residents of View Royal are likely to hold their noses and raise a ruckus (noun: "a noisy fight").

They just want to go home

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Sheri Simpson, 14, is talking about nuclear radiation. Her concepts are distilled from what her parents told her, what she has seen on television and what she has gleaned from her friends. A teenager's imagination fills in the gaps.

"Radiation is something mixed with something that kills," she says, over the noise of ping-pong balls in the games room of a giant evacuation centre — a converted hockey arena.

"You can't see it, smell it, or feel it. It's like oxygen. You find out about it 20 years later. Your hair starts falling out, you start itching, you throw up . . ."

Would vote no

Sheri giggles. Then her brows wrinkle and she gets serious again. Since Sunday, she and her six brothers and sisters have been sleeping on cots in the "crisis centre," set up mostly for pregnant mothers and their families who were advised to put miles between themselves and the Three Mile Island nuclear reactor that had gone bad.

"They're not worried about us, these people in congress and stuff. They don't have to live here."

Officials monitoring the most serious nuclear accident in U.S. history repeat every day that the radiation thrown off by the decaying uranium is too miniscule to worry about. The message is not really getting through to people, at least the ones camped out in the hockey arena.

For the most part, the young children and the teenagers have not been infected by fear. Even Sheri Simpson, despite her dramatic notions about radiation, seems more bemused than worried.

Michael Lehew, 5, is wearing a Spiderman T-shirt and he's convinced that what this "crisis" needs is a superhero or two.

"Spiderman could fix it with his webs if he wanted to but I guess he's not around," Michael tells a reporter.

Christy Shutters, 8, got a brief and simple rundown about the nuclear accident at her school last Friday.

"The teacher said that nuclear stuff came out of the plant and it was in Dauphin [her home town] but it wasn't enough to harm us 'cause we're 17 miles away.

"When she said we would be going home from school, the kids said 'Yippee.' I heard on the radio that the nuclear bubble is going down."

Father Howard Kishpaugh, an Anglican clergyman serving as a counsellor in the makeshift shelter, said most of the 150 people sequestered there "don't feel a part of a history-making situation.

"They're worried that nobody's going to want to buy their property when this is all over. She that old guy over there. He lives in a trailer in Middletown [three miles from the nuclear plant] and he says he's going to move out.

"That young woman over there. Three months pregnant and a packet of little kids. She got all upset and depressed last night about her baby. She smokes a pack of cigarettes every six hours, blows the smoke in her kids' faces, smokes near the beds, those cardboard boxes and the children's clothing. What are you going to do?"

The Rev. Kishpaugh is a practical man. To his mind, nuclear power is as inevitable as heaven and hell.

Apalling ignorance

"Look, these people are upset. But when they have to start buying electricity from somewhere else, and the bills go up, what do you think they're going to raise hell about?"

Some parents, like Christy Shutter's father, also a clergyman, have taken pains to educate local kids about what is happening at Three Mile Island. At his last Sunday school class, he brought in a health physicist with a sensitive radioactivity-measuring device. The machine had a zero reading. He invited the children to look at the reading. Then he gave them a simple explanation about atomic particles.

But most of the children and adults you talk to here betray an appalling ignorance of what is happening around them. They are suspicious, and irritated at the dislocation they have experienced, and anxious to return home.

Explanation, PCs

Remember Mr. Clark's promise? If elected, he is going to reduce federal taxes by $2.5 billion. It appears that we already have that reduction. Using either the tax tables or schedule 1, you get a tax reduction equal to the federal tax payable on taxable incomes up to $2,150. A $300 reduction on taxable incomes up to $16,580 or a nine per cent reduction of the tax above the last quoted figure.

Multiply these reductions by the number of taxpayers in the various income brackets and — guess what? Surprise — the resultant sum is very close to Mr. Clark's tax cut.

How easy it will be to reduce the federal tax by incorporating the existing tax reduction into the basic federal tax payable. Hey, presto, you have a $2.5 billion tax cut. So you have a paper cut by a paper tiger. Semantics you say? Well, ask your nearest Tory MP to state unequivocally, that the promised $2.5 billion tax cut will be in addition to the already existing tax reduction as well as their other financial promises.

Even if the foregoing is a false assumption, right or wrong, you had better look this gift horse straight in the eye, as well as mouth. A $2.5 billion tax cut will mean a loss of revenue to the provinces. Based on the B.C. 1978 financial review, in 1979 for instance, B.C. could lose $100 million. Take another guess — who will make this up? You and I, by paying a larger percentage of the federal tax into the provincial coffers. Ask the Progressive Conservative members to explain this if they can. — H. Shergold, 1102-360 Douglas Street.

Tibetan refugees arrived in Canada in 1971.

Tibet dominated?

Dear me, D. Edwards does presume! Re his letter of March 26:

He claims that the former serfs and slaves in Tibet, now liberated, merely populate my "colored mind." Then in his next sentence says I was "referring to the ones who weren't able to get away"!

Now why would they want to run from their liberators? The world should be able to remember that China re-entered and reclaimed their erstwhile province in 1951. They built schools and hospitals and outlawed slavery. They left the government in the hands of the nobility and lamas but warned that it must institute reforms. Instead, in 1959, those so-called Tibetan leaders chose to rebel violently, in a last vain attempt to maintain their archaic and cruel society.

Obviously those peasants who, for whatever coercive reasons and to whatever extent supported the armed defiance of the priests and princes, mostly preferred to leave too, and I am quite aware of their tragic situation. They are trapped in ignorance, fear and frustration far from their homes. You and I just put the blame for their position on different shoulders.

Those runaways are free to return to their homeland when they are ready to face trial by their fellow Tibetans for their anti-social actions and they may rest assured that those who were misled to their present unhappy position, and now realize it, will be treated compassionately.

Tibetans in Tibet now have more fundamental human rights and freedom to sustain their distinctive cultural and religious life than ever before, and it is all self-determined.

I'm sure Edwards knows that most leading positions in the present government of Tibet are filled by Tibetans — quite a number of them being ex-slaves or serfs. And lamas still chant their prayers and ring their bells in the huge lamasery in Lhasa! If he didn't know those facts, who is uninformed and biased?

There is no "foreign domination" in Tibet — despite what a few Americans and others may say. History and humanity proves that.

Only misunderstanding history and insufficient humanity makes the situation an "issue". — S.C.W. Stokes, 2720 Heron Street.

Emigrate tomorrow

Regarding the letter from C. A. Simpson (Medicare Problems; Times, March 29), I would be inclined to say that Dr. Simpson is barking up the wrong tree. Unfortunately, I cannot speak as a medical man, but have travelled extensively in the United States and have been forced to make use of the medical services offered in that country on more than one occasion. Six years ago I was hospitalized in Los Angeles for just under three days and apart from my medicare coverage, ran up a bill of just under $3,000. There was no emergency surgery or high-priced procedures involved here, just treatment that is offered under our medicare scheme every day. If Simpson desires to be a component of this sort of ripoff, let him emigrate tomorrow!

When he complains about paying a tradesman $23 per hour, he does not state whether he actually paid this man this sum or did he pay it to the man's employer, who has a charge out rate of almost as much again as the tradesman gets per hour. Further, Simpson's description suggests that the tradesman was a plumber, who justifiably or unjustifiably, is probably the most maligned of all tradesmen. In all fairness, even to the plumber, a budding plumber must graduate from high school, successfully complete a pre-apprenticeship training course, serve a four- or five-year apprenticeship attending evening classes while serving the apprenticeship. I do not hold this up as a comparison to the arduous training required of a medical man, but do submit that it is not inconsiderable.

I can say much the same about the medical profession as Simpson says about the tradesman. Again, several years ago I suffered a minor injury on an industrial site that required several stitches in my right leg. The intern who sewed me up instructed me to get the stitches removed by my family doctor in a given number of days. I phoned for an appointment and the good lady who answered the telephone informed that my doctor would not be available that day but that Dr. "X" would perform the necessary at 3 p.m. I arrived at the Medical Centre, gave the people there the WCB file number and was ushered in to Dr. "X." He didn't even say hello. He muttered, "stitches, eh?", whipped them out and I was away. I do not complain about this, I like to see efficiency. However, the punch line here is that I later received a bill from Dr. "X" for $15 for professional services. I walked into the anteroom at one minute before three and I was back in the street at two minutes past three. So, at $5 per minute for professional services I don't know what Dr. Simpson is complaining about.

Instead of singing the blues about bureaucracy and people who run to the doctor with a hang nail problem, the good doctor should give them the good word and let them know what is what. Or would that interfere with his collections from medicare? If he paid income tax on a total of $70,000 in 1976 and now pays on a smaller amount, say $60,000, he would have the sympathy of most people. However, when people merely generalize, they do not evoke too much sympathy or attention. — W. A. Drummond, Duncan.

Little sympathy

Maybe I could sympathize more effectively with the medical profession if Dr. Simpson (letter Medicare Problems, March 29) had been more specific in his charges of government bureaucratic interference in medicare. The bulk of his letter seemed more concerned with government parsimony.

I wouldn't know whether doctor fees should be increased, because I don't know what doctor's fees are at present. I haven't seen a blue book in years. I do know what a wrench-wielding plumber makes — he's a robber to be sure. (I trust my MD is more high-minded). However, in defence of the plumber he doesn't get paid unless he fixes the leak. Such guarantees are of course, not possible in the medical profession. I am unable to check whether it is true psychiatrists are paid at least $50 a session even if they make the patient considerably more confused, but then a long expensive "education" probably gives this specialist that privilege.

In addition, I am told plumbers these days are probably more liable to die of heart failure and the plumber can afford a high cholesterol diet.

Dr. Simpson has, I am sure, a tiring life, he has to deal with humans — nasty things, some of whom rush to the doctor with trivia instead of seeing to it themselves. Then there are other tiresome souls who try self-medication instead of seeing a doctor in the early stages. There are many who over-indulge and then there are the health nuts who look after themselves.

We all know that just south of the 49th parallel lies a happy haven for the medical profession where the doctor-patient relationship is beautiful, and the numerous hospitals lack for nothing, and everyone has plenty of money for fees. Yet, in spite of Dr. Simpson's claims, Canadian doctors are not migrating there in great numbers. Some have gone to Texas and certainly money would be the only attraction. California was considered a rewarding area before the art of successful litigation was preferred.

I have heard that doctors in the U.S. work harder than those in Canada, that they are not always successful in collecting fees from their patients, and if they do have patients with self-induced problems from smoking and overeating and that if the patient has money, or good insurance, kicking in the rear end is out and kow-towing is in. — Monica Oldham, 511 Victoria Avenue.

Dog's paradise

Beacon Hill Park has become a dog's paradise; it is a joy to see the dogs gambolling in sheer delight of freedom. But, Beacon Hill Park is no longer a paradise for children who love to frolic and play in the grass, or for all ages who wish to walk on the paths or on the grassy areas. Nor is it a paradise for the birds who come each year to nest on the ground or in the low bushes. Their numbers are diminishing, we will soon miss their joyous songs. They haven't a chance.

Perhaps those who own dogs would like to have several areas in Greater Victoria designated for dogs where they could be exercised and have freedom to run. For example, such an area could be Clover Point near the outfall. After the dogs have been exercised they would have to be on leash in all other areas, and in those areas the owners would be responsible for cleaning up any excretion. Dogs are intelligent and can be trained to use certain areas.

If we own a dog or any other animal, we have to care for an love that animal for the next nine to 15 years of its life. It is indeed a challenge, many of us do not realize the implications of such a responsibility. — P. H. R. Macdonald, Victoria.

Tacky is the word for PM's Senate appointments

By GEOFFREY STEVENS
The Globe and Mail

"It is a favorite device for an astute prime minister to keep his supporters eager, active and toiling unceasingly for the party until the election is near at hand, and then, having wrung them dry, to reward the most faithful by translation to a higher and more restful sphere of usefulness." — MacGregor Dawson, The Government of Canada (published 1954).

At his press conference last week, the prime minister was asked whether he was planning to make any post-dissolution appointments to the Senate. There would, the prime minister replied guardedly, be some appointments later that day, but, as to senators, "I'd have to refresh my memory."

It must have been embarrassment which caused Mr. Trudeau's loss of memory, the refreshment of which required 24 hours longer than he had indicated. The next afternoon, he announced a batch of appointments, including — yes — five new senators.

If you were Dalia Wood, wouldn't you be miffed at the prime minister's inability to recall that he was going to enshrine you in the Upper House? Who, you may ask, is Dalia Wood? She is the president of the Quebec wing of the federal Liberal Party. She is also the lady who runs Mount Royal, Mr. Trudeau's riding, for him. In the last two elections, she was his campaign manager.

MUIR
. . . golden Hansard

LEBLANC
. . . rest cure

The other new senators: Robert Muir, a Conservative MP from Cape Breton since 1957; Fernand Leblanc, Liberal MP for the Quebec riding of Laurier since 1964; Yvette Rousseau, chairman of the federal Advisory Council on the Status of Women; Norbert Theriault, an MLA and former provincial cabinet minister in New Brunswick. To those five should be added another Trudeau appointment to a secondary Senate: Jean-Robert Roy, Liberal MP for Timmins, to the International Joint Commission.

There is nothing illegal about any of these appointments. By tradition, it is considered taboo for a prime minister who loses an election to make major appointments before he turns over office to the new prime minister. To do what Mr. Trudeau did — appointing senators after he has had Parliament dissolved — is considered tacky.

Tacky. Very tacky.

It is an abuse of the prerogatives of incumbency to appoint people to positions where they will cost the taxpayers $34,900 a year (at the current Senate level) until age 75 (plus a pension thereafter) at a time when the government's mandate is, morally, suspended until the election.

Mr. Trudeau can, of course, find a number of sleazy precedents. Mackenzie King felt no compunction about making Senate appointments during election campaigns. Louis St. Laurent wouldn't do it. John Diefenbaker was the last one to do it; in 1962, he appointed Harry Willis and Campbell Haig just three days before election day. Until last week, however, this misuse of the pork barrel had fallen into welcome disuse, although Mr. Trudeau himself came close when he created a batch of Senators on the day he called the 1972 election.

Of the new Senators, Mrs. Wood and Mr. Theriault fit into MacGregor Dawson's category of rewarding faithful supporters. The New Democrat's leading Senate-phobe, Stanley Knowles, maintains that Mrs. Rousseau was appointed to silence her criticism of the government's performance on women's issues. Mr. Leblanc (plus Mr. Roy on the IJC) is a case of a tired backbencher being shunted aside to make way for a fresh Liberal candidate. Mr. Muir, the Tory, gets his golden Hansard because the Liberals think they can win his seat.

In his book, The Unknown Country, Bruce Hutchison had this to say of the Senate: The genial old gentlemen who populate the snug red-velvet chamber . . . live on, undisturbed, meeting for a few weeks in the year, bumbling and grumbling at the Government, making a few good speeches, and drawing an annual indemnity . . . for less work than any other citizens of Canada."

Pierre Trudeau wouldn't agree. For a prime minister desperate for every seat he can win on May 22, the new senators are worth every cent the rest of us are going to pay them for the rest of their lives.

Justice is only for the rich in India

SUNANDA DATTA-RAY
London Observer

NEW DELHI — Abuse of justice is built into India's complex judicial system. The rich can easily escape through loopholes in laws providing for arrest, imprisonment and trial; the poor are often incarcerated for years in some dingily malodorous cell for no other offence but that they are unable to buy off a rapacious constable.

Aware of these conditions, most Indians just shrug and look away. They cannot afford to offend a powerful and vindictive police force. Neither can they meet the exorbitant demands of venal lawyers and corrupt magistrates. Authority usually wears a fearsome aspect and is best avoided.

But New Delhi's attention has now been drawn to this perversion of justice by a belated National Police Commission inquiring into the state of India's 1,219 jails, in which about five million men, women and children are imprisoned. "I have come to the conclusion," says a senior member of the team, "that the majority of people in our jails ought not to be there, and the majority of those who ought to be there are outside living as free men".

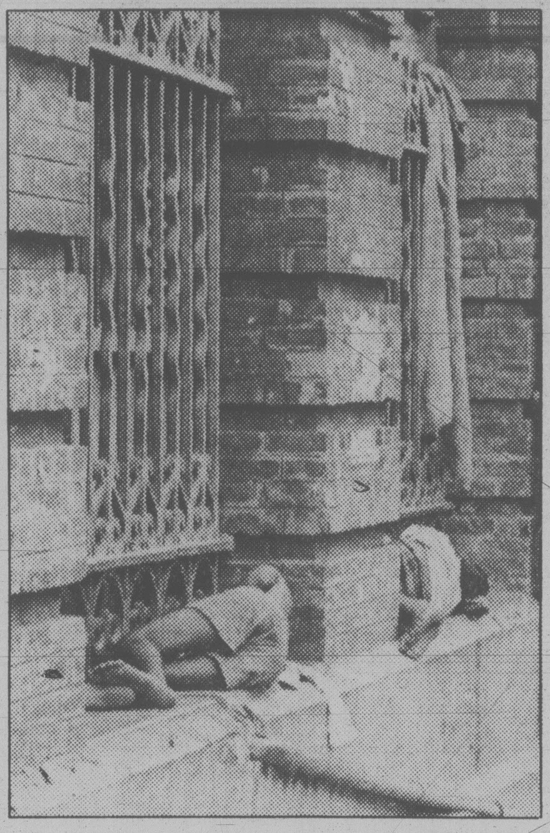
The most obvious abuse is overcrowding. About 33,000 prisoners are herded into quarters intended for only 18,000 in Bihar state jails; West Bengal's 55 prisons, with room for 19,000 people, accommodate nearly 25,000.

They sleep cheek-by-jowl in squalid dormitories. Hundreds of men queue for hours every day for their turn in a single overflowing lavatory. Innocent young children who accompany mothers into prison grow to reckless maturity among hardened criminals; rape, sexual assault and perversion are commonplace.

Congestion is only partly explained by the fact that anyone in India who has no other place to go to is thrust behind bars. Century-old laws allow the imprisonment of lunatics and orphans. Destitute children picked up from the streets and girls "rescued" from prostitution are also sent to jail. A young French tourist who apparently lost his mind was imprisoned in the north Bengal town of Siliguri where he recently died, while Calcutta's Alipore jail still houses a group of Hindu women who fled religious persecution in Bangladesh and are now treated as illegal immigrants.

More than 82,000 prisoners have not yet been charged. By the time they are called to trial, many people have served far longer behind bars than they would under the most stringent sentence. Some are forgotten and never tried at all.

Magistrates complain that they have 2,000 cases on their hands at a time with more piling up. There are nearly five million prosecutions pending in lower courts and more than 68,000 in sessions courts. Each suit drags on for years; and there are prisoners who cannot even recall why they were arrested. Bhola Mahto, in Patna jail, has forgotten how long he has been imprisoned. His wife and children have died and there is no one left to insist that he be charged and tried.



Some are fogotten in jail and never come to trial

If the rich are unfortunate enough to be charged with an offence — a rare occurrence — they are easily able to obtain bail, as in a recent case involving a Calcutta business magnate's daughter who is accused of murdering two nephews so that her father's substantial fortune goes to her children.

In an even more notorious case in the late 1960s, a maharajah's son was charged with killing his two young houseboys of whom his aging father had become inordinately fond and to whom the majarajah was proposing to bequeath his property. The accused prince was housed in the police commissioner's own flat, which was theoretically designated a jail. But the case petered out when the royal family brought its considerable influence to bear.

Indian law stipulates that no one can be arrested without a magistrate's warrant unless the police have reason to fear that he will escape while a warrant is being obtained. But the exception has become the law; and policemen frequently round up slum dwellers and demand heavy bribes. Those who cannot afford to pay are thrown into jail to rot there like a 10-year-old girl who says she found a string of beads lying outside a cinema after the last show.

Police venality is aided by cunning lawyers who spin out cases because the more appearances they make, the higher their fees.

Most magistrates usually turn a blind eye when policemen refuse to allow bail for the most trivial charges, when lawyers repeatedly insist on postponing a suit and when court clerks "lose" the relevant files because they have not received their cut.

Persecution in jail can be even more horrendous. In a recent report, Amnesty International pointed out that 88 political prisoners died in West Bengal jails between 1970 and 1972, the number in Andhra Pradesh state being beteen 300 and 500. It treats with skepticism the official claim that "the deaths occurred during armed encounters or while prisoners were attempting to escape".

Amnesty also indicts the "general pattern of police intimidation of suspects following arrest", complaining of severe ill-treatment during interrogation.

What is less well known is a pernicious system whereby veteran convicts are allowed to run their private rackets: rations, water supply, bedding, space allocation, distribution of duties and leave on parole being entrusted to these trusty long-term residents. The privileges are used to terrorize and corrupt newcomers.

The National Police Commission is making a brave attempt to cleanse the system. But the evil is deep-rooted, and it is doubtful if New Delhi will take much notice. Meanwhile, confinement is, as the Central Bureau of Corrective Services says, "a revolving door from society to prison and back to society" for those without means or influence. Justice is only for the rich.

Albania the pure

MANCHESTER GUARDIAN

A shadow has fallen over the 1979 Albanian tourist season, now imminent. "No male with long hair or full beard will be allowed into the country ... Should the authorities not be satisfied in this respect hair will be cut by airport barber on arrival." So, in a welcoming spirit, says the People's Socialist Republic of Albania, and without further explanation. Nor does the Republic explain why, in the same declaration, citizens of the United States, the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia — an interesting band of (undesirable) brothers if ever there was one — are excluded whether they wear beards or not. Journalists, bearded or otherwise, are also excluded.

The Guardian's usually reliable non-Albanian source on Albania said that the Albanians' objections to hair had positively no religious foundation. Albania, he pointed out learnedly, was the world's only atheist state (the government offers a one-day, £6 only, excursion to the National Anti-Religious Museum in Shkodra) and its views on beards were not so much a matter of faith as of politics. Without wishing to question our usually reliable source this, too, seems to be a less-than-adequate explanation. A decision which would exclude at one and the same time the likes of Abraham Lincoln, King Edward VII, George Bernard Shaw, Marx, the King of Jordan, and the Ayatollah Khomeini, would seem to lack political coherence.

Be that as it may, Albania offers many delights to clean-shaven, non-American, non-Russian, non-Yugoslavian, non-journalistic visitors. Although they will not be allowed to go off on their own (they are "generally expected to travel ... as a group") they are nevertheless invited to visit the Mao-tse-Tung textile mill in Berat, the ruins of Apollonia, the armaments museum in Girokastra, the State Farm in Sukth, and Lake Orchid. "It is often possible," says the Albanian Republic, "to swim in the lake after lunch." The Republic does not say whether that depends on the lake or the lunch.

The bottom line on the top

By ROGER ROSENBLATT
Washington Post

Gone. I do not need to look. A mere forefinger gently on the spot, circling clockwise in the tiniest circumference, tells me all I need to know, tells me what I knew would be, eventually, when I started rubbing that spot, several inches above the left eyebrow, several months ago. Then there was a hair at that spot, a lone hair at the frontier, a hair that was the frontier of what used to be my widow's peak, and is now my widow's walk. The hair was long and wavy, like the hair of my youth. But it was also frail — I could feel that — frail from living on the edge, and on the run. I knew it was dying. Now it is gone, and there is nothing in its place. Only my forehead, pushing back, as it has been pushing back relentlessly, my last frontier.

I wish I had never singled out that hair. For years friends had been bellowing: "Hey, you know, you're going bald!" as if they had just discovered artichokes or the Comstock Lode, instead of the source of man's discomfort. But I refused to believe them. I was always possessed of a high forehead, a sign of nobility, my mother said. And had not my faithful barber answered, "Nah," when asked if it were true? "Your hairline is where it has always been."

Not so. I know now he was being kind, or practical, now that I am sitting here circling the spot blindly like the Cyclops, groping for a hero. But there is no hero. And I am growing more like the Cyclops every day: a man without hair, like a man with one eye, admired only for what is absent.

When should I openly call myself bald? Having pussyfooted around like J. Alfred Prufrock so long, having lied to the world that nothing was missing, is it incumbent on me now to make some official public declaration — "I am going bald"? Should I have it notarized? This is a major cultural decision. The world is made up solely of those with hair and those without. And those without are called "skinheads" and "billiard balls," and those with are called people.

If I do declare myself bald, will I then have to act bald? Bald people usually act either too brash or too meek. Will I have to choose? Will I have to dress especially neat so as not to compound my baldness, and watch my weight in order to prevent my becoming known as fat and bald? Will I learn to make jokes about my own baldness, preempting others? Or will I flee in the streets at the drop of a snigger, pulling oversized hats about my ears?

Hugh Troy, the millionaire practical joker, once bought out the first 20 rows in the orchestra of the Metropolitan Opera, sending most of the tickets to friends with hair, and some particular tickets to friends without. He had arranged the seats so that he, observing from the balcony, could read a dirty word spelled out by the hairless heads. I used to think that clever. No more. I will not be humiliated. I will accept no opera tickets. I will wear my baldness like the pink (God, will it be pink?) badge of courage, like Yul Brynner, like Kojak, like an eagle.

Of course, I could always get myself a wig. I could go to Mr. Ray's Hair Weave, and wind up looking like that couple on television, on whose rejuvenated heads Mr. Ray seems to have draped muskrats.

Or I could try one of those expensive mystery techniques developed in France and administered in California, where I imagine they saw off the top of your head, and push mink through like pasta.

Or I could go the route of Sen. William Proxmire, and have someone pluck the hairs from the back of my head, and sew them into the front. Yet people would then say, "Oh, you and Bill Proxmire, huh?" — suggesting a companionship neither of us seeks. And how long can such a treatment go on before one is as bald in back as one was once up front? Besides, I do not wish to look like a bald man with hair. I would rather look like a hairy man going bald.

Which (I'll say it now) is exactly as I do look.

Well, I will neither change nor cover up. I will go forth and be brave, and I won't be patronized. Those same people who remarked upon my emerging scalp, will now tell me baldness is a sign of virility. I know better. Nor will I sashay through life like Bette Davis in Mrs. Skeffington," as if my affliction did not exist. Instead, I will turn east, and develop a Zen-like serenity on the subject, concentrating not on the baldness that is present, but rather on the hair that is gone, caressing with my mind, as I did with my forefinger, a lost horizon.

For, as no portion of physical matter ever totally disappears, so must there be a world to which all lost hairs go. And I know that somewhere among the inexplicable stars all my dear, departed hairs stand suspended — no longer drooped and weak, but vital, strong and proud, waiting for me to rejoin them, to be rejoined to them, in the territory of goodness and mercy where all heads are equal.

today's markets

Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market rose sharply in active mid-afternoon trading today.

Advances outnumbered declines 216 to 156 with 215 issues unchanged.

The Toronto Stock Exchange said a trading halt called at the opening Wednesday in All-Can Holdings Ltd. B shares will continue through Friday. Two of the company's officers and a third man were charged Wednesday with conspiring to affect the public price of the stock, which last traded at $8⅝.

Trading was halted at mid-session in shares of Bridge and Tank Co. of Canada Ltd. at the company's request pending an announcement. The common shares last traded at $7.

Among other industrials, Conduits Amherst Ltd. advanced $1.20 to $5½, Silverwood Industries A 1⅜ to $12½, Hudson's Bay Co. ⅝ to $33¾, Indusmin Ltd. ⅝ to $20 and Gulf Canada ⅝ to $48¼.

Roman Corp. gained ½ to $28½.

Canadian Superior Oil was up 2½ to $113¾, Woldwide Energy ⅜ to $9 and Francana Oil and Gas ¼ to $10½. Ranger Oil Canada was down ¼ to $20½ and Czar Resources Ltd. ⅛ to $8⅝.

New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced moderately today, taking the news of another sharp rise in wholesale prices in stride.

The U.S. government reported early today that wholesale prices of finished goods rose one per cent last month, making a net increase of 3.3 per cent for the first quarter of the year.

But analysts said the latest reading on price trends at the next-to-last step in the distribution chain came as no surprise to Wall Street.

Fisher Foods fell 1⅜ to $12⅝. The company said it had a significant decline in its first-quarter earnings, and added that recent activity in its stock might have stemmed from unfounded rumors of an impending takeover.

Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices recorded modest gains in moderate trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange today. Topping winners, FCA Interntional advanced 15 cents at $3.70 on a volume of 30,000. Hudson's Bay Co. followed with a gain of ¼ at $33½ on a volume of 14,199. Among other winners, Canadian International Power A climbed eight cents at 86 cents, CP Ltd. ⅛ at $28¾, IU International ¼ at $13⅛, Norcen Energy Resources ¼ at $21⅛, and Toronto Dominion Bank ⅛ at $22⅝.

London

LONDON (Reuter) — Higher earnings figures from several large companies helped push the London stock market up sharply near the close of trading today. The Financial Times index jumped 12.4 to 536.2. Industrials and oils firmed while golds held steady. Canadian shares eased.

VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP) — Trading was active and prices were down on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today with volume to 10:54 a.m. at 2,296,992 shares.

In the industrials, Renn Industries was up .02 to $1.00 on 4,000 shares, Taro Industries was up .05 to $3.85 on 3,500 shares, International Ionarc Inc. was down .04 to .46 on 3,000 shares and Balco Industries was up 1-4 to $16 on 2,800 shares.

On the resource and development board, David Minerals Ltd. was down .05 to $2.10 on 302,900 shares, Seatu Exploration was down .02 to $2.03 on 37,300 shares.

Oil-Sands Work Eyed

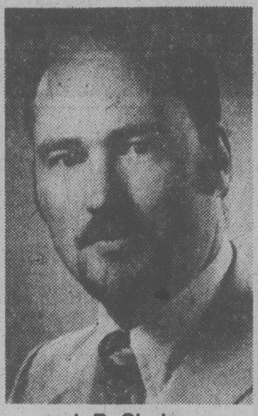
CALGARY (CP) — Three firms have combined forces to take over Dynawest Projects Ltd., a Calgary-based engineering and contracting firm, with an eye to oil-sands work.

R. D. Humphreys, president of Dynawest, said the Canadian subsidiary of Stone and Webster Inc. of New York and Colt Engineering Corp. of Calgary and Edmonton have joined R. D. Humphreys Engineering and Management Consultants Ltd. in ownership of Dynawest. Financial details were not disclosed.

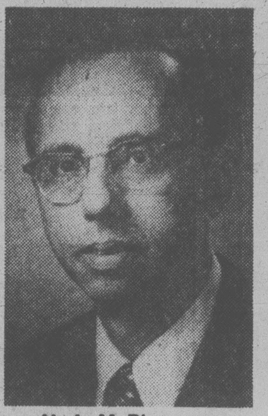
A. E. Garred, Dynawest general manager, said the firm, drawing on the wide range of experience of its new owners, would seek work on oil-sands and heavy-oil projects.

He said Stone and Webster has experience in power and petrochemical prjects, while Colt Engineering has expertise in gas plants and pipelines.

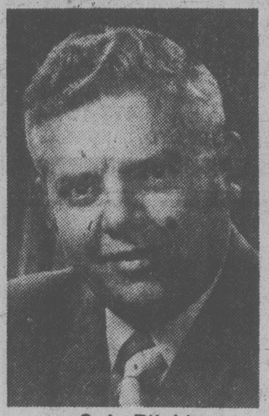
BRITISH COLUMBIA RAILWAY APPOINTMENTS



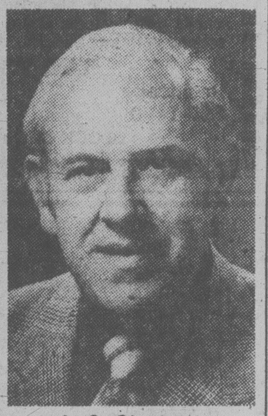
J. R. Clarke



N. A. McPherson



G. L. Ritchie



A. C. Sturgeon

Mr. M. C. Norris, President and Chief Executive Officer of British Columbia Railway Company, is pleased to announce the following appointments:

Mr. J. R. Clarke, as Vice-President — Finance; Mr. N. A. McPherson, as Vice-President — Operations and Maintenance; Mr. G. L. Ritchie, as Vice-President — Administration and Corporate Development; Mr. A. C. Sturgeon, as Vice-President — Marketing and Sales.

Mr. Clarke joined the Finance Division of the Railway in 1975 as Manager - Control Systems and was appointed Chief Financial Officer in 1977. He became a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in 1970 and is a graduate of the Faculty of Commerce, U.B.C. Mr. Clarke is a member of the Financial Executives Institute of B.C.

Mr. McPherson has been in the railway industry for 36 years. Born and educated in Kamloops, his early experience was with C.P. Rail as a Train Dispatcher at various B.C. points, joining the P.G.E. in 1954. He has served as Chief Train Dispatcher, Assistant Superintendent, Superintendent and Manager of Operations, and was appointed Manager of Operations and Maintenance in 1977.

Mr. Ritchie's entire career has been spent in the administration of railway real estate and the development of industry along the railway. He joined the Railway in 1954 as Assistant Right-of-Way and Lease Agent and was appointed Manager of Administration in 1977 which gave him responsibility in addition to real estate and industrial development, for personnel, materials management, public relations and security.

Mr. Sturgeon has 33 years of service with the Railway. Born and educated in Vancouver, he was responsible for the administration and functions of the terminal offices on the Railway for several years. In 1966 he was appointed Rates Officer in the Sales Division, responsible for supervision of all local rates and negotiations of the joint rates with connecting railways. He was promoted to Assistant Sales Manager in 1974 and to Manager of Marketing and Sales in 1975.

Block Bros.

Block Bros. Industries Ltd. reported net earnings for the six months ended Jan. 31, 1979, were $2.7 million or 59 cents a share, compared with $1.4 million or 29 cents a share for the corresponding period last year.

Block Bros. said in a news release revenue was $54.5 million, compared with $40.3 million last year.

The company said it expects the last half of the fiscal year to show satisfactory growth, although earnings are not expected to match results achieved in the first six months.

Hudson's Bay

Hudson's Bay Co., object of a takeover bid by newspaper tycoon Kenneth Thomson, reported a hefty increase in earnings for the year ended Jan. 31, but much of it was from the sale of investments, principally Siebens Oil and Gas Ltd.

The company declared a dividend of 27½ cents a share payable April 30, an increase of 5½ cents from the last quarterly dividend paid Jan. 31.

In a report to shareholders, Hudson's Bay reported net income for the year of $44,645,000 or $2.74 a share compared with $29,881,000 or $2.12 a share for the previous year.

But extraordinary gains of $98,367,000 from the sale of investments pushed the earnings to $143,012,000 or $8.79 a share.

For the first time, the results include earnings from Zellers Ltd. of Montreal from Oct. 1, 1978, the date of acquisition of a 57-per-cent interest in the Quebec-based chain.

However, the results do not take into account The Bay's purchase earlier this year of Simpsons Ltd., and a part interest in Simpsons-Sears Ltd.

Imperial Oil

Imperial Oil Ltd. of Toronto was the only oil company with an over-all profit increase in 1978, its annual report said.

The increase was said to be due to increasing efficiency in refining and marketing.

After-tax profit on petroleum products was $75 million in 1978, down from $76 million in 1977.

The report said that the profit on petroleum products was maintained by introducing new products, operating more efficiently and increasing the sales of more profitable products.

Total revenue was $5,737,000,000 in 1978 for a profit of $314 million or $2.41 a share.

Thomson News.

Thomson Newspapers Ltd., with its biggest growth taking place in the United States, had net income of $56.6 million or $1.13 a share last year, up from $47.4 million or 95 cents the previous year.

The company reported net income was reduced by $647,000 or 1.4 cents a share as a result of proposed regulations requiring that a long-term debt be translated into the present U.S. currency rate.

The Thomson company, with 1978 operating revenue of $306.5 million compared with $256.3 million in 1977, acquired one daily newspaper in Canada last year and three dailies and a weekly in the U.S.

AT DATSUN, ONE OF THE HEAVIEST RESPONSIBILITIES IS LIFTING A FEATHER.

Just before your 210 gets its final coat of paint, the entire car is dusted with an ostrich feather. This is a very important job at Datsun, because, it is this attention to detail—like making sure the last coat of paint goes onto a completely dust free surface—which makes your 210 subcompact such a quality automobile.

Furthermore, it is our strong attention to value that has us build a car that delivers fabulous gas economy—about the best on the market. And, your 210 can use any grade of gasoline—the option's yours. But most important, because we build your 210 so meticulously, to ensure durability and longevity, we can give you 6 full years of rust protection. No one else does, but then again no one else builds a future into cars like Datsun. See the full range of 210 models. Today.

Satellite Tracker Used in Pot Probe, Trial Told

A county court drug conspiracy trial heard a drug agent testify Wednesday that tracking devices — including one which sent a signal to a NASA satellite circling the earth — were installed on a boat which brought 13.5 tons of marijuana to the B.C. coast.

Ernest Staples, a special agent with the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, also testified he did not meet or see five men standing trial during his investigation.

Staples, who used to be based at the U.S. embassy in Mexico City, said the only people he had direct contact with were Philip Ward, Patrick Murphy, a man named Ian and a woman named Vicki.

Staples posed as an associate of Acapulco businessman Nilo Batista who provided the boat Toernyn which brought the of marijuana to B.C. last summer. He described Batista as a "co-operating individual."

Five Canadians are accused of conspiracy to import marijuana with 14 named persons and persons unknown between April 1 and July 16, 1978; importing marijuana between the same dates; and possession of marijuana July 15 for the purpose of trafficking.

They are: Garth Clarence Vincent Joseph Sexton, 28, of Vancouver; Ronald Cecil Spurrell, 31, of Surrey; Frederick Charles Scott, 28, of Vancouver; John Mobley Doss, 25, of Dillon, Colorado, formerly of Newfoundland; and Frank Piersanti, 28, of Montreal.

The 14 persons named but not charged in the indictment before the jury are Batista, Toernyn captain Maurice Pereira, Neil Maxwell Kennedy, Terrance Gerard Trainor, Kevin Gerard Gushue, Robert Sherman Miller, Gordon Barlow Tait, Frederick MacKintosh Tait, Allen Valenti, Patrick Joseph Murphy, Edwin Floyd Terry also known as Philip Stanley Ward, Melville Douglas Balfour, Jillian Penney and Vicki Hann.

Staples said he was introduced May 23 to Philip Ward and Patrick Murphy by Batista in Puntarenas, Costa Rica, as his representative.

Batista told the group that Staples would travel on the Toernyn (this was later changed and he didn't) and that Ward and Murphy would pay Staples $145,000 on Batista's behalf.

It was discussed that the cargo would be 33,000 pounds of marijuana to be stored on the lower half of the vessel and Murphy said he would be responsible for the quality and quantity of the cargo and piloting the boat to the right spot in Canada.

Staples said he and Murphy discussed buying food for the voyage and Ward provided a list of charts which were needed.

On May 25, he said he assisted in installing two tracking devices on the boat, a "beeper bumper" emittinga short-range signal and a SatTrack sending out a signal to a NASA satellite circling the earth and sending location reports to officials near Washington, D.C.

On the vessel at the time were Batista, Pereira and the crew. Staples said he was told that Murphy, Ward, the man named Ian and the woman named Vicki were in the area but not aboard.

The results of the tracking devices showed the Toernyn at Puntarenas May 25 to 29, then travelling south arriving at San Jose Island, Colombia, June 5 and leaving June 6, putting in at Ensanada June 30-July 1, putting in at San Diego July 3 where it received fuel and food after running out at sea and arriving off the west coast of Vancouver Island July 15.

On June 30, Staples said he received a telephone call from Batista and phoned Murphy at Ensanada. On July 2, Staples went to San Diego where he met Batista, other DEA agents and customs officers.

Staples and the agents and customs officers left by boat and found the Toernyn adrift without fuel 30 miles south of San Diego off Mexico. He again met Murphy and Ian. Two hundred gallons of fuel was transferred to the Toernyn which followed Staples' boat into San Diego July 3 where they were told to anchor and not to leave.

Later, they told them to take the Toernyn to a fuel depot to take on supplies.

Murphy, he said, had told him at Ensanada that they had struck bad weather and run out of food, fuel and money.

Staples said the man named Ian told him in San Diego the boat was going to Sydney Inlet on V.I. where two vessels would meet the Toernyn and unloading would be done at night. The cargo of marijuana was to be hidden on shore and sold in the east.

Staples said he told Murphy and Ian that he believed Ward would renege on the $145,000 rental to Batista for the Toernyn. Both men appeared angry and said Ward did not have the power to make that decision.

The ones who did have the authority, Staples said he was told, were three people named Ramsay, Keith and Garry (also called Larry and Gerry).

Ian said he had $20,000 buried in Virginia and Staples could contact Vicki. He gave Staples a note so she would produce the money.

Staples said he told Murphy to make contact with people so he could negotiate for payment of the $145,000. He also said that he and Batista could impede the cargo if arrangements weren't made. To emphasize this control, photos were taken showing Staples with Murphy and Ian as well as the Toernyn.

Murphy then made two telephone calls. The first was to someone named Jill. Murphy said there had been a delay, everything was OK, and Ernie would call about the money.

The second call was to a man named Keith in Denver. The same story was repeated.

Murphy gave an assurance that the money would be put together.

On July 8, Staples met Ward and Batista in the Jobby of the Washington Plaza Hotel. Batista said he was concerned that the money might not be paid and that Ward would have to pay $145,000 in Canadian funds in advance.

Ward wanted to know if they had control of the boat and the San Diego photos were produced.

Ward then produced $40,000 and said his girlfriend Vicki would bring $60,000 that evening from Keith in Denver, which was done that evening. Ward said he would be staying at the Vance Hotel under the name Spurrell.

Ward said he could come up with another $40,000 but asked to be excused from the remaining $5,000 and Batista agreed. The $40,000 was to be paid to Pereira on the Toernyn's arrival at V.I.

In cross-examination, Staples said no charges were contemplated against Batista who was working with and for the DEA throughout and who had assisted the DEA on previous occasions. He understood Batista to run a legitimate coastal shipping business.

The DEA payment to Batista of $3,000 was for fuel and provisions in San Diego.

Asked if he suggested to Batista that if he didn't co-operate he would not get $145,000 and would not be allowed to smuggle up and down the coast, Staples said the DEA has no evidence that he was engaged in smuggling and the answer to both questions was no.

He agreed the customs officers at San Diego were "clued in" on what was happening and they posed as owners of the boat Staples used to provide emergency fuel to the Toernyn.

As to his role, he said it was a continuing criminal investigation and the DEA, with the knowledge of the RCMP, was monitoring the subjects as they carried out the scheme planned by them.

He agreed that part of the DEA deal with Batista was that no charges would be laid against him, that he could keep the rental money, that there would be no charges against the captain and crew of four and that Batista could keep his boat and this was worked out with the RCMP.

Staples said he asked the Denver DEA office to identify Keith but he wasn't aware of the results. He said Ian was aboard the Toernyn when it left San Diego and to his knowledge he hasn't been arrested.

As to how much Batista received for renting his boat, Staples said he had direct knowledge of $100,000, Pereira said he got $40,000 on Batista's behalf and it was his understanding that $80,000 to $90,000 was received earlier by Batista. From this would be paid expenses, which included $30,000 for repairs to the boat.

Asked if Batista got close to $200,000 for his participation, Staples said he would put it at less than that.

He agreed that throughout his investigation he did not see any of the five men now standing trial.

Asked if his actions were more in the area of crime generation than crime prevention, Staples said the ultimate result was in the area of crime prevention.

The trial, which has heard from five of 50 prosecution witnesses, was to continue today.

Aldermen to Back Arbitration?

Victoria Labor Council secretary Larry Ryan said Wednesday night there are a number of city aldermen who would support a demand by Victoria policemen that council be bound by any agreement reached with the police board.

Ryan, who is an alderman, told a labor council meeting he and other council colleagues would feel bound by any agreement brought in by an arbitrator.

Police union president Bryan Bailey said the latest information they have is that there are three alderman in favor and three against, including Mayor Mike Young.

Bailey and union secretary-treasurer Bob Blackie attended the council meeting to explain their position.

Clark Gilmour has been appointed mediator in the dispute but the policemen are not confident he can resolve the main issue — the policemen's demand for parity with Vancouver plus 3 per cent.

The demand, plus other fringe benefits, would mean a 19-per-cent increase in a one-year agreement. The police board has offered 7.5 per cent.

The union is concerned that if the dispute is settled by an arbitrator and then goes to council for approval, it will be turned down, something which happened in 1975.

The policemen want a commitment from council that it will be bound by any arbitrated settlement.

Bailey said he is still hoping to appear before council to get that commitment and in the meantime, the first meeting with Gilmour will take place Monday.

He told labor council delegates the policemen are being pushed into a corner.

"It seems to me we are being forced into the position of taking a strike vote."

He agrees that under essential services legislation the policemen would likely be ordered back to work during a 104-day cooling-off period but if nothing is settled they would be forced to go on strike again.

Voting By Family Urged

Trade union families must stay united and vote solidly in favor of the NDP in upcoming provincial and federal elections, federal party candidate Gretchen Brewin said Wednesday night.

"Elections can be won or lost because families don't stick together," she told Victoria Labor Council delegates.

Too often the husbands will vote NDP but the wife will opt for one of the other parties.

"It's important that husbands and wives, everybody, stick together.

"It's the trade union movement and the NDP, together."

A delegate from the boilermakers union asked how the husbands can get their wives to do what they're told.

Brewin, a candidate in the Victoria riding, said wives should not be told to do anything. "You get them to understand. You let them discover by themselves."

Brewin said with a lot of work and strong commitment from labor people, there is a good chance that she can "make a real dint" in the hold on the riding by Conservative incumbent Allan McKinnon.

She said if the NDP does well in the May 10 provincial election there could be a positive spillover effect for party candidates in the May 22 federal vote.

"I am hanging onto Charles Barber's coattails very tight," she said.

Barber was one of two Victoria MLAs in the now-dissolved legislature. He is expected to seek another term as NDP candidate.

Council delegates were also told that the Canadian Labor Congress has fired up its election-fighting machine.

Art Kube, CLC education director from Vancouver, said there is a series of three leaflets coming out promoting the labor-NDP position.

The first 15,000 leaflets and stickers have been delivered to the Victoria area. The leaflets focus on the rising cost of food.

The second leaflet will feature provincial issues and the third will focus on general issues that arise during the federal election campaign.

"The whole campaign is issue oriented," Kube said.

Cancer Control Gets Help

The health ministry has approved an additional $2.8 million to ease debts of the provincial Cancer Control Agency and to help with this year's budget.

Health Minister Bob McClelland said $1.1 million goes to cover most of the past deficits, and $1.65 million will be added to the agency's current budget.

The funds have nothing to do with the $25 million the ministry had planned to set aside for hospital deficits in Monday's budget.

LAPEL FLOWER was pinned on Premier Bill Bennett by Tasia Richards during Empress Hotel Socred reception Wednesday. Premier, Deregulation Minister Sam Bawlf, Provincial Secretary Hugh Curtis and Esquimalt Socred MLA Lyle Kahl sipped tea and gladhanded in kickoff to provincial election campaign. Some 4,500 people were invited and about 1,000 showed up.

Labor Slams BCRIC

The Socred's free-share program is essentially dishonest, John Shields, president of the Victoria Labor Council, charged Wednesday night.

He said the offer of five free shares in the B.C. Resources Investment Corp. is a disgraceful use of public money for the party's election propaganda.

It is also apparent now that the Social Credit administration isn't interested in keeping the shares in B.C. but would be willing to sell them to U.S. multi-nationals, he said.

Shields told council delegates it is clear the government intended all along to make the BCRIC shares an election issue and now the Socreds have free political advertising at all the banks, credit unions and trust companies handling the shares.

And it is taxpayers' money that is being used, $17.5 million according to the government and $24 million according to the opposition.

"I think that is a disgraceful use of public money for the exclusive use of one political party."

Shields also said the government's attempt, prior to the election call Tuesday, to amend the program allowing for the sale of the shares outside B.C. showed the whole thing was "basically a scam to transfer control . . . to the U.S. multi-nationals."

"Our report is that this a scandalous situation."

Brewin To Back Mitchell

The nomination of Frank Mitchell as NDP standard-bearer for the provincial riding of Esquimalt-Port Renfrew became official Wednesday night with the announcement by challenger John Brewin he will not appeal the controversial result.

He said he will throw his full support behind Mitchell and will work for him in the riding.

Mitchell won the nomination May 25 when the meeting chairman voted twice, once as a delegate and then a second time to break a 225-225 tie.

The nomination procedure was subsequently upheld by a 17-0 vote of the constituency executive.

Brewin said that even if there is a strong procedural case for an appeal, the delay while the hearings were being held "would irreparably harm whichever candidate emerged the winner."

Brewin, former provincial president of the party, said he will not seek nomination in any other riding.

80% OF OUR BUSINESS IS FROM WORD-OF-MOUTH ADVERTISING

Today, 80% of our business comes from good old word-of-mouth advertising. Friends recommend our store to friends who in turn recommend our store to their friends and so on. Why is our referral business so high?

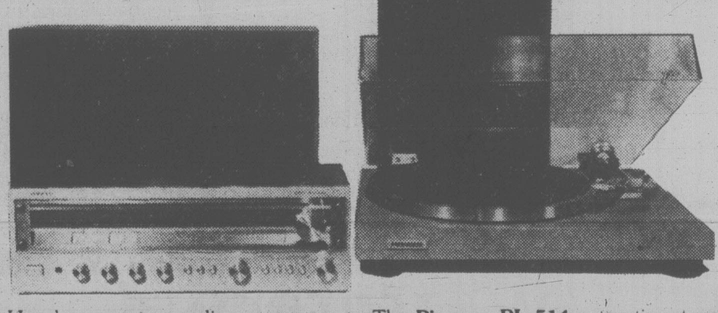
Well, we have stocked our store with the kinds of products we would buy ourselves. Last year we spent more money travelling in search of new value-oriented products than we did on advertising. We knew that the more performance we offered for your dollar, the more likely it was that you would shop here for your stereo needs. And the more enthusiastic you were about us, the more confident you would be in recommending us to your friends.

Well the word has spread very fast. Our volume of stereo sales has tripled in the last three years. We have done all this with a minimum of expensive advertising.

And this means that now more than ever we can offer you the best equipment backed by the strongest service all at competitive prices.

So stop by and find out why it really costs less to own the best. And you'll see why Sound Hounds wants to be your stereo store.

Terrance J Crabbe
Terry Crabbe—Manager.



Here's a great sounding component system. The heart of system $949 is the new Advent loudspeaker (the successor to the original best-selling Advent loudspeaker) which we're offering in it's utility walnut grained finish. A pair of the new Advents cover the full ten-octave range of audible sound with unbeatable balance and clarity—and with high frequency output that's been increased to take advantage of today's best recordings. Their bass, by the way, is not only unsurpassed but mainly unapproached.

To drive the Advents in our $949 System, we have the new Onkyo TX 2500 II stereo receiver. The Onkyo powers the new Advents admirably, and it's F.M. and A.M. reception brings in those hard-to-get stations up and down the dial.

Onkyo, Advent and Pioneer... three names you can trust.

Oil Port Brief Rapped

SEATTLE (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency says an environmental impact statement on a proposed oil port at Port Angeles and pipeline to the United States Midwest is seriously inadequate.

And the manager of Washington state's largest oil refinery says it is unlikely his company will want to hook up with the pipeline proposed by the Northern Tier Pipeline Co.

Donald P. Dubois, regional protection agency administrator, said in a letter to the Bureau of Land Management that its draft environment impact statement on Northern Tier proposals underestimates potential air pollution in the Puget Sound area and doesn't study the possible damage of a very large oil spill.

Dubois also said the statement fails to give enough attention to oil-related development that might be attracted to Port Angeles once an oil port is built.

Northern Tier announced recently it was proposing to route its pipeline under Puget Sound, rather than around the sound. Company officials said the new route would bring the pipeline closer to an Arco refinery — the state's largest — and three other major refineries in northwest Washington.

Hooking up with the refineries could reduce tanker traffic on Puget Sound, a goal of many environmentalists.

However, Fielding Formway, manager of Arco's Cherry Point refinery, said pipeline hookups for the refineries would be more costly than existing tanker deliveries.

Northern Tier wants to build the pipeline from Port Angeles to Clearbrook, Minn., to carry Alaska crude oil to the Midwest.

Indian Platform

TERRACE (CP) — Native Indian organizations in British Columbia will take a unified stand in the upcoming federal and B.C. elections, the president of the United Native Nations said Wednesday.

Bill Wilson said in an interview the organizations will advise native voters about the elections and probably urge support of individual candidates.

Wilson is on a province-wide tour to familiarize non-Indians with the native position on land claims.

Williams' Aid Sought At Endako

FRASER LAKE (CP) — Village council here has asked provincial Labor Minister Allan Williams to intervene in a bitter labor dispute at Placer Development Ltd.'s Endako mine, 24 kilometres east of this north-central British Columbia community.

Village treasurer Ralph Gillis said Tuesday that council has sent a letter to the minister expressing concern that a prolonged strike could be detrimental to the community's 1,700 residents.

About 600 workers, members of the Canadian Association of Industrial, Mechanical and Allied Workers, have been on strike for a new contract at the molybdenum mine.

Nurses Write Protests

KELOWNA (CP) — The Kelowna chapter of the Registered Nurses Association of British Columbia (RNABC) announced Wednesday it will begin a letter-writing campaign to express concerns about hospital budget restrictions.

Chapter president Betty Wagstaff said there are 508 nurses in the local chapter who will be encouraged to write to Premier Bill Bennett and Health Minister Bob McClelland.

In addition, the Kelowna chapter will encourage other chapters and the more than 22,000-member RNABC to join the campaign.

The nurses said they are concerned about the quality of patient care and how it might be affected by budget restraints which limit increases to five per cent.

The nurses are also concerned about government formulas for staffing and financing hospitals.

Mass Cremation

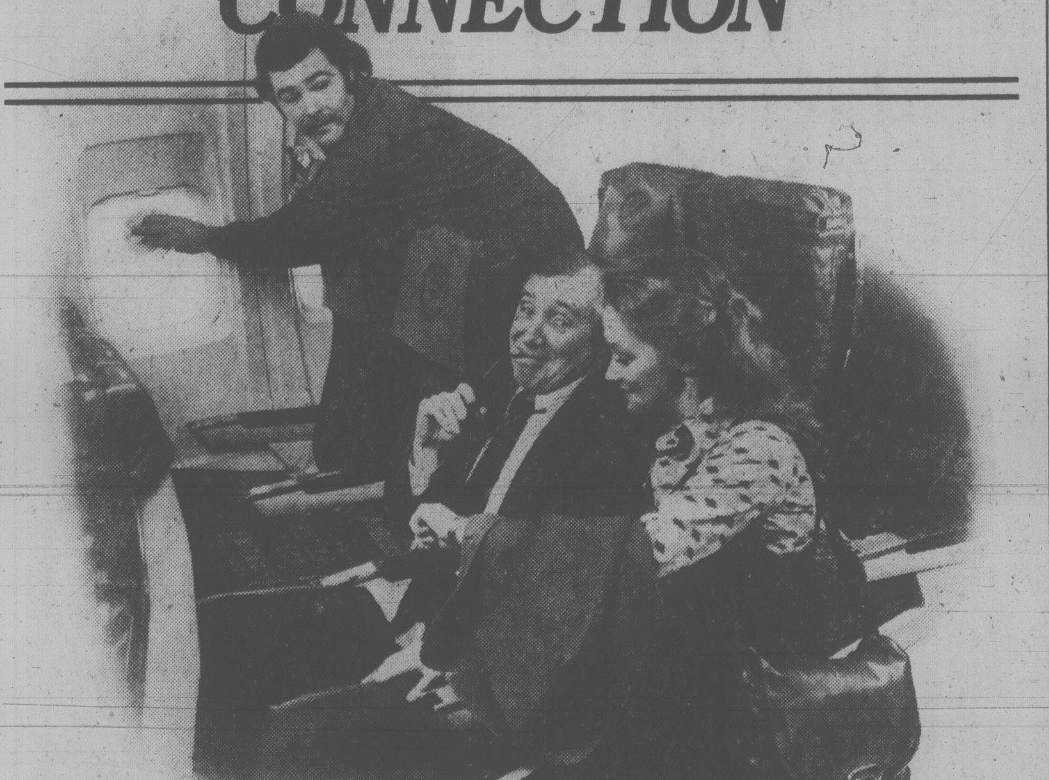
737 ADVANTAGES ON THE GREAT WEST CONNECTION



The Boeing 737 is far and away the most popular twin jet in the world. It's quiet. It's also wider and more comfortable than the competition. Pacific Western was the first airline to bring the 737 to Canada. Today with Transair, we fly the largest fleet of 737's in the country… carrying people to destinations throughout the four Western provinces, the Northwest Territories, the Yukon, and Seattle, Wash. Another advantage of our 737's is the schedule they fly.

We're making business travel in Western Canada easier than ever… with lots of flights to everywhere you want to go.

Kids Getting Nastier: Doctor

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Kids are getting nastier, says London psychiatrist Ken Mesbur.

"Kids are tougher, nastier and harder," he said in an interview. "Maybe they are wiser. Maybe they watch a lot of TV and know how to use violence."

Whatever the reason, Mesbur, director of the adolescent unit at London Psychiatric Hospital, told about 50 family doctors Wednesday that dealing with adolescents is the city's worst psychiatric problem.

Sometimes the children need psychiatric help, sometimes they are just out of control — and it's hard to tell the difference in a child, Mesbur said.

He said the number of disturbed children is growing, although declining school enrolments indicate there are fewer young people.

NWT Gets A $3.8M Boost

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal and Northwest Territories governments signed an agreement Wednesday which will pump $3.8 million into development of territorial industries and resources in the next two years.

The federal share of the two-year agreement will be $2.5 million.

The $3.8 million will go to developing the territory's tourism industry as well as its its fur, fish and wildlife resources, the statement said. Funds would also go for forestry research, the a work rotation program to increase employment opportunities for northerners and an economic development strategy for the territory.

Esquimalt Lads Held In Thefts

Esquimalt police have charged two youths and recovered about $3,000 worth of goods stolen from two apartments overnight.

The teen-agers will appear in provincial court charged with breaking and entering and possession of stolen property.

Officers arrested the suspects about 6 a.m. in an apartment in the 800-block Craigflower, less than an hour after occupants of a suite at 843 Craigflower reported they had been awakened by prowlers.

The occupants feigned sleep until the prowlers left with an assortment of goods including stereo equipment, watches and records.

The youths have also been charged with breaking into another apartment at 948 Esquimalt earlier in the night.

Now Pan Am Strike Set

Times News Services

WASHINGTON — Flight attendants for Pan American World Airways have voted overwhelmingly in favor of a strike against the carrier, beginning at midnight Sunday, their union announced Wednesday.

And United Airlines, strike bound for the past week, has cancelled all flights through the Easter weekend.

The Pan Am flight attendants, represented by the Independent Union of Flight Attendants, voted 3,064 to 84 in favor of a strike, sought in response to a month-old deadlock in contract negotiations.

"We are only trying to bring Pan Am flight attendants up to industry standard," said IUFA president Mary Ellen King. "Despite the long international routes we fly, our wages and working conditions are far below what flight attendants for other major airlines already have."

A spokesman for United said the nation's largest airline cancelled all flights and prior reservations through Monday, April 16, the day after Easter.

Even if a quick settlement to the five-day-old strike by 18,000 mechanics and ground crew personnel is reached, the agreement would probably have to be submitted for rank-and-file ratification by members of the Machinists and Aerospace Workers union before the walkout ends.

Pan Am spokesman Merle Richman said the airline was confidant the bargaining dispute could be resolved without a strike.

"If one comes, we'll do our best to operate the airline," added Richman.

Pan Am is the United States' largest overseas airline, with about 23,000 daily passengers at this time of the year.

Bennett Lied, Barrett Claims

The first word on Ocean Falls came Wednesday when the premier told delegates to a national mining conference in Vancouver that studies are being made on an integrated forest products development "to ensure the future" of the north coast community and the government has no role in blocking such studies.

"Anybody is allowed in a free country to come and conduct studies and to take a look."

Questioned by delegates about his past declaration that the province is not for sale, when eastern Canadian companies announced plans to buy control of MacMillan Blodel, B.C.'s largest forest company, the premier said that policy does not mean outside investment is unwelcome.

He said it is encouraged, but Social Credit wanted B.C. citizens to participate in ownership rather than allowing it to be concentrated in a few hands.

On Wednesday night, Bennett addressed about 1,700 party faithful at a rally here and said things are too good in B.C. to return the NDP to power. (See picture on page 10).

"We have come too far," he said. "We have worked too hard to bring the wrecking crew, the destruction crew, back into B.C."

Appeal Rejected

WOLVERHAMPTON, England (AP) — Stephen Howe rejected his company's order to attend a conference in Belgium, saying foreign food didn't agree with him and his housework would pile up. His employer fired him and an industrial court rejected his appeal.

Oil Tanker Flat-top Collide

SINGAPORE (UPI) — The U.S. aircraft carrier Ranger today collided with a Liberian-registered tanker off Singapore, leaving the tanker listing and dead in the water, the U.S. Navy and embassy said.

There were unconfirmed reports of an oil slick from the tanker Fortune, a 43,000-ton vessel owned by the Chinese Petroleum Corp. of Taiwan.

Fitness Saved Stricken Hiker

Physical fitness probably saved the life of 56-year-old Peter Nevile-Smith, 668 Transit, after he suffered a heart attack while hiking alone along the Sooke River Saturday, Royal Jubilee Hospital physicians said today.

Nevile-Smith, a keen hiker and outdoorsman, walked three kilometres to his car after he regained consciousness following the attack. Then he drove home.

Doctors said the attack was severe enough to kill younger man, but his physical fitness apparently saved him.

Neville-Smith told his wife, Joan, that he felt the attack coming on at about 1:30 p.m. and passed out.

When he came to and was making his way back to his vehicle, he just missed getting a lift from a truck pulling away with trail bikes on the back.

It was 5:30 p.m. when he arrived home and was taken to hospital by his son-in-law.

Time Short To Get On the List

PATTERSON
. . . inundated

Enumeration of voters for the provincial election has been completed but those eligible voters whose names aren't on the list will have a scramble of less than a week to register.

Deputy chief electoral officer Bob Patterson, inundated with queries Wednesday following Premier Bennett's election call the previous evening, said the voters' lists close next Wednesday, April 11.

He said registration centres will be opened in Victoria department stores, malls and other key locations to take late registrations.

Patterson could not say where the centres will be but was hopeful they will be operating today or by Friday at the latest.

Registration itself is a fairly straightforward procedure involving the completion of an application form and signing to certify that the person is an eligible voter, he said.

Couriers will tour the centres at regular intervals to collect names of those registered and take them to the office of the registrar of voters at 933 Yates.

Patterson said all voters contacted in the enumeration operation proper will receive postcards in the next few days, informing them that they are duly registered.

Enumeration for this provincial election was conducted at a fairly leisurely pace. The operation, involving about 150 enumerators in the Greater Victoria area, began last September and was completed last month.

But Patterson said the actual totals are still not available.

Eligible voters are those 19 years of age or older, either Canadian citizens or British subjects by birth or nationalization, who have lived in B.C. for the last six months and in Canada for the last 12 months.

MIKA RAPS 'DOWNTOWN CLIQUE'

Industry-Dumping Charged

By PAUL MOSS
Times Staff

Saanich Ald. John Mika said today the resurrection of the Royal Oak industrial park proposal is part of a strategy by downtown interests to dump industry on Saanich so that long-established industrial sites in the city of Victoria can be redeveloped more profitably for apartments.

Mika also claimed that Greater Victoria industrial development commissioner Barry Mayhew is the paid mouthpiece for this "downtown clique," and that Saanich Mayor Mel Couvelier has betrayed voters by reversing his earlier opposition to the Royal Oak site.

The alderman was commenting on two developments Wednesday in the multi-episode industrial park saga:

— Mayhew's own criticism of Mika and three other "obstructionist" colleagues on council as an anti-development faction which is retarding economic growth in the municipality.

— And the 5-4 decision by Saanich council's planning committee to reconsider the proposal for an industrial park in the Royal Oak area.

Couvelier, who helped defeat the issue at a public hearing more than a year ago, Wednesday joined Aldermen David Paterson, Fred Severson, Sandy Noel and Geoff Vantreight in calling for the seond look.

Mika claimed that Mayhew himself has been a "bust" as an industrial development commissioner.

"The only two jobs I know that have been created are Mayhew's own and that of his secretary's," he said.

"That's as much benefit as we have got from 18 months of this operation."

He conceded, however, that he doesn't blame Mayhew personally for this failure, which in his view stems from the way the commissioner's job was created.

Mika said former municipal affairs minister Hugh Curtis and Economic Development Minister Don Phillips insisted that the function financed partly by the provincial government "should be run by their friends in the downtown community" rather than entrusting it to the Capital Regional District.

As a result, he said, purely parochial interests are giving orders to Mayhew and he has to carry them out.

"They want to clear out some of their older industrial land around the waterfront so they build expensive apartment blocks like Laurel Point," Mika said. "They want to dump the industry in Saanich to get rid of it."

Couvelier said today he voted the way he did because in his view council must look again seriously at the Royal Oak proposal.

He said he still believes the Interurban site would have been a better site for industry, both because serviced land could have been provided more cheaply and because Saanich taxpayers would have benefited from a $4 million windfall profit.

But although he regrets council's rejection of the Interurban site as a bad decision, "it looks like Royal Oak is the only one possible to put together at the present time."

Ald. Howard Sturrock, another of the quartet of aldermen criticized for obstructionism by Mayhew, claimed (like Mika) that he has supported at least 80 per cent of the rezoning applications to come before council.

Sturrock said he has voted for industry in the Whittier-Boleskine and Quadra-Hulford areas, but he assesses each application on its merits.

The motion adopted by the planning committee Wednesday instructs staff to update the report published in November, 1977, on the proposal for industrial development in the Glanford-Vanalman area of Royal Oak.

The report will be re-submitted to the planning committee and then council with a view to calling another public hearing.

In the course of the debate, the committee heard appeals both to reconsider and reject the proposed industrial development. The former came from spokesmen for the Greater Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Construction Association of Victoria; the latter from the Royal Oak Community Association.

'No More In the Pot' CUPE Told

The final wage offer to Greater Victoria municipal employees is fair and generous compared to contracts already signed by other B.C. public sector workers, Victoria Mayor Mike Young said Wednesday.

"It is also as much as we can possibly recommend to our councils," he said following a meeting of the Greater Victoria Labor Relations Association's board of directors.

He said the employers' package should now be put to the members of the various Canadian Union of Public Employee locals involved.

The GVLRA originally offered six per cent in each year of a two-year agreement but recently increased the offer to 7.25 per cent each year, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Oak Bay Mayor Brian Smith, who is also GVLRA chairman, reiterated that the wage offer is final.

Smith said the board unanaimously agreed Wednesday that the wage proposal is the best the employees will get.

"There's no more in the pot," Smith said. "We're not holding stuff back."

The GVLRA released statistics which indicated that in agreements reached so far involving public sector employees on Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland, the average wage increase is for 6.7 per cent this year and 6.8 next year.

Neither Young nor Smith would say what will happen if the offer is rejected.

Smith said only that the employers are not looking for a work stoppage.

"The decision not to work will be theirs, not ours," he said, adding as far as he knows, employees don't want a strike either.

He said all other cost items have been settled but there are some non-cost matters still to be hammered out.

Talks between the GVLRA and the Joint Negotiating Committee, bargaining for five CUPE locals reached an impasse Tuesday and a committee spokesman said the negotiators are taking some recommendations to their members.

Bubble Bills Bloated

Gas and bubbles (of the tennis variety) add up to unnecessary inflation, Saanich aldermen learned Wednesday.

During a budget committee debate parks and recreation department officials said as an economy measure they want to convert the heating at the new Cedar Hill tennis bubble from gas to oil.

If the conversion is carried out, they said, heating costs this year will be an estimated $7,500. If not, the bill will be at least $10,000.

Pickets Knock Principal, Board

Pickets appeared in front of St. Andrew's Catholic school at 1002 Pandora today calling for the resignation of the principal and the school board.

One of the demonstrators, Sarah Burgess-Baier, who resigned last month after serving two years as a teacher at the school, said the pickets represent a group of parents who have lost confidence in the board and elementary school principal Joseph Murphy.

She said she quit her job in order to speak out about the problems at the school which she said centre around poor communication between parents and the school board, a lack of proper supplies and poor supervision.

The school was given a grant of more than $100,000 for the 1977/78 school year and yet there is no sign of where the money went, Mrs. Burgess-Baier said.

The disgruntled parents claim the money went to equip a diocesan high school operated by a different school board.

The teachers had hoped that some of the money would be spent on purchasing more basic supplies, like extra reading material or visual aids for use in the classroom but that hasn't happened, she said.

She said the school board never gives any straight answers when queried about the grant or the school's general financial situation.

Mrs. Burgess-Baier also said Murphy has a difficult time communicating with the children and with the parents whenever there are problems.

A petition demanding the resignation of the board and Murphy was signed by 80 per cent of the families, she said.

The pickets will stay up until the demand is carried out.

Parish priest Rev. Philip Hanley said today he doesn't feel any of the complaints are justified.

He said the school's books are being handled by an accounting firm and they will be open for scrutiny at a public meeting scheduled for April 18 at the school hall.

"I think they (the books) are in perfect shape," he said.

"If they are wrong on that issue they can be wrong on the other issues."

He referred the matter of supervision and supplies to school board chairman Helen Jones who was not available for comment.

Murphy, the principal, said he would not comment until the April 18 meeting.

Speed Cut Ordered

The speed limit on the Trans-Canada Highway between Tillicum and Harriet will be reduced from 80 km/h to 70 effective Monday, the highways ministry said today.

The reduction on the newly-widened highway was recommended because of concern from Saanich municipality on the traffic speeds near the Tillicum intersection.

Police Reach Dead End In Hunt for Missing Woman

Colwood RCMP have reached a dead end in their search for a 22-year-old View Royal woman who disappeared 15 months ago.

A police spokesman said today the case involving Maureen Roberta Hourigan has been marked by several bizarre incidents over the months.

She has been reported as dead, kidnapped, and living in hiding in both Victoria and Vancouver. But on every lead, police have drawn a blank.

HOURIGAN

Last April police received a call from a man who claimed she had been found dead in a motel in Nanaimo. It was false.

A month later the woman's father was contacted by a man in Vancouver who said he'd lead him to his daughter if he gave him $200. At a secret rendezvous in Vancouver Hourigan paid; the man left and never returned.

Then last September, Maureen's sister Lana got a call from a woman in Victoria who said she knew where Maureen was staying and left a phone number.

The phone at that number, however, had been disconnected.

Late in 1978 a person giving the name of Maureen Hourigan applied for social assistance in Vancouver and was given a voucher to stay at a hotel over the weekend. The person was asked to show up for an interview on Monday but never appeared.

Finally in February hopes were again raised when police learned an entry had been made in Maureen's medical services file three months earlier. That, however, turned out to be a paper error. The entry should have gone into Lana's file.

Before the Judge

A disagreement between a judge and Crown counsel Wednesday in provincial court gave a 37-year-old man his technical freedom for about five minutes.

The unusual incident began Wednesday morning when defence lawyer Scott Marshall elected trial by judge without jury for Marvin Palmer Lamont, of no fixed address, who was charged with theft of an auto March 30, possession of stolen property and dangerous driving.

After making the election, Marshall then told Judge Blake Allan his client wished to waive his right to a preliminary hearing and to be remanded until call day in Victoria county court Tuesday.

Crown counsel Robert Mulligan consented to the waiver and then asked Allan to remand Lamont in custody until Tuesday.

However, Allan refused on grounds he no longer had any jurisdiction to order Lamont's detention because the matter was now in the hands of the county court.

Mulligan argued unsuccessfully that Allan still held jurisdiction because the matter of Lamont's release had not been dealt with yet on Lamont's request. Mulligan suggested that if Allan's stance was correct, it would be one way of circumventing any bail hearing.

Following a lengthy argument, Allan maintained his position and Lamont was taken back to the jail area by deputy sheriff Dave Stones.

Minutes later, Lamont was rearrested and recharged with the identical offences and was returned to court in the afternoon.

Allan said it was an example of an abuse of the legal process but said he had no power but to proceed with the new charges.

Marshall requested that the question of election of trial method and bail be remanded until next Tuesday and said Lamont consented to staying in custody in the meantime. Mulligan indicated he was ready for a bail hearing and served notice he was going to oppose Lamont's release.

Two Saanich men were charged with drug-related offences and remanded in custody until next Tuesday for election and possible bail hearing.

Leonard Grant Macaulay, 25, of 4026 Quadra, and 18-year-old Anthony James Stewart, 839 Vernon, were jointly charged with possession of MDA for the purpose of trafficking.

Macaulay was also charged separately with possession of hashish for the purpose of trafficking.

A 24-year-old Colwood man was given a suspended sentence and 18 months' probation for eight counts of false pretences.

Clifford Butterfield, 977 Furber, was also fined $300 for driving with a blood-alcohol content over .08.

The false pretences concerned worthless cheques cashed in October, November and December last year totalling $440.60. The cheques ranged from a low of $12.47 to a high of $116.31.

Defence lawyer Robert Metzger told Allan restitution for three of the cheques was made by Butterfield and agreed with Allan that $335.93 remained outstanding.

Six of the cheques were cashed in Victoria and the remaining two in Duncan. All cheques were returned by the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce marked not sufficient funds.

How Your Garden Grows

Growing a new lawn

With careful preparation, anyone can grow a lush, healthy lawn. Simply follow these steps:

1. Dig or till the entire area to a depth of at least 8 inches. A rough grade can then be established. At the same time, remove large rocks and debris.
2. If soil is deficient in organic matter, sufficient should be added (peat, mushroom manure, compost or good topsoil) to produce a loose, friable structure.
3. Apply Green Valley Super Lawn Builder 12-4-8 at the rate of one pound (.45 kg) per 100 square feet (9m^2). This is a complete lawn food, also containing secondary plant food elements, and is pelleted for easy, dust-free application. It will provide immediate results and controlled, long-term feeding.
4. Mix the fertilizer and organic matter with the cultivated top 8 inches of soil, using a tiller, hoe or potato hook.
5. Rake soil deeply two or three times to the exact grade desired, removing small stones and debris. Then, again apply Green Valley Super Lawn Builder 12-4-8, prior to final raking.

6. Broadcast Penn-High Lawn Seed mix at the rate of one pound per 150 square feet, being careful to spread as evenly as possible. Rake seed in lightly with backward motion of rake.
7. Roll seed bed with lawn roller. Keep soil moist for thirty days. Cut with a sharp mower when grass reaches two inches.

Poster Warning

Political parties in Victoria have been warned by city hall about posting campaign signs.

The message was simple — don't.

City solicitor Jakob de Villiers said it's city policy to tear down and destroy any election campaign material posted on public property.

That means no signs will be allowed on trees, sidewalks and park benches, to mention just a few restricted spots.

James Bay Sues City

The James Bay Residents' League has filed a writ with the B.C. Supreme Court in a move to stop the city of Victoria from allowing a controversial housing development at Boyd and Luxton.

JBRL information officer Charles Ball said Wednesday the citizen group is seeking a declaration of bad faith against the city, wants the development bylaw declared invalid and is seeking an injunction to stop the city or any other party from developing the property.

"We feel council had improper motive and acted in bad faith," said Ball.

He believes this is the first time any community group in Victoria has ever initiated such action against city hall.

The JBRL is opposed to a 23-unit zero lotline development proposed by the Daon Development Corporation.

Last October Daon's proposal was refused by council, but in November that decision was reversed by a 5-4 vote.

Both the JBRL and the James Bay Community Association have been against the development from the start, saying the density is too high.

UIC Benefits Jump 61% In One Month

OTTAWA (CP) — The government paid out $526 million in unemployment insurance benefits in January, a 61 per cent increase from December, Statistics Canada reported Wednesday.

Preliminary unemployment insurance statistics showed there were 932,000 beneficiaries receiving an average of $112.70 per week.

A spokesman for the unemployment insurance commission said the increase of 61 per cent appears huge but it is part of a predictable seasonal pattern. The same large jump in pay-outs has been evident between December and January since the 1940s, he said.

The commission always sends out a flood of new cheques in January, he said, because this is when the bulk of the seasonally unemployed receive their first unemployment insurance payment.

They lose their jobs in November, have to fulfill a two-week waiting period, file their claim then wait for the department to process it. They usually receive their cheque in early January.

Friend's Death Final Straw

TORONTO (CP) — The death of Margaret Trudeau's closest friend, Queen Alia of Jordan, in a helicopter crash was the final straw in an unhappy marriage, Margaret says of her breakup with husband Pierre.

The marriage had reached such a low ebb that Mrs. Trudeau was smoking marijuana "more or less openly in front of" the prime minister and he had her followed to photography school to make sure she was attending, Mrs. Trudeau says.

In the latest serialized instalment from her autobiography, Beyond Reason, Mrs. Trudeau tells of meeting Alia when the queen and King Hussein visited Ottawa during an unhappy period following the 1974 election.

"Within hours she had taken me in hand, forced me to laugh about our lives, poked fun at my fears."

Later, when told of Alia's death she says: "I started shaking. Tears poured down my face. It was too much for me. It made a mockery of all our conversations, the way Alia had kept insisting that everything would turn out well for both of us.

"Pierre and I discussed our future calmly. We agreed that nothing should happen precipitously. I would leave for a 90-day trial separation — and we would take it from there."

Mrs. Trudeau says serious marital troubles started earlier when she made "freedom trips" to escape the pressures.

"I've fallen in love," she screamed at Pierre.

"You're sick," he told her, and her well-publicized stay in a Montreal hospital began shortly afterward.

"Though not my lover, my American friend called me every day. I sometimes felt that only he and Alia could understand what I was going through."

But when she left the hospital and accompanied her husband to Europe for a NATO summit "Pierre continued to eye me with doubt, and I took refuge as frequently as I felt I dared to in quick puffs of marijuana."

She says she smoked as many as "four strong joints a day" as a reaction against what she called Pierre's jealous and brooding manner.

"It became so that Pierre, on arriving home, would come up not to kiss me, but to sniff me.

"I brushed my teeth, washed my face and put on scent, but I couldn't stop the distinctive smell of grass lingering in my hair."

She says she finally enrolled in a photography class at Algonquin College in Ottawa because Pierre pressed her to pursue an interest of her own.

"Pierre had me followed to make sure I was attending school. I was."

Drunken Pedestrians Walking Into Danger

OTTAWA (CP) — If you drink, don't walk?

Well, you'd better consider the consequences if you do, says the Traffic Injury Research Foundation of Canada.

A detailed examination of 734 pedestrians killed in traffic mishaps across Canada showed that 30 per cent — 224 — had consumed alcohol. The report appears in the March edition of the Canadian Society of Forensic Sciences Journal.

"Most people think that pedestrians are killed jaywalking . . . or by maniacal motorists," Dr. Herb Simpson said today.

"Maybe the pedestrian is not that innocent."

RCMP Needed Curb: Allmand

OTTAWA (CP) — Former solicitor-general Warren Allmand testified Wednesday that the RCMP security service's selection of "subversive" targets convinced him that the service needed a more explicit mandate.

Testifying before a royal commission into RCMP wrongdoing, Allmand said the security service view of subversion in the early 1970s usually involved people who were "militantly against the status quo, particularly if they were on the left."

Allmand maintained that a wide-ranging mandate given the security service by the federal cabinet in 1975 resulted in more restrictive targeting.

Under 1974 amendments to the Official Secrets Act, the solicitor-general was given authority to issue warrants authorizing the security service to wiretap or bug suspected subversives or terrorists.

Applications were brought to Allmand's office by Director-General Michael Dare of the RCMP security service, along with a memo setting out details.

The targets ranged from persons Allmand knew personally to international terrorists, Allmand said.

"I had doubts, because sometimes I knew the people and groups involved," he said.

Mr. Justice David C. McDonald, the commission chairman, noted that there was no lawyer present to contest the application or advise Allmand, and there was no appeal against such warrants.

Another Liberal Gets a Sinecure

OTTAWA (CP) — Long-time Montreal Liberal MP Gerard Loiselle was named to the immigration appeal board Wednesday.

The appointment of Loiselle, MP for Saint Henri since 1957, was the 13th government job awarded to a Liberal since Prime Minister Trudeau called the May 22 election 10 days ago.

Four Liberals were named to the Senate, three were given jobs on the National Parole Board, one on the Canadian Pension Commission, one on the National Energy Board and one was made consul-general in New Orleans.

A Liberal MP was named a member of the International Joint Commission and a defeated Liberal candidate was named head of the Advisory Council on the Status of Women.

$2.8B Tag Put On Tory Promises

Times News Services

CALGARY — The Conservatives have responded to charges that their campaign promises will cost taxpayers a bundle by setting a total of $2.8 billion on their proposals.

What they have come up with is one-half of the "ball park" figures that leader Joe Clark promised earlier this week when he was stung by a claim made by Finance Minister Jean Chretien that the Tory campaign promises would cost a total of $7.5 billion.

A spokesman for Clark itemized the $2.8 billion tab this way:

Personal tax cuts for low and middle-income Canadians — $2 billion.

The mortgage interests and property tax deductions in the coming fiscal year — $400 million.

Elimination of the capital gains tax on the sale of shares in Canadian-owned companies — $50 million.

Research and development incentives — $125 million.

The small business tax credit — $200 million.

What the Conservatives still have to come up with is a net figure because they have claimed all along that their proposals for tax breaks are intended to stimulate the economy.

This is supposed to return money to the federal government in the form of tax revenue that it would not ordinarily have collected because the economy is lagging.

Policy advisers to Clark are also giving "serious consideration" to handing PetroCan, the federal energy company, back to the Canadian people for free.

If the estimated $1 billion federal investment in the national energy company was handed over to all registered voters — some 14.5 million — it could mean each would receive two shares valued in the $35 range.

The "free option" is one of several being examined by Clark's policy advisers. But one of the most influential who is accompanying the Conservative leader on his campaign tour said Wednesday he was personally in favor of it since the money now invested in PetroCan belongs to tt taxpayers.

If a sell option is picked by a Clark government it might want to use the capital accumulated from such a sale to reduce the federal budget deficit which now stands at an estimated $12 billion, the adviser said.

Clark has repeatedly promised to sell PetroCan, and Conservatives are intrigued with British Columbia's hand-out of shares in provincial crown corporations to its citizens.

The "free" option has not been emphasized to date by Clark when he talks about "privatizing" PetroCan.

He most frequently refers to selling the corporation in the same way that the Alberta government divested itself of Alberta Gas Trunklines.

Every citizen over 18 was given the opportunity to purchase the shares.

The result was to make AGTL a widely held company.

ELECTION 79

Second Round Of Boos For PM

BATHURST, N.B. (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau met loud boos Wednesday as he attempted to defend government unemployment insurance cuts.

It was the second straight day on the campaign trail Trudeau had to deal with such opposition.

Trudeau Wednesday attempted to deal with about two dozen demonstrators protesting unemployment insurance and demanding French-language television as he stood on the steps of a church hall to talk to several hundred persons.

He faced a volley of insults when he defended cuts approved by the last session of Parliament designed to remove 250,000 persons from unemployment insurance rolls by 1981.

Trudeau told the protesters that there are jobs and that the legislation passed by Parliament "is only for those who abuse unemployment insurance."

To protesters who called for French-language CBC television coverage for the region, Trudeau said "you will have French television — that's not a promise; it's a plan."

Clark 'To Tax Sick'

REGINA (FP) — NDP leader Ed Broadbent has charged that Joe Clark plans to "tax the sick" if he becomes prime minister.

Resurrecting a little-known policy paper Clark issued when running for the Tory leadership, Broadbent claimed the Conservatives want to impose tax penalties of up to $300 a year to discourage Canadians from using medicare services.

Quoting from the document, Broadbent said Clark had suggested governments consider "all or a portion of the value of a doctor's visit as taxable income for the patient."

The NDP leader, who campaigned Wednesday in the Saskatchewan capital, branded Clark's proposal as "one of the most regressive and unfair forms of taxation every suggested by any contemporary Canadian political leader."

ESSO* AND FIBERGLAS CANADA ANNOUNCE

HOW TO SAVE MONEY ON INSULATION AND FUEL OIL.

The fact that proper insulation can reduce your heating bill is no surprise.

In fact depending on your current level of insulation you could realize a saving in fuel oil consumption of 1/3 or more for years to come.

But now - here's the news - a fuel oil supplier and insulation manufacturer get together to offer a whole energy saving, money saving package.

When you buy Fiberglas Canada pink batt or roll insulation for your home from the building supply outlet of your choice, Esso will credit 10% of the cost of your FIBERGLAS insulation to your Esso fuel oil account.

CALL YOUR LOCAL ESSO FUEL OIL DEALER.

He'll be able to answer any questions you have about the program and tell you where you can buy FIBERGLAS insulation. He can also provide you with helpful brochures and information on government home insulation grants.

If you're not already an Esso customer, we'd like you to become one and take advantage of this offer.

Just follow these two steps.

1 BUY YOUR FIBERGLAS INSULATION.

Properly complete all blanks on the coupon from this advertisement and have your insulation supplier validate it. (Additional coupons are available from participating building supply outlets and Esso fuel oil dealers.)

2 SEND THE COUPON TO FIBERGLAS CANADA.

Send the coupon and a copy of your purchase invoice along with 10¢ (to comply with legal requirements) to Fiberglas Canada Limited, P.O. Box 2005, Station Q, Toronto, Ontario M4T 2V5. Fiberglas Canada will then return your purchase invoice and will also send you a certificate entitling you to 10% of the retail purchase price of the insulation to be applied to your Esso fuel oil account.

If you are an Esso customer you can submit the certificate to Esso as cash to be applied against your next payment. If you are not an Esso customer, Esso will contact you to arrange an account and ensure you get your credit.

BONUS SAVINGS THROUGH GOVERNMENT GRANTS.

Governments offer insulation grants to encourage conservation. If you qualify for any of these grants your Esso fuel oil retailer has the information to assist you.

For example, the Canadian Home Insulation Program (CHIP) offers the following:

If your home was built before 1946 (before Sept. 1, 1977 in the Yukon and N.W.T.) and is not located in a building of more than three storeys, you may be eligible for a grant covering 2/3 of the insulation materials cost. (To a maximum of $350.00).

HERE'S AN EXAMPLE OF HOW YOU COULD SAVE.

FIBERGLAS purchase (example only)	$200
Less CHIP rebate (2/3 total)	-132
Actual cost	$ 68
Esso fuel oil purchase (example only)	$ 85
Less 10% rebate †	-20
Actual cost	$ 65

So in this example a total saving of $152 could be realized by taking advantage of the CHIP rebate and Esso/Fiberglas offer.

COUGAR WINGER SUSPENDED FOR ONE GAME

Bruins Miss Goal Bet

It looks as if the argument between New Westminster Bruins and Victoria for the second playoff berth in the Western Hockey League's Western Division is going to go down to the wire despite Cougars' third consecutive playoff loss.

And because the Bruins failed to score on an unguarded Victoria goal in the dying seconds of Wednesday's game at New Westminster's Queen's Park Arena, the Cougars still hold some advantages in the double round-robin semi-final series that also includes Portland Winter Hawks.

Thursday's game wound up 4-3 in New Westminster's favor. It could have been 5-3 because the Bruins twice missed the open net on long shots while Victoria pulled goaltender Steve Amiss and went gambling for a tying goal to force suddden-death overtime.

Fortunately for the Cougars, the Bruins missed. The open-net goal might have have a big bearing on which team advances to the best-of-seven divisional final.

Total points are the first factor used in determing advance. Both Bruins and Cougars have four. Cougars play in Portland on Friday and then entertain the Bruins in Memorial Arena on Saturday. In addition to Saturday's game, Bruins also must play the Winter Hawks twice — in New Westminster tonight and in Portland Sunday.

In case of a tie in points, the WHL's first tie-breaker is the number of games won by the teams concerned. Should the Cougars win Saturday, that won't settle anything because the teams will wind up with 2-2 records against each other.

That's when the goals for-and-against factor comes into play. Victoria won the first game 7-4 while the Bruins have claimed 5-2 and 4-3 decisions. Consequently, the Bruins have a 13-12 edge.

However, if the Bruins had scored an open-net goal, that advantage would have been 14-12 and the Cougars would have been confronted with a situation in which a one-goal victory on Saturday wouldn't help their cause.

Now, a one-goal victory Saturday will be enough. That would leave the teams tied in goals, but the WHL's final tie-breaking formula — the season's record between the two — would give it to the Cougars. Victoria has an 11-5 record over the Bruins, including victories in all eight games at Memorial Arena during the regular season.

To get into the tie-breaking possibilities, however, the Bruins must still win one game from Portland.

Most looked at Wednesday's game as one in which Mickey Willgress came back to haunt his former teammates. Willgress scored three goals, including a quick pair to highlight a three-goal Bruin outburst in a 72-second span late in the second period.

In actual fact, however, it may be the misses on the open net that may prove to be the most haunting factor.

The Cougars played well. They held an edge in territorial play but were stung only by that 72-second letdown and Richard Martens' strong netminding. Greg Adams, scoring his first point of the playoffs, Geordie Robertson and George Fritz connected for Victoria's goals but Martens had all the answers on Cougars' other scoring bids.

Bob Jansch, who missed the past three games because of a charley-horse, returned to Victoria's lineup but the roster will be reduced by one again for Friday's game in Portland.

Adams and Portland forward Max Kostovich, main eventers in a game-over argument in Victoria on Tuesday, each were suspened from the Friday game.

In addition to the suspensions, the league fined both Portland and Victoria $250.

Elsewhere, Edmonton Oil Kings said goodbye and Calgary Wranglers said hello to playoff positions.

Saskatoon Blades defeated the Oil Kings 5-3 to eliminate Edmonton from the Eastern Division final while Calgary got back into contention in the Central Division by rallying for a 5-4 victory over Billings Bighorns.

Bruins Up For Sale Team Criticism Unfair

New Westminster Bruins have been put up for sale for $350,000 by the two owners of the Western Hockey League major junior franchise.

Coach Ernie McLean and general manager Bill Shinske, co-owners for the last eight years, said they are unhappy with the severe criticism which has been levelled at them after a brawl March 22 at Queen's Park Arena.

McLean was suspended for the balance of the season and eight players were suspended from three to five games after two Portland Winter Hawks players were severely beaten. McLean also was fined $1,000 and the team $500.

"There have been 10 major brawls in the league this year and we have been involved in one," McLean said, "yet some members of the media are calling for my banishment from hockey."

McLean issued a public apology after the incident, which saw the New Westminster bench empty while the Portland bench was restrained by coach Ken Hodge.

Shinske was critical of league governors for having what he called "tunnel vision" about the brawl. He said years of hard work have been wasted.

The Bruins have been Memorial Cup finalists the last four years and won the major junior title the last two seasons. This season they finished third in the Western Division of the WHL and currently are involved in an elimination series with Portland and Victoria Cougars.

The owners said they considered the $350,000 figure a fair price because that is what a Portland group recently paid in purchasing the Seattle Breakers franchise, which will remain in Seattle.

Race Clinic, New Gate And Names to Ponder

Some notes and like that:

And, as always, what a difference a year makes. Last year at this time the magic name in the horsey set was Steve Cauthen and guess who was coming up for the thoroughbred opener at Exhibition Park. Stevie Wonder, that's who.

Now Cauthen's star has dimmed. no longer does he have the seat on Affirmed, and he's over in Britain for a season. But he'll do well . . . or should.

To wit, from the B.C. Jockey Club as Monday's opening draws near: First, was a free open house at Ex Park, Sunday, which drew 4,000 fans, had six non-betting races, workouts by some of the top runners of last year and a clinic. The emphasis at the clinic was on handicapping, the key to everything, and was conducted by track announcer Doug Reid. Doug was aided by Victoria trainer Dave Forster, who developed First Purchase into the 1978 Horse of the Year; Rev. Desmond Kimmitt of the B.C. Racing Commission and jockey Tom Wolski.

Wolski for Cauthen? Well, not quite, but then it's a year later and, with Stevie out of the country, who knows what Tommy's future holds?

Otherwise, a new arrival at the track is a 12-stall starting gate, designed and constructed by Clay Puett. Puett, who now lives in Phoenix, Ariz., was credited with inventing the first automatic electric starting gate when he worked in B.C. in the 30s.

The new gate isn't that much different from the old. "Sturdier, stronger and more streamlined," is the word, and it has a new double-lock system which makes it more difficult for a horse to break through before the start.

And some color will also be added. Each horse now will have a different saddle cloth to match the jockey's cap, the colors of which already are designated.

And horses: In brief, the ladies get to go on view first in the traditional opening night United Way Purse with stakes winners Very Knowledgable and Miss Streaker the ones to beat. The three-year olds may be hard put to put down Red Desert, a recent $40,000 claim from Santa Anita, while the handicap division looks strong with the likes of B.C. Derby winner Five Star General, Australasian, Alberta Green, Moonbird and Allie's Tango, a five-time winner from Portland, on the grounds and ready to go.

Otherwise, Wilf Sadler, who passed away a few years ago, has been remembered by his old-time soccer club. The Victoria West soccer clubhouse was officially opened last month week and appropriately dedicated as "Sadler's Arms". Wilf's widow, Betty, unveiled the plaque commemorating her husband's name.

The sick bay report has Colonist columnist Gorde Hunter coming along nicely, and it's nice to see Jim Tang back in harness after several weeks on the shelf, and just in time for the ponies. Trust Jim . . . The Shamrocks are still dickering wih Nanaimo for the rights to Kevin Alexander and Bob Cool but negotiations are stalemated at the moment . . . Just as they are with Doug Angrove, Nanaimo's first draft pick . . . The problem is simple. None of them want to play in Nanaimo . . . Meanwhile, the Victoria and District Baseball Association is looking for memorabilia for its archives at Lambrick Park and anything from the past — pictures, writeups, trophies, etc — would be welcome . . . Harness racing driver Keith Linton has been the recipent of a double honor . . . Linton was named winner of the Armstrong Daily and the Jack Shultz Memorial awards from the U.S. Harness Writers' Association. The Armstrong award is for the highest win percentage with 500 or more starts, the Schultz award is for the best driving record in North America with 500 or more starts . . . Linton's record, based on the Universal Driver Rating System, was an impressive .423 per cent . . . And tilt . . . It wasn't the Racquet Club Kings, as reported, who won "C" division of the recent Oldtimers Hockey Tournament in Tokyo . . . J.W. Anderson of the team says the team name is Victoria Kinks, who have no association with RCV other than using RCV ice and wants to set the record straight . . . It was probably a language problem.

Seaver, Tanana Both Lose

By Associated Press

A funny thing happened Wednesday to Tom Seaver and Frank Tanana, two of baseball's best pitchers. But neither of them were laughing.

Seaver got through the first inning all right, but was kayoed with two out in the second as San Francisco Giants clubbed the Reds 11-5 in the traditional National League baseball opener in Cincinnati.

Tanana fared a little better but still came away a loser. He served up home runs to Larry Cox, Willie Horton and a tie-breaking, two-run shot to Leon Roberts in the sixth inning as Seattle Mariners stunned the highly-regarded California Angels 5-4 in the American League inaugural.

Today's NL schedule has two day games on tap — New York Mets playing the Cubs in Chicago and San Diego Padres visiting the Dodgers in Los Angeles.

The rest of the openers, including Texas-Detroit, are set for Friday.

Seaver was charged with seven runs, four of them earned, in 1 2-3 innings. Mike Ivie singled and homered in San Francisco's eight-run second inning, while Terry Whitfield collected four hits. Vida Blue went the route for the Giants, scattering nine hits.

Seaver, who began the season with a 219-117 lifetime record and a 2.51 earned-run average, said he felt good. But in getting the ball over the plate, he made it too easy to hit.

"That's something I'll have to work on the next couple of days," he said.

Tanana, who yielded nine hits and five runs — one of them unearned because of his throwing error — in 5 2-3 innings, said all three Seattle homers came on fastballs.

"You have to make them hit the ball on the ground here," he said. "I jammed Roberts. He probably hit it off the trademark, but it got over that 316-foot fence. You have to pitch the way the park is structured and I didn't do that tonight. I thought I threw well, and that's encouraging to me."

Roberts preferred to talk about the relief pitching of John Montague, who allowed two hits and one run over the final 6 2-3 innings.

"That's the Monty of old," said Roberts. "Two or three pitchers with the right performances at the right time can carry a team. The club feels confident as a team.

"We are tired of being counted out. Every guy to a man is thinking to himself he's tired of getting pushed around."

The umpiring crew in Cincinnati included Paul Pryor, the only veteran major league umpire who has signed for 1979. He worked with three amateurs, while 25 other big-league umpires picketed outside Riverfront Stadium — protesting salaries and working conditions.

The game in Seattle was officiated by rookie Ted Hendry, the only AL umpire under contract for 1979, and three amateurs.

Hawks Get Bonus From Late Changes

By The Canadian Press

For the National Hockey League's 12 playoff contenders, the last week of the schedule is a kind of spring training — except that nobody gets to bask in the sun.

Apart from a bit of jostling in the pecking order to choose partners for the first round of post-season play, the coaches' prime objectives are to shore up weaknesses, give their second-stringers a bit of ice time and gear everyone up for the coming battle for survival.

So Chicago coach Bob Pulford was well satisfied Wednesday night when a couple of relative newcomers, rookie Tim Higgins and much-travelled Mike Walton, scored two goals apiece in a 7-1 romp against Minnesota North Stars and Tom Lysiak, the key man in an eight-player deal with Atlanta Flames, came up with five assists.

Now both clubs are doing nicely. The Flames, with Boldirev contributing a goal and an assist, tied New York Rangers 3-3 at Madison Square Garden Wednesday, giving them a 4-2-1 record in their last seven games. Chicago is 4-1-2 over the same stretch.

In other games Wednesday night, Montreal Canadiens downed Detroit Red Wings 4-1 and Boston Bruins and Toronto Mapl Leafs played to a 3-3 tie.

Walton, picked up by Chicago after being cut loose by St. Louis and Boston earlier this season, scored two power-play goals for the Hawks and Higgins, used sparingly since he was brought up from the minors in December, ran his total to four in three games as they avenged a 4-3 loss to Minnesota 24 hours earlier.

At Montreal, centre Jacques Lemaire had his second three-goal game since recovering from a shoulder separation that kept him out of the Canadiens' lineup for 30 games.

Eskimos Sign Seven

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos have announced the signing of three import and four Canadian players, including three of their 1979 Canadian college draft selections.

Defensive tackle Bob Colak of the University of Windsor, defensive back Gary Simpson of Carleton and tight end Paul Shugart of Queen's, selected by Edmonton in the draft, all agreed to terms.

The other Canadian is Jim Hole, an offensive guard from the University of Alberta who was one of the Eskimos protected players in 1978.

The three imports signed are wide receivers Donny Bobo from Arkansas and Johnnie Jackson from Angelo State and running back Payton Bailey of Wichita State.

Stove, Durr in Final Of Rich Doubles Event

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Betty Stove of the Netherlands and Francoise Durr of France beat the Australian pair of Kerry Reid and Wendy Turnbull, 7-6, 6-3 today in the semi-finals of a $150,000 women's doubles tennis tournament.

Sue Barker of Britain and Ann Kiyomura of the United States defeated Americans Carrie Meyer and Pam Teegarden, 6-0, 6-3. They will meet Sharon Walsh of the United States and Leslie Hunt of Australia in a semi-final match in Tokyo on Saturday.

Bullets Grab Top NBA Spot

By The Canadian Press

As befitting a champion, Washington Bullets have clinched the best season record in the National Basketball Association.

The Bullets, last season's league champions and this season's Atlantic Division titleholders, raised their record to an imposing 54-25, routing the defenceless Boston Celtics 145-119 Wednesday night. With only three games remaining in the regular season, no team can match the Bullets' mark.

"I don't think they wanted to back in," coach Dick Motta said of the Bullets' clinching, a feat worth $50,000 to the team. "They wanted to do it themselves."

Meanwhile, San Antonio Spurs clinched a tie for the Central Division title, beating New Jersey Nets 110-103, and Kansas City Kings clinched a playoff berth, outlasting Los Angeles Lakers 115-111 in overtime.

Cauthen Discounts Pressure in U.K. Racing

LONDON (AP) — American jockey Steve Cauthen said Wednesday he is considering spending a large portion of his future career in Britain.

Cauthen, 18, arrived in England this week to ride this summer for millionaire thoroughbred owner Robert Sangster.

"I don't consider this trip a one-year thing," he told reporters at a well-attended news conference. "I hope to be back next year. If things go right, it could be that I ride here regularly for the rest of my career." Cauthen's willingness to spend part of his year in Britain was welcomed by trainer Barry Hills, who said: "It would be a bit of a waste for Steve to ride here for just one season."

Cauthen, from Walton, Ky., who skyrocketed to fame in 1977 when he became the first jockey whose mounts earned more than $6 million in a single year, has been guaranteed by Sangster earnings of $200,000 for riding in England, and if he does well he could triple or quadruple that figure.

Cauthen, who has ridden nearly 1,000 winners in the United States, insisted he is not worried by the pressure of being expected to do well in Britain, where he could have up to 600 rides this season.

"I am not going to put pressure on myself," he said. "That would be pointless. Other people create pressure, but I don't worry about it. I just do my best and satisfy myself."

English courses are far less smooth than American tracks, but Cauthen does not forsee any problems.

"I've ridden since I was two," he said. "I've ridden in pastures and fields and, at worst, the English tracks will be unusual. "I am sure there will be no problem adapting once I have had a few rides."

National Rugby Team Has That Island Flavor

Once again Victoria's rugby strength — not only on the field but in the world of officialdom as well — has been clearly demonstrated with the naming of Peter Clarke as Canada's national team manager.

This gives the Island a sweep of the top two posts (UVic's Bruce Howe earlier was named coach) as Canada prepares for its test match with the United States and for a three-week tour of Britain and France in September.

Canadian rugby players desperately want to re-establish their supremacy over the Americans who shocked them with a 12-7 win in last year's second annual test match in Baltimore. Canada won the first encounter in Vancouver.

This year the test will be played at Varsity Stadium in Toronto on June 9 and will be televised live.

Howe will do the coaching while Clarke is arranging all the details on the tour which begins Sept.7. First game is at Bath against Sommerset County. Then it's off to Cambourne for a game against Cornwall, to Wales for a meeting with Cardiff and to Leicester for a match with the glamor team the Barbarians.

In France, Canada will play a regional XV at Lille and will finish the tour with a match against France B at Clamart near Paris.

It's a hectic tour with a lot of travelling and some tough games for the tour party of 25 players but certainly Peter Clarke is no newcomer to rugby organizing.

And as an official he has been president of the Vancouver Island Rugby Union, the B.C. Rugby Union and (for four years) the Canadian Rugby Union.

Word is that Hans de Goede, Victoria's big second-row forward who is playing for Cardiff, will be back over here when the season ends in Wales and hopes to make the Canadian side for both the match with the U.S. and the tour to Britain and France. To be eligible, though, Hans would need to get back in time to play at least one game on Canadian soil before the test with the Americans.

Anyway, Hans is one of 47 Canadians on a long list from which 35 will be named to take part in a trial match being billed as Canada versus The Rest at UVic's Centennial Stadium on Saturday, May 26. Other Island players on that list are Gary Johnston, Mick Eckardt, Ray Rogers, Chuck Shergold and K.C. Walt, all Hans' James Bay clubmates; Pat Simmons, Gudmund Gudmunseth and Dwaine Van Eeuwan of Cowichan, Gary Grant of UVic and Jim Wenman of Oak Bay.

Once again Vancouver Island players will probably gain good representation on our national team. But it's good for the Island too, particularly in this season when James Bay and the Tide are not quite the powerhouses they usually are over on the Mainland, to have the kind of representation at the top that Howe and Clarke are giving us.

Ferguson Won't Stop Hull In Wish to Rejoin Hawks

TORONTO (CP) — Bobby Hull, who starred for 15 seasons in the National Hockey League with Chicago Black Hawks before jumping to Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association, may resume his playing career with the Hawks next season.

John Ferguson, the Jets' vice-president and general manager, confirmed in an interview the Jets will be in contact with the Hawks "in the not-too-distant future" about the possibility of Hull returning to the Windy City.

"We expect to be talking with (Hawks president William) Wirtz and the Black Hawks in the near future about facilitating Bobby's wish to go back to Chicago," Ferguson said. "Bobby has stated publicly that that's where he would like to play and if we can make some sort of deal that is beneficial to both clubs, that's where he will be."

Hull, 40, retired from the Jets last Novemeber and is currently residing on his farm near Winnipeg. Although he has stated he might be finished as a player, he has also expressed a yearning to suit up again with the Black Hawks.

Field Hockey Registration On Saturday

Because the first registration session attracted fewer applications than expected, officials of the Vancouver Island Men's Field Hockey League will try again on Saturday to obtain players for a junior league that is scheduled to operate from April until July.

Players of seven to 16 years wishing to receive field hockey instruction and compete in league play can register Saturday, at 9:30 a.m., at the following locations:

Oak Bay Oval; Cedar Hill, Lansdowne and Stelly's secondary schools and Langford, Rockheights and Fairburn elementary schools.

Spartans Grab Playoff Berth

Claremont Spartans, with a little help from Mt. Douglas Mountainmen, managed to clinch the final playoff berth in the Howard Russell Division of the Greater Victoria High School Rugby League on Wednesday.

Spartans eked out a 4-0 victory over Spectrum Community School to make the playoffs for the 16th straight season.

The win gave Claremont a three-point lead over Parkland Panthers, who were held to a 6-6 deadlock by Mountainmen.

In the only other match, St. Michael's University School extended its unbeaten string to 11 games with a 13-6 win over Victoria Titans.

All teams have one match remaining before the semifinals which will pit St. Michael's against Claremont and Oak Bay Barbarians against Titans.

Duncan Lee and Don Sennerty each scored a try for St. Michael's while Ross McLean booted a penalty goal and a conversion. Mark Wyatt kicked two penalty goals for Titans.

In Hodgkins Division play, Esquimalt trounced Lambrick Park 30-0 and Belmont defeated St. Michael's "B", 44-13.

Easter Trap Shoot

Victoria Fish and Game Club will hold an Easter trap shoot Sunday from 10 a.m. until dark at its Malahat grounds.

Everyone is invited. Hams, bacon and steaks will be prizes.

Water Polo Clinic

Stan Anderson, water polo coach of the University of Victoria, will conduct a clinic under the sponsorship of the Junior Olympics program at the University, Sunday. Members of the varsity team, all of whom are Level 1 coaches, will assist Anderson.

Vikes Topple Ivy's

University of Victoria Vikings tripped Victoria Strathcona Ivy's 114-96 in an exhibition game Wednesday night at Central Junior High School.

Former Viking players Lorne Dakin and Brian Sutherland-Brown led Ivy's with 25 and 22 points, respectively, while Barry Burch chipped in 13.

The game served as a warm-up for Vancouver Island champion Ivy's, who will be competing in the three-day British Columbia senior "B" men's championship tournament along with Victoria Athletics and Courtenay starting Friday in Kelowna.

IOC Favors Two Chinas

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Sports officials from Peking are showing little sign of accepting the idea of two Chinas or softening their line on Taiwan in the Olympic Games.

"This question can only be solved on the basis that there is only one China," said Song Zhong, secretary-general of the Olympic Committee of the People's Republic of China.

If the Chinese continue to take that line, they are unlikely to win recognition — and the right to compete in the Olympics — from the International Olympic Committee, which opened a three-day session here today.

Canvassing of IOC members showed that Taiwan, which has been recognized for 25 years under the name of the Republic of China, is likely to keep its place in the Olympics.

The IOC is expected to deal with the Chinese puzzle Friday. Lance Cross, IOC member from New Zealand, will present a report of visits to both China and Taiwan.

The report proposes the IOC recognize the two territories as the Olympic Committee of China (Peking) and the Olympic Committee of China (Taipei).

Henry Hsu, IOC member from Taiwan, said he would agree to that proposal. But Song said: "It is impossible."

Erhardt To Coach Patriots

BOSTON (AP) — New England Patriots apparently have decided to pick from within their ranks for a general manager and head coach to replace Chuck Fairbanks who has been released to take the coaching job at the University of Colorado.

President Billy Sullivan of the Patriots said Wednesday that Francis (Bucko) Kilroy will be general manager and Ron Erhardt will be his new head coach.

Oilers Financed by Molsons

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Oilers, one of four World Hockey Association teams which will play in the National Hockey League next season, have signed a five-year, $3-million advertising and promotion contract with Molson Breweries of Canada Ltd.

The contract calls for Molson's, which owns the NHL Montreal Canadiens, to give the Oilers $2-million in cash and $75,000 annually for the next five years. The club will receive the first $1 million on May 1 and the second a month later.

Don Henderson, Molson Alberta region manager, said the company also is trying to negotiate a similar deal with Winnipeg Jets, who will join the Oilers, Quebec Nordiques and New England Whalers in the expanded NHL next season.

Oiler owner Peter Pocklington said the $2-million cash payment will defray about 25 per cent of the club's cost of entering the NHL. The Oilers must pay about $6 million to join the league, as well as its share of league indemnification costs to bury the WHA. The WHA clubs have a $4.5 million down payment due May 1.

The move by Molson came after adverse public reaction when it was learned the Molson-owned Canadiens had voted against a merger with the WHA at initial meetings in New York in February. Generally effective boycotts of Molson products were organized in Winnipeg and Edmonton.

IT'S HARD TO KEEP UP WITH A CAR THAT GOES SO FAST.

It's a fact two RX-7s finished first and second in their class, ahead of 11 Porsche 911s and 2 Datsun Zs in the Daytona 24-hour endurance race.

It's also a fact that the RX-7 was named the year's most significant new imported car in the 1979 Car and Driver's Dealers' Choice Poll by a margin of over four to one over the next contender.

It's also a fact what Car and Driver said about the RX-7, "…it blows off well-seasoned leaders Datsun 280-Z and Porsche 924 in particular–in price and precious seconds." (May, 1978.)

There's also another fact. Because there are so many people that want to get behind the steering wheel of an RX-7, our deliveries have been a little behind.

Like a couple of months. Sometimes longer.

Well, we're not completely out of the woods. It seems the more RX-7s we get, the more people there are to snap them up.

However, our spring shipment has just arrived. That means our supply is OK now, but there's no guarantee it will be tomorrow.

So we suggest you visit your nearest Mazda dealer and place your order now. But move quickly, because as you know, RX-7s go fast.

United Wins Cup Berth

LONDON (AP) — Manchester United defeated Liverpool 1-0 at Goodison Park Wednesday night in a thrilling English (FA) Cup semi-final replay.

Striker Jimmy Greenhoff, who had scored in every round bar the quarter-final, headed in the only goal of the game with 10 minutes remaining.

The two teams had drawn 2-2 at Maine Road on Saturday. Manchester United now plays Arsenal at Wembley Stadium on Saturday, May 12.

The winners created most of the chances in an exciting first half and Liverpool goalkeeper Ray Clemence produced a series of superb saves to thwart Lou Macari, Joe Jordan and Steve Coppell in quick succession. Jordan also hit the crossbar with a fine header.

Liverpool, despite being under pressure, also produced attacking moves of quality and Manchester United goalkeeper Gary Bailey made a good save on Graeme Souness, but could do nothing about a Ray Kennedy-header that thumped against the crossbar and bounced clear.

Liverpool had the better of the second half, but David Johnson squandered two fine chances and Kennedy blazed wide.

They were made to pay for those mistakes 10 minutes from time when Mickey Thomas crossed low and Greenhoff headed past Clemence.

Liverpool battled grimly for the last 10 minutes, but United held on to earn the right to play at Wembley for third time in four years.

Lou Macari and Joe Jordan of United and Emlyn Hughes of Liverpool were booked. The match was watched by a crowd of 53,069 that paid a ground record of about $350,000.

While the defeat robbed Liverpool of the chance at a league and Cup double, the Merseysiders still are favorites to win the league title.

Closest challengers West Bromwich Albion moved into second place Wednesday with a comprehensive 4-0 win over flu-hit Manchester City at the Hawthorns.

John Trewick opened the scoring after eight minutes and Cyrille Regis forced Paul Power into conceding an own goal seven minutes before the interval. David Mills added a third goal after the half and 17-year-old Kevin Summerfield added a fourth in his first senior match.

Champions Nottingham Forest also kept in the title hunt by defeating Aston Villa 4-0 at the city ground. Tony Woodcock earned Nottingham a half-time lead when his shot was deflected into the net by defender Allan Evans, and added a second goal six minutes after the interval. Trevor Francis scored the third and Martin O'Neill added No. 4.

Chelsea hopes of avoiding relegation rose briefly when striker Tommy Langley shot the London club into a 79th-minute lead against Derby County at Stamford Bridge. But Derby centrehalf Roy McFarland equalized and the visitors grabbed a point.

Yankees Vote Total Access, No Time Limit

NEW YORK (AP) — Players for New York Yankees have voted for total access with no time limit for all male and female members of the media.

"We'll try it and see how it works," said Mickey Morabito, Yankee director of public relations. "That's what the players want, and it was at the recommendation of Murray Chass."

Chass, a baseball writer for The Times, is the president of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Last year, Judge Constance Baker Motley, ruling on a suit instituted by Melissa Ludke Lincoln, a reporter for Sports Illustrated, said all media, male and female, must be granted equal access to the players for post-game interviews.

At that time, the Yankees instituted a time limit policy, opening the clubhouse to all media for 15 minutes, then closing it for 30 minutes to allow the players to dress, and then re-opening it.

EVINRUDE HAS 21 YEARS EXPERIENCE IN V-ENGINE HIGH PERFORMANCE OUTBOARDS.

NOBODY ELSE EVEN COMES CLOSE.

Go with experience

The Evinrude® V-4 engine was introduced in 1958 as a low-profile, high horsepower alternative to the towering in-line engines of the day.

Today, after more than 20 years of designing and refining, our V-4 engine is more than ever the standard by which high performance engines should be measured.

For '79, there's a choice of four Evinrude V-4's from 85 to 140 hp, and four V-6's from 150 to the compact 235 hp, the world's most powerful production outboard.

The Lower the Better

Every V-4 has a low profile design. The powerhead extends only 18 inches above the transom ...nearly ten inches lower than some competitive motors of similar horsepower.

Evinrude V-4's have a low centre of gravity for easy, stable handling and are down out of the way of a ski tow rope or fishing cast.

Proven 90° V-Engine Design

Evinrude V-4's and V-6's are built around a full 90° design (most automotive V-engines are 90°) which allows more space between the two cylinder banks for efficient exhaust tuning and less vibration. V-engines have high displacement for high torque power.

Built for Power

Evinrude's Firepower™ III electronic ignition (4 hp up) has a new sealed ferrite core coil. It delivers a quick, long-lasting spark for fast, dependable starting.

New lower unit design provides better high speed stability and better 'bite' on acceleration.

Pulse-tuned exhaust produces greater power and fuel economy by using fuel more efficiently.

Built in Power Trim and Tilt lets you trim the boat as you drive.

V-4's–85, 100, 115 and 140 hp.

How to Get Rich The Lazy Man's Way

I used to work hard. The 18-hour days. The 7-day weeks.

For example, this ad took about 2 hours to write. With a little luck, it should earn me 50, maybe a hundred thousand dollars.

What's more, I'm going to ask you to send me 10 dollars for something that'll cost me no more than 50 cents. And I'll try to make it so irresistible that you'd be a darned fool not to do it.

After all, why should you care if I make $9.50 profit if I can show you how to make a lot more?

What if I'm so sure that you will make money my Lazy Man's Way that I'll make you a most unusual guarantee?

And here it is: I won't even cash your check or money order for 31 days after I've sent you my material.

That'll give you plenty of time to get it, look it over, try it out.

If you don't agree that it's worth at least a hundred times what you invested, send it back. Your uncashed check or money order will be put in the return mail.

The only reason I won't send it to you and bill you or send it C.O.D. is because both these methods involve more time and money.

And I'm already going to give you the biggest bargain of your life.

Because I'm going to tell you what it took me 11 years to perfect: How to make money the Lazy Man's Way.

O.K.—now I have to brag a little. I don't mind it. And it's necessary—to prove that sending me the 10 dollars . . . which I'll keep "in escrow" until you're satisfied . . . is the smartest thing you ever did.

I live in a home that's worth $250,000. I know it is, because I turned down an offer for that much. My mortgage is less than half that, and the only reason I haven't paid it off is because my Tax Accountant says I'd be an idiot.

My "office," about a mile and a half from my home, is right on the beach. My view is so breathtaking that most people comment that they don't see how I get any work done. But I do enough. About 6 hours a day, 8 or 9 months a year.

The rest of the time we spend at our mountain "cabin." I paid $30,000 for it—cash.

I have 2 boats and a Cadillac. All paid for.

We have stocks, bonds, investments, cash in the bank. But the most important thing I have is priceless: time with my family.

And I'll show you just how I did it—the Lazy Man's Way—a secret that I've shared with just a few friends 'til now.

It doesn't require "education." I'm a high school graduate.

It doesn't require "capital." When I started out, I was so deep in debt that a lawyer friend advised bankruptcy as the only way out. He was wrong. We paid off our debts and, outside of the mortgage, don't owe a cent to any man.

It doesn't require "luck." I've had more than my share, but I'm not promising you that you'll make as much money as I have. And you may do better; I personally know one man who used these principles, worked hard, and made 11 million dollars in 8 years. But money isn't everything.

It doesn't require "talent." Just enough brains to know what to look for. And I'll tell you that.

It doesn't require "youth." One woman I worked with is over 70. She's travelled the world over, making all the money she needs, doing only what I taught her.

It doesn't require "experience." A widow in Chicago has been averaging $25,000 a year for the past 5 years, using my methods.

What does it require? Belief. Enough to take a chance. Enough to absorb what I'll send you. Enough to put the principles into action. If you do just that—nothing more, nothing less—the results will be hard to believe. Remember—I guarantee it.

You don't have to give up your job. But you may soon be making so much money that you'll be able to. Once again—I guarantee it.

". . . I didn't have a job and I was worse than broke. I owed more than $50,000 and my only assets were my wife and 8 children. We were renting an old house in a decaying neighborhood, driving a 5-year old car that was falling apart, and had maybe a couple of hundred dollars in the bank.

Within one month, after using the principles of the Lazy Man's Way to Riches, things started to change — to put it mildly.

- We worked out a plan we could afford to pay off our debts — and stopped our creditors from hounding us.
- We were driving a brand-new Thunderbird that a car dealer had given to us!
- Our bank account had multiplied tenfold!
- All within the first 30 days!

- I live in a home that's worth over $250,000.
- I own my "office". It's about a mile and a half from my home and is right on the beach.
- I own a lakefront "cabin" in Washington. (That's where we spend the whole summer — loafing, fishing, swimming and sailing.)
- I own two oceanfront condominiums. One is on a sunny beach in Mexico and one is snuggled right on the best beach of the best island in Hawaii.
- I have two boats and a Cadillac. All paid for.
- I have a net worth of over a Million Dollars. But I still don't have a job . . ."

The wisest man I ever knew told me something I never forgot: "Most people are too busy earning a living to make any money."

Don't take as long as I did to find out he was right.

Here are some comments from other people. I'm sure that, like you, they didn't believe me either. Guess they figured that, since I wasn't going to deposit their check for 31 days, they had nothing to lose.

$260,000 in eleven months

"Two years ago, I mailed you ten dollars in sheer desperation for a better life . . . One year ago, just out of the blue sky, a man called and offered me a partnership . . . I grossed over $260,000 cash business in eleven months. You are a God sent miracle to me."

B. F., Pascagoula, Miss.

Banking deposits from zero to thousands

"It is all I can do to get to the bank with one wheelbarrow! I'm just going to have to get a second one to accommodate the volume . . . Since December, until the present time, I have built my business from zero up to where some days, my banking deposits are in excess of thousands."

D. J. A., Westminster, Calif.

Made $16,901.92 first time out

"The third day I applied myself totally to what you had shown me. I made $16,901.92. That's great results for my first time out."

J. J. M., Watertown, N.Y.

'I'm a half-millionaire'

"Thanks to your method, I'm a half-millionaire . . . would you believe last year at this time I was a slave working for peanuts?"

G. C., Toronto, Canada

Getting everything we want

"We can't keep this to ourselves anymore — you were right! We're on the road to getting all (everything) we want in this world! We sold the $17,000 house we had and got another one . . . It's worth $65,000. We have a paid-for Ford pickup, paid-for 17 ft. boat, we bought a Cadillac, we have a paid-for Grand Prix . . ."

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. P., Del Rey, Texas

$7,000 in five days

"Last Monday I used what I learned on page 83 to make $7,000. It took me all week to do it, but that's not bad for five day's work."

M. D., Topeka, Kansas

Can't believe success

"I can't believe how successful I have become . . . Three months ago, I was a telephone order taker for a fastener company in Chicago, Illinois. I was driving a beat-up 1959 Rambler and had about $600 in my savings account. Today, I am the outside salesman for the same fastener company. I'm driving a company car . . . I am sitting in my own office and have about $3,000 in my savings account."

G. M., Des Plaines, Ill.

I know you're skeptical. After all, what I'm saying is probably contrary to what you've heard from your friends, your family, your teachers and maybe everyone else you know. I can only ask you one question.

How many of them are millionaires?

So it's up to you:

A month from today, you can be nothing more than 30 days older — or you can be on your way to getting rich. You decide.

Sworn Statement:

"On the basis of my professional relationship as his accountant, I certify that Mr. Karbo's net worth is more than one million dollars."

Joe, you may be full of beans, but what have I got to lose? Send me the Lazy Man's Way to Riches. But don't deposit my check or money order for 31 days after it's in the mail.

If I return your material — for any reason — within that time, return my uncashed check or money order to me. On that basis, here's my ten dollars.

Mr. Bunny takes the cake as far as smallfry are concerned

Easy Easter Treat

All children love holidays and Easter is no exception. This year, why not celebrate the holiday with an Easter Bunny Cake. The children will be thrilled . . . they might even help you make it.

The preparation is extremely simple. Mr. Bunny is made from a cake mix and is baked in a jelly roll pan. A special mold is not required for Mr. Bunny, simply follow our cutting directions. The addition of corn oil to the batter lends a soft, velvet texture to the cake. Frosted with 7-Minute Frosting and decorated with almonds for his eyes and teeth, Mr. Bunny is a winsome sight.

With a little creativity, you can design any multitude of cake patterns for your children. Easter bunnies, teddy bears or cars are only a beginning.

MR. BUNNY CAKE

1 18.5-ounce white cake mix
⅓ cup corn oil
No stick cooking spray

Using wax paper line a 15x10x¾ jelly roll pan; spray with cooking spray. Mix cake according to package directions replacing ⅓ cup water with the ⅓ cup corn oil. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 to 35 minutes or until cake springs back when lightly touched. Cool.

From cake measure and cut one 7-inch circle (body), one 4-inch circle (head), two 1½-inch circles (feet) and one ¾-inch circle (nose). Cut two 5-inch long ear shapes. Prepare one recipe of Seven Minute Frosting. Tint ¾ cup pale pink for frosting ears, feet and nose.

To assemble Mr. Bunny Cake:

Frost each piece of cake separately and coat with shredded coconut. Position each piece of cake onto serving platter as it is finished. Eyes — 2 almonds tinted pink. Teeth — 2 slivers of almond. Whiskers — 3 toothpicks on each side. Collar — 2 shaped pieces of paper secured with toothpicks. Bow — velvet or satin ribbon. Buttons — Smarties or M & M's.

Note: to tint coconut — place coconut into screw top jar with a little food coloring. Shake well until colored.

SEVEN-MINUTE FROSTING

2 egg whites
½ cup corn syrup
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine all ingredients except vanilla in double boiler top. Beat slightly with electric mixer or rotary beater. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat constantly until stiff peaks form when beater is raised, about 3 to 4 minutes. Remove from boiling water. Continue beating 1 minute. Add vanilla. Beat well.

Comforting Old Favorite For Dieters

Diets often include many not-so-well-liked foods. If you are hungry, it's the old family favorites that will be most comforting.

Stuffed peppers are one of those old favorite dishes. This version gives the choice of using either chicken livers or lean ground beef with the rice in the stuffing.

SOUTHERN STUFFED PEPPERS

6 large green peppers
½ cup chopped onions
½ cup chopped celery
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 pound chicken livers, chopped*
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms (drain, reserve liquid)
3 cups cooked rice
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Dash of red pepper
1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 chicken bouillon cubes

Cut a thin slice from stem end of peppers. Remove seeds and ribs. Parboil peppers in boiling water for 2 to 3 minutes; drain. Meanwhile, saute onions, celery, garlic and chicken livers in butter until vegetables are tender and meat is no longer pink.

Add mushrooms, rice and seasonings. Add enough water to mushroom liquid to make ¾ cup. Blend with soup and bouillon cubes. Heat. Stir ½ cup of the blended soup into the rice mixture. Stuff peppers; place in a shallow pan. Pour ½ cup water around peppers.

Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve with remaining heated soup mixture as a sauce. Makes 6 servings.

* Or use 1 pound lean ground beef.

Each serving provides: 292 calories.

DEAR ABBY: I've often read your column aloud to my husband and we'd both have a good laugh at some of those outlandish letters. We even suspected you made some of them up, but we're not laughing (or suspecting) any more.

Our handsome, 28-year-old lawyer son (I'll call him Ray) has fallen in love with a 62-year-old widow. Can you believe it? Well, neither could we. At first we thought Ray was being kind to an older lady until he told us that he was in love with her. She's a nice-looking woman (for her age), stylish and refined, but with so many young, beautiful girls after Ray, we can't understand what he wants with this old lady. (She's not rich, either.)

My husband thinks Ray should see a psychiatrist.

What can we do to bring him to his senses? And what on earth could a 62-year-old woman have that our son finds so fascinating? — UPSET

DEAR UPSET: You can (and should) do nothing. Your son has the right to make his own choices. What the woman has that Ray finds so fascinating doesn't matter. He's apparently found it.

DEAR ABBY: Easter is coming up soon, and I hope you don't do what you did last Christmastime when you asked your readers to remember those "poor souls" who live alone, and invite them to a family dinner.

Please spare me from those holiday get-togethers. The kids are fighting and screaming and the adults are worse. Most of them are boozers with a six-pack. The TV is blaring at top volume with nobody watching it. Everybody is talking and nobody is saying anything.

I for one would much rather stay home and prepare my own food and eat it alone — in peace.

I am neither hungry nor lonely, and I know I speak for many. — ALONE AND LOVING IT.

DEAR ALONE: Although you may speak for many, you don't speak for all. I would still hope that friends would remember to invite singles — especially on holidays. Those who prefer to be alone will at least have a choice.

Pork Fried Rice Is Worth a Try

(2 servings)

3 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 scallions, minced
1 rib celery, minced
½ green pepper, minced
½ cup diced, cooked pork, or more as available
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 cups cooked rice
Salt, pepper and chopped parsley or scallion greens to taste
1 egg

Heat oil in a frying pan or wok. Add scallions, celery and green pepper and stir until they soften. Add pork and soy sauce and stir briefly. Add rice and continue to stir until ingredients are well mixed and rice is hot. Break egg over rice and stir until it has cooked. Season to taste with salt and pepper and serve garnished with parsley or scallion green.

Cure-All or Not, Try Some Garlic

It would seem that since the beginning of time the world has been divided into the alliumphiles and the alliumphobes, those who love garlic and those who have a passionate dislike for it. It would also seem that garlic, more than any other herb, has through the ages been considered by many to be a miracle worker, a serious cure-all for an extraordinary number of fevers, humors and other ills.

I have one acquaintance, a close friend and cookbook author, who has for years, as the hay fever season approaches, consumed a daily ration of a dozen cloves of fresh garlic. He chops the garlic finely and sprinkles it on salads, vegetables, and meats. Perhaps in self-defence, his wife also participates in this indulgence. My friend advises that he begins this regimen just before the ragweed season begins and before his eyes become "teary." Once the season begins it is too late.

The "miracle" properties attributed to garlic are practically beyond number. A few years ago it was discovered that garlic fed to steers with skin warts cured the warts in every instance. During a flu epidemic in Moscow, it was reported that there had been an upswing in the sale of garlic, and 500 tons of the stuff were flown in from other countries.

At various times, garlic is supposed to have cured or relieved the symptoms of "mad-dog" bites, ulcers, worms, snakebites and lassitude. It has also been spoken of as an aphrodisiac but only for a very peculiar class of people possessed of truly bizarre appetites.

Garlic is known and used in all the world's civilized cuisines, east and west. Curiously, for seemingly inexplicable reasons, it plays only a minor role in Japanese kitchens, occurring infrequently in sauces and in certain preparations for sashimi. By contrast, food without garlic in the Chinese diet would be unthinkable. For culinary purposes, garlic and ginger are to the Chinese cook what thyme bay leaf are to the French.

The Chinese, as a matter of fact, probably cook garlic with more nuances of flavor than any other culture. They grow garlic in the home and use the tender shoots or leaves as a less potent seasoning than the harvested cloves. Garlic is easy to grow in clay pots or herb plots at home. Simply plant the individual cloves, points up, in shallow, rich but sandy soil about six inches apart. The shoots or stems are chivelike, but with a mild garlic flavor.

Of all the cuisines on earth, garlic is most closely indentified with those of Provence and other regions surrounding the Mediterranean.

Garlic, because of its robust nature, is often used in a horde of don't-let's-be-fastidious, let's-be-honest-about-this dishes, and among the scores that come in mind are the snails with garlic and the chicken with 40 cloves of garlic from France; the powerfully aromatic and irresistible bagna cauda of Italy made with garlic and melted anchovies for dipping, and skordalia, the famed garlic mayonnaise of Greece (the Greek version of the proven, cal aioli). What garlic connoisseur could resist — that splendid Spanish contrivance, anguila al "all-i-pevre," or unborn eels, like tiny threads of spaghetti, tossed quickly in hot oil with an abundance of garlic, parsley and hot pepper.

It is by garlic's very assertiveness that, when chopped and added to freshly cooked spaghetti and tossed with olive oil and a sprinkling of cheese, bland food can become an appetite-sharpening and gratifying main course in itself.

There is a newsletter devoted exclusively to garlic. it is called The Garlic Times, and information about a subscription plus purchase of The Book of Garlic by Lloyd I. Harris may be obtained by writing Panjandrum Aris Books, 99 Sanchez St., San Francisco, Calif. 94114.

AIOLI

(A garlic mayonnaise)

2 teaspoons finely chopped garlic
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon boiling water
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste
1 cup olive oil
1 teaspoon or more lemon juice

1. Spoon the garlic into a mixing bowl.

2. Add the egg yolk and start beating rapidly with a whisk. Add the water, salt and pepper and gradually start adding the oil, beating vigorously with the whisk.

3. Beat in the lemon juice and serve as a dip for raw vegetables. Yield: about one cup.

GRATIN DOUPHINOIS

(Baked potatoes with cream and garlic)

2½ pounds potatoes, about 5
1 clove garlic, peeled
4 tablespoons butter
3 cups milk
2 cloves garlic, unpeeled
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste.

1. Preheat the oven to 400 degrees.

2. Peel the potatoes and drop them into cold water to prevent discoloration. Drain well and slice them as thinly as possible. There should be about six cups. Drop into cold water. Set aside.

3. Select a dish large enough to hold the potatoes. (An oval dish measuring about 8 by 14 by 2 inches is ideal.) Rub the inside of the dish all over with the one clove of peeled garlic and then with half the butter.

4. Meanwhile, heat the milk with the two cloves unpeeled garlic. Bring it to the simmer.

5. Drain the potatoes thoroughly. Add them to the buttered dish and smooth them over compactly. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pour the milk with the garlic cloves over all. Dot with the remaining butter.

6. Place the dish in the oven and place a baking dish under it to catch any drippings. Bake about 15 minutes or until the milk is bubbling. Reduce the oven heat to 350 degrees.

7. Continue baking about 45 minutes longer. Yield: 8 or more servings.

Fear of Blindness Bring Cry for Help

By L. L. Coleman, MD

Help, help, help! That's the cry of a drowning person and I really feel that I am drowning in approaching blindness. My condition is macular degeneration. I know that a lot of people in your reading audience would be as grateful as I would be if you could give us some information on this subject. Is there any possible means of arresting further loss of vision? — Mrs. W.A.J.

DEAR MRS. J.:

In order to understand macular degeneration you should know that there are two kinds of vision. One is central and the other is peripheral (on the side). Central vision is used to distinguish fine detail, both at a close range and at a distance. Peripheral vision is used for the surrounding environment that is not in the direct line of sight.

Lining the inner surface of the back part of the eye is the retina. A tiny spot in the very centre of the retina is the macula. The macula is used for central vision. The rest of the retina is used for peripheral vision.

The deterioration of the macula may be caused by interference with the blood supply, arteriosclerosis, or may be part of the unexplained pattern of growing old.

Unfortunately, the treatment of macular degeneration is not always successful. Yet, the newer use of laser beams has added considerable hope that the process can be arrested.

Extensive investigation is constantly being expanded so that macular degeneration can be diagnosed early in an effort to ward off progression.

The fear of growing blind is terrifying. I hope it will bring you comfort to know that although people with macular degeneration may be handicapped by their loss of central vision, they can often function quite adequately because of their peripheral vision is not impaired. Constant supervision by an eye specialist, or ophthalmologist, is absolutely mandatory for all people with this disorder.

Can you tell me if there are special doctors who treat only Parkinson's disease? I work for a lady whose husband has this condition, and they say they have heard that injections of procaine can cure it. — Mr. B.J.D.

Dear Mr. D.:

Parkinson's disease, sometimes known as shaking palsy, is a disease of the central nervous system. One of the characteristic symptoms is a tremor of the hands which interferes with motion.

In recent years, the greatest gift that was given to sufferers of this disease has been the substance, "L-dopa." There are now many modifications of this drug which has been so successful in controlling the distressing symptoms of Parkinson's.

The general physician, usually working in conjunction with a neurologist, has at his command all the present knowledge for the treatment of Parkinson's disease. To depart from these with any special injections would serve little or no purpose.

Italian Flair to Easter

By JEANNE LESEM

Italy has scores of special Easter dishes, many of them sweets that one Roman-born author calls bakers' food.

Few homemakers whip up their own, says Nika Hazelton of New York City, because a shortage of fuel has existed in Italy since early Roman times.

So baked desserts, like bread, are mostly bought from professional bakers, even in villages.

Among those specialties are cassata, a rich, liqueur-laced sponge layer cake, and ciambella di Pasqua, a sweet bread. Both are Sicilian.

Torta Pasqualina, on the other hand, is an Easter vegetable pie. The most typical one has hard-boiled, colored eggs baked in it, Mrs. Hazelton said.

In traditional versions, the vegetable filling is in a dough. In The Fine Art of Italian Cooking (Quadrangle $15) author Giuliano Bugialli says the dough is even more difficult to handle than strudel. His recipe, including 24 ingredients, covers more than two pages.

For today's lighter appetites, Mrs. Hazelton makes a version she calls Potherb Pie, and includes non-traditional dandelion greens. The following recipe from her 1976 cookbook, The Unabridged Vegetable Cookbook (Evans $14.95), uses bread crumbs instead of dough to line the pan:

POTHERB PIE

2 pounds each of swiss chard and spinach, trimmed

1 pound dandelion greens, trimmed

4 tablespoons butter

3 tablespoons bacon fat

2 garlic cloves, minced

½ cup pignoli (pine) nuts

3 eggs, lightly beaten

1 cup light cream or milk

1 cup grated parmesan cheese

Salt

Freshly ground pepper

One-third cup dried currants or seedless raisins, plumped in warm water and drained

Butter

Fine, dry bread crumbs

Wash greens in at least three changes of cold water, or until no sand or dirt remains in the water. Drain but do not shake dry. Cook greens in a large covered kettle with water that clings to them: 8-10 minutes, or until tender. Drain in colander set over a bowl to catch the liquid to use for soups, stews or sauces. First with the back of a wooden spoon and then with the hands, squeeze as much water as possible from the greens. Chop them medium fine, and drain again, squeezing with the hands. Set greens aside in a large bowl. In a large, deep frying pan, heat 2 tablespoons of the butter and all the bacon fat. Add garlic and pignoli and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until nuts are golden. Add greens and cook, stirring constantly, 7-10 minutes, or until greens are thoroughly coated with fat. Return greens to the bowl. In another bowl, beat together the eggs, cream or milk, two-thirds cup of the cheese and the nutmeg. Taste (the cheese is salty) and season with salt and pepper. Stir in currants or raisins. Pour this mixture over greens and mix well. Butter a 10-inch shallow baking dish or pie plate and coat it with the crumbs. Turn vegetable filling into the dish, smooth the top, sprinkle with remaining cheese and dot with remaining 2 tablespoons of butter. Bake 10 minutes in preheated 350 degree F oven, then turn heat to 325 and bake 20-30 minutes more, or until set and browned. Serve in wedges, warm or cold but not chilled. Makes 6 (main dish) servings.

The recipe for Ciambella di Pasqua from Mrs. Hazelton's 1978 cookbook, The Regional Italian Kitchen (Evans $14.95), makes a hit with children:

CIAMBELLA DI PASQUA

4 cups flour

4 teaspoons baking powder

¾ cup sugar

2 whole raw eggs

½ cup (¼ pound) lard, cut into small pieces

1 teaspoon vanilla extract

1 cup milk, approximately

2 hard-cooked eggs, not shelled, preferably colored for Easter

1 raw egg yolk, beaten

Sift together the flour, baking powder and sugar into a bowl. Make a well in the middle. Put the raw eggs, lard and vanilla in the well, and stir together with a fork. Add just enough milk, a little at a time, to make a dough that is soft but not runny. Let it rest at room temperature 15 minutes. Roll the dough on a floured board to a thickness of ¼ to ½ inch. Cut stiff paper or cardboard in the shape of one or two doves, lambs or hearts. The shapes must be big enough to accommodate one or two hard-cooked eggs. Use the shapes as patterns on top of the dough to cut it with a pastry wheel or the tip of a sharp knife. With a pancake turner, transfer the dough shapes to a greased, floured baking sheet. Re-roll the remaining dough into ½-inch wide strips. Dip the colored eggs into cold water, shake off the excess and place one each on two cutouts or two on a single, large cutout. Place a strip of dough diagonally over each egg and press it down on the egg and the dough base to secure the egg during baking. Coat the surface of the dough — but not the colored egg — with the beaten yolk. Bake 10-15 minutes in preheated 400-degree F oven. Cool on baking sheets and remove carefully to avoid breakage.

Fibre: Still Lots to Learn

By Dr. JEAN MAYER and Dr. JOHANNA DWYER

In the last few years, a number of almost magical properties have been ascribed to dietary fibre. In some of the more fanciful claims, large amounts of fibre in the diet will prevent or cure some of the most serious diseases as well as provide that often elusive sense of well-being so many of us consider essential to health and happiness.

But what are the facts about fibre? First, we must stress that many of them are still unknown. Until very recently, the role of dietary fibre was almost totally ignored by nutritionists. And desite the large amount of research in the last few years, there are still many gaps in our knowledge about fibre and its various effects. Still, we are learning enough to begin to separate fact from fancy, or at least to say we do not know enough to substantiate many of the claims. Here are a few examples:

Some people assume that fibre cannot be absorbed by human beings.

This has been the general assumption. But as we learn more about the different kinds of fibre it is becoming apparent that varing amounts of some of the different fibres are indeed absorbed.

Fibre can be defined as the cell walls of plant tissues. "Crude fibre" is what is left after a good sample has been treated with a solvent, hot acid and hot alkali. "Dietary fibre" is the term used for all the components of plants that are not broken down by enzymes in the digestive tract. Most foods contain more dietary fibre than crude fibre. For example, there are about 1.5 grams of crude fibre in 100 grams — about 3½ ounces — of wholewheat bread, compared to 8.5 grams of dietary fibre.

Now, however, it appears that some dietary fibre can be digested. For example, once bacteria in the colon break down cellulose, up to 40 per cent of it may be absorbed. Even so, fibre contributes very little in the way of energy in a typical diet.

Some people think that fibre, or roughage as it is commonly called, may be harmful to the intestines.

At one time, we thought this to be the case. Until fairly recently, persons suffering from certain intestinal disorders, such as diverticulosis (the formation of little pockets along the intestinal walls that become filled with fecal matter), were fed low-fibre diets on the theory that it was less irritating to the lining of the intestines. Studies have shown that a high-fibre diet produces a soft, bulky stool that passes more easily through the colon.

Others think that all fibres are equally good as "bulking agents"

Recent studies have shown this common assumption to be false. There are, in fact, enormous differences. Bulk is produced by the amount of water absorbed by the fibre. Carrageenin, the fibre in seaweed, can form gels that are 99 per cent water, thereby producing considerably more bulk than most other types of fibre. Although wheat bran has been promoted as our most effective "bulking agent," dried vegetable fibres hold more water than bran. Celluloses hold the least amount of water.

Some people even think that dietary fibre protects us from a variety of diseases, including cancer, heart attacks, diabetes, gallstones and hemorrhoids, and from obesity.

Although claims for the beneficial effects of fibre have been made regarding all these, in many instances the evidence is still too premature to draw any such conclusions. We do know that a high-fibre diet is helpful in preventing constipation. It also has been used quite successfully in treating diverticulosis. It is logical to think that eating a number of high-fibre foods would produce a feeling of satiety and therefore be helpful in curbing overeating, a prime factor in obesity, but so far there is no evidence that it works. But beyond this, the claims rest on shaky grounds.

For example, it has been said that a high-fibre diet prevents appendicitis. However, the incidence of this disease has declined by 40 per cent in the last 20 years, despite the fact that the consumption of fibre also has been declining.

Although the typical low-fibre North American diet has been implicated in both heart disease and cancer, a number of other factors besides intake of fibre must be considered. These include excessive calories, high amounts of cholesterol and saturated fats, salt and other such components.

People who favor supplements think that simply adding a few spoons of bran to the diet will do the trick.

While bran is undoubtedly a useful source of fibre, adding large amounts of it to the diet is not the best way to increase your fibre intake. Indeed, consuming large amounts of bran — up to 10 tablespoons a day — may cause diarrhea and other digestive problems. Excessive fibre also may decrease the body's ability to utilize important minerals.

Water Sales Soar

Estimated sales of bottled water topped $224 million in 1978, manufacturers report.

Some types of commercial bottled water include drinking waters that come from a well or spring, specially prepared water with minerals added or fluoridated water ued to prevent tooth decay.

Charles Given a Noisy Sendoff

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prince Charles was given a cheering sendoff by militia men in the Royal Winnipeg Rifles on Wednesday night after he told them he admired their dedication as part-time soldiers.

The prince, who flew to Toronto today, also told the reserves he was impressed by the standard of drill they displayed in ceremonies to welcome him as their colonel-in-chief.

Earlier, the troops saluted him with a "firing of joy" — a traditional celebration for rifle companies.

One of the most excited soldiers in the armoury during the evening was retired warrant officer Max Abrams, who guided the prince on a brief tour of the regiment's seven-year-old museum.

"We've never had royalty here before," Abrams said as he inspected the displays for a final time before the prince's arrival. "We want to show him the history of his regiment."

Prince Charles arrived Wednesday afternoon from Yellowknife and was greeted by sunny skies and brisk winds as he stepped from his VC-10 airliner at Canadian Forces Base Winnipeg.

He was met by Manitoba Chief Justice Samuel Freedman and Premier Sterling Lyon who whisked him across the cold tarmac to a hangar where he reviewed an honor guard of soldiers from the base and the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

He later went to a downtown hotel where he attended a private regimental dinner.

Meanwhile, a Royal family spokesman said Wednesday that Charles was unhappy about being set up for a newspaper photograph by a woman who kissed him on his arrival in Victoria last Sunday.

Vic Chapman, media relations officer in Canada for the royal family, said the bachelor prince does not mind being kissed by women he doesn't know.

But the prince objected to the Victoria kiss when he learned the woman did it to give her photographer boyfriend an exclusive shot for the London Daily Express.

More than 50% in Debt

OTTAWA (CP) — More than three quarters of Canadian families have deposits in chartered banks, and more than half are in debt.

These were two of the statistics released Wednesday by the government in its latest profile of the debts and assets of families.

The figures, compiled by Statistics Canada in spring 1977, showed that 78.3 per cent of families had deposits in chartered banks, 23.5 per cent owned Canada Savings Bonds, 14.3 per cent had registered retirement savings plans, 59.6 owned a home, 72.7 per cent owned a car and 16.4 per cent had real estate holdings other than their homes (usually vacation property).

On the debt side, 53.2 per cent reported some kind of consumer debt, of which 27.3 per cent was bank debt. The other major type was mortgages, reported by 54 per cent of homeowners.

Stand Pat, Bay Urges Shareholders

TORONTO (UPC) — The Hudson's Bay Company has asked its shareholders not to sell their holdings until they get detailed suggestions from the company about rival take-over offers by the Thomson Organization and George Weston Ltd.

The Bay's directors, meeting Wednesday to consider the bids, said the shareholders should "retain all their options by not depositing their shares under either offer."

Action on Kurdistan Spill Delayed, Researcher Says

TORONTO (CP) — A marine researcher says the federal government underestimated the amount of oil spilled from the broken tanker Kurdistan and delayed in taking action after the accident.

Alistair Allan of the centre for cold ocean resources engineering at Memorial University said the government also refused to give Newfoundland ocean experts information about the spill.

He said the environment ministry originally said 3,000 tons of oil spilled, then raised the estimate to between 3,500 and 6,000 tons.

Allan said he thinks that 10,000 tons of the oil is spread over several thousand square miles of ocean.

In ice-cold water, the oil forms chunks like tar. When ice leaves the water, the oil probably will move to shore, Allan said.

He said that if the oil sinks to the ocean bottom, damage to fishing grounds may be greater than if the oil floats.

Blaze Fought 4 Hours

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — About 80 firemen brought a blaze at the Bedford Institute of Oceanography under control early today about four hours after it erupted.

Eleven trailers used as mobile offices and laboratories were reported heavily damaged. Firemen prevented the fire from spreading to two other trailers used to store dynamite, fuel and chemicals by keeping them doused with water.

A fire department spokesman said one firefighter was injured when he was blown through a door. He was taken to hospital in neighboring Halifax and later released after treatment for bruises.

A compressor used to fill air tanks for respirators could not keep up with the demand and additional tanks had to be borrowed from the Halifax fire department.

The main brick building at the institute, a major study centre for ocean research, was not affected but the facility was shut down for the day.

The fire department spokesman said preliminary indications were that the fire started in a furnace in one of about two dozen trailers on the site and spread to 10 others.

Boat People Flying To Canada

MANILA (Reuter) — A group of 216 Vietnamese refugees from the freighter Tung An left today for Canada on board a chartered plane.

The flight represents the biggest single resettlement operation from the ship which has been in Manila Bay for three months.

The departure of the group bound for Canada reduces total number of refugees on the Tung An to 1,150 from the original 2,318.

Meanwhile, the Philippines immigration and deportation commission has filed charges against the Tung An's Taiwanese master and 17 crew for sailing here with the refugees.

ITS QUALITY AND FEATURES ARE IMPORTED. ITS PRICE ISN'T.
THE MAZDA GLC.

Of all the small sub-compact cars sold in Canada, over half are imports.* The reasons for their popularity are simple. They're cheap to run, simple to maintain. And they offer something domestic small cars haven't been known for. Quality of workmanship.

Trouble is, with the changing value of the dollar, the prices of some of these cars have had to follow the path of just about everything else today. They're higher.

However, there is one Japanese import that is so competitively priced, you owe it to yourself to shop it. The Mazda GLC.

The Mazda GLC 2-door regular model is the lowest-priced import hatchback in Canada today.+ And it gives you a chance to enjoy import quality and features without paying the price.

Look at leading domestic small cars, for example, the Dodge Omni 024. Domestic cars are supposed to cost less than imports, but the Omni 024 doesn't cost less+ than the GLC 2-door regular. It also doesn't give you the great gas mileage a good economy car is supposed to. Omni 024's gas rating is 8.4L/(100 km)° (54 km/gal). It's not nearly as good as the GLC 2-door hatchback which gives you 6.9L/(100 km)° (66 km/gal).

In fact, the GLC gives you better gasoline mileage than any car built in North America.□

Now let's look at the leading imports. The VW Rabbit Deluxe, for example, costs some $1100 more than the GLC Deluxe.+ But the GLC Deluxe gives you standard features a Rabbit Deluxe doesn't give you. Like split rear seats. Electric hatch release. Rear window washer and wiper. Tinted glass. Locking gas cover. Trip odometer. All standard on the Mazda GLC Deluxe.

Look at Honda Civic. The GLC gives you improved performance with its new 1400 cc overhead cam piston engine. All that the regular Civic gives you is a small 1200 cc engine.

Look at Datsun. Datsun has a lot of models but it doesn't have the lowest-priced import hatchback–or wagon. Mazda GLC does. And just look at Toyota's small car prices.

Mazda GLC.

Opening lead — ten of diamonds.

You may wonder how in the world declarer made four spades, but the fact is that he did. Furthermore, the task did not turn out to be difficult, even though it seems certain — if you examine all four hands — that he must lose two trump tricks, one heart and one club.

West led the ten of diamonds, covered by dummy's queen and East's ace, and ruffed by South. Declarer then led a low trump and, after West followed low, played the nine from dummy.

The nine won the trick, but when East discarded a diamond it appeared inevitable that South would later have to lose two trump tricks and go down one.

But South did not give up and he wound up making the contract. He discarded one of his club losers on dummy's king of diamonds, ruffed a diamond; and then led the king of hearts to East's ace. East returned a low club, won by declarer with the king, after which South cashed the Q-J of hearts and ace of clubs and exited with a club to East's queen. As a result, this was now the three-card position:

North
♠K 10

West
♠A Q 4

East

South
♠J 8 7

East was forced to return a diamond at this point, ruffed by South with the seven, and it then did not matter whether West played the four, the queen or the ace of spades on the trick. Whatever West did he would find himself unable to score more than one trump trick. And so, the unexpected outcome was that South made the contract as a result of the unusual end position he had achieved.

Tomorrow: Bidding quiz.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Astrological Forecast for Friday, April 6,
By SYDNEY OMARR

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Creative juices flow, change, travel, variety are featured. Leo, Aquarius individuals figure prominently. Welcome new contacts, challenges. Express in original, dynamic way. Lead rather than follow — imprint your own style, techniques.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Keep resolutions concerning diet, nutrition and basic security. A "teacher" plays prominent role in your personal scenario. Now is time to utilize lessons recently learned. Eliminate safety hazards.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Accent versatility, flexibility and intellectual curiosity. Another Gemini — and a Sagittarian — play key roles. Yes, the trip may be necessary.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): What appears to be an obstacle could become a stepping-stone to financial gain. Be specific, direct and build on solid base. Reject substitutes, short-cuts, duplicates, flimsies and get-rich-quick schemes. Lost or stolen item is likely to be recovered.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Make inquiries — questions will be answered if asked at "right time." Gemini, Virgo, Sagittarius persons figure prominently. Start something — make changes, imprint style and give full rein to creative drives.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You gain access to information leading to genuine bargain. Accent on luxury items, art objects and methods of beautifying surroundings. Family member confides "secret." Remember promise made to one confined to home, hospital.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Know difference between love and delusion. Protect self in emotional clinches. Wish can be fulfilled if you are not "self-destructive." Pisces, Virgo persons play important roles. Check sources, quotations.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Invest in your own capabilities. Nothing is apt to occur halfway — it is all or nothing. Be aware of it — get off sidelines and into direct competition. Spotlight on business, career, ambitions and making room for yourself at more elevated position.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Reach beyond apparent limitations. You can sense pulse of public. Strive for greater distribution, more prominent display of products, ideas. Accent on distance, educational projects, communications and special publications.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Light is shed on area previously obscured. Accent on security, money in connection with close associate, partner or spouse. Shake off tendency to imitate or to be a "robot." Highlight independence, originality and pioneering spirit.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Dig deep for information. Accent on rules, regulations, legal rights and permissions. Be receptive to needs of partner, mate. Gather data, be patient, avoid direct confrontations. Another Aquarian figures in scenario.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Obtain hint from Aquarius message. Put out "feelers." You gain information which could enable you to ride a "lucky streak." Accent on dependents, pets, ability to plan ahead. Co-worker or one who shares basic interests plans surprise social occasion.

IF APRIL 6 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are on road to complete recovery from setback suffered approximately two years ago. You are diplomatic, but independent enough to fight when you feel cause is right. Taurus, Libra, Scorpio persons play significant roles in your life. August could be your most important month of 1979, a year which sees you breaking down barriers which have been restricting you. You'll be rid of burden which was not rightly your own in first place. Change, travel, variety and love are highlighted for month of May. You are dynamic, dramatic and have unusual speaking or singing voice.

Nellies Reward CBC's Best

TORONTO (UPC) — Veteran actress Ruth Springford, CBC radio journalist Terence McKenna and CBC radio writer-performers Gay Claitman and Nancy White won two ACTRA awards each Wednesday.

Springford accepted her first "Nellie" on the nationally-telecast ceremony in the form of the John Drainie Award for distinguished contribution to broadcasting. Though she lost out on a bid for her performance as Lizzie in A Gift To Last for best acting performance in a continuing television role, she picked up her second Nellie for best radio acting performance for her part as Hagar in The Other Self.

Terence McKenna won his first award at the eighth annual Actra dinner as the best public affairs broadcaster in radio for his work on Regina vs. Roberts, on CBC's current affairs show Sunday Morning.

McKenna shared a second Nellie with Stuart McLean as best documentary writer in radio for another Sunday Morning production, Operation White Night.

Gay Claitman and Nancy White won Nellies as best radio variety writers for their work on Lies My Mother Told Me, and picked up another, with fellow performer Robin Cameron, as best radio variety performers for the same production.

TV performers and artists honored at the celebrity-studded dinner of roast beef and cherries jubilee in Toronto's Harbour Castle Hilton were:

Jeri Craden, Rob Iscove and Peter Mann as best variety writers in TV for their work in Clowns;

Eric Malling of The Fifth Estate as best public affairs broadcaster in TV for his show Law for Sale;

John Kastner, best documentary writer — TV, for the script for Four Women, a CBC program on breast cancer and mastectomy;

Gordon Pinsent, host of the evening ceremonies, for his performance as Edgar in A Gift to Last, in the category of best acting in a continuing television role;

Murray Westgate for best acting in a supporting role on television for his performance as Archie in Tyler;

CBC Ottawa producer Rod Holmes and puppeteer Doreen Young accepted an award for the best children's television program for their show Pencil Box;

Helen Burns was given the Earle Grey Award for the best acting performance in TV in a leading role for her work as Mrs. Orean in Catsplay;

The Wedding segment of A Gift to Last was best TV program of the year.

In the radio category, other winners were:

Warren Davis, in a new award as best radio host, for Panning for Gold;

Producer Ron Hartmann accepted an award for best radio program of the Year for The Other Self;

Barbara Frum won a Nellie — The Gordon Sinclair Award — for outspoken opinions and integrity in broadasting for her continued exceptional work with CBC's As It Happens; The Foster Hewitt Award for excellence in sportscasting went to Brian Williams.

Long-Distance Rate Chop?

TORONTO (CP) — The federal government has been told by a committee studying the communications industry that Canada's long-distance telephone rates are too high and must be revised, according to a report in The Toronto Star.

The newspaper says the recommendation is one of 26 passed to Communications Minister Jeanne Sauve by the seven-member Clyne Committee on the Implications of Telecommunications for Canadian Sovereignty, which will release a 164-page report next week.

The committee states the rates, from 35 per cent to 45 per cent more than the cost of equivalent calls in the United States, were pushed up to increase regional profits of the provincially-owned telephone companies, The Star says.

The regular day rate on customer-dialled calls to Vancouver from Toronto, a distance of about 3,390 kilometres (2,118 miles) is 99 cents for every minute of the call. The regular day rate for a customer-dialled calls from New York to Los Angeles, a distance of about 3,920 kilometres (2,451 miles) is 54 cents for the initial minute and 38 cents for each additional minute, the newspaper says.

Chinese Find Their Place In Western Lore

The history and legends of the American west have been exploited repetitiously in movies and TV since Hollywood's first film, The Great Train Robbery.

Each facet of the frontier from the Pony Express to the gold rush has been dramatized ad infinitum. The gunfight at the OK Corral, the Oklahoma land boom, ranchers vs. sheepmen and cowmen vs. sodbusters are etched in American folklore.

Covered wagon trains, Indian ambushes, the trampas walk, the Clantons, the James Boys, Wild Bill Hickok, Billy the Kid, Annie Oakley and Wyatt Earp are stamped in the minds of viewers and filmgoers.

The wild west has been dramatized from the point of view of settlers, traders, Indians, blacks, immigrant Swedes and French trappers.

But one colorful group which played a key role in the west has been ignored, accoring to John Mantley.

Mantley says Chinese coolies who built the western half of Union Pacific's transcontinental railroad and subsequently played historic roles in the west have been forgotten by novelists, screenwriters and TV producers.

Mantley, who has produced 600 movies and TV shows — including 400 Gunsmoke! episodes — has spent almost a million dollars to tell the story of Chinese in the west in the China Girl segment of How The West Was Won April 16.

He would like to have dramatized the story of coolie labor on the railroad, topping it off with the driving of the golden spike at Promontory Point, Utah.

Instead, Mantley brings a Chinese family from the old country in 1869 to San Francisco to work in the gold fields.

Jazz In Action

The University of Victoria Jazz Ensemble swings into action tonight.

The group will play a concert starting at 8 p.m. in the UVic centre.

Susan Switches Lifestyles . . .for Third Time

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD — In wealthy Bel Air the wives of millionaires blink in surprise at their newest neighbor, a matron wearing overalls, who tears around in a souped-up Porsche.

The newcomer is actress Susan Saint James who has switched the course of her life yet again, going from the girl next door to off-beat earth mother to contemporary woman in search of herself.

In all her various lifestyles the dark-eyed, dark-haired actress has been indomitably unpredictible.

She was in the midst of her earth mother period when she bolted McMillan and Wife at Universal Television to star in TV films and feature movies.

She was married to make-up artist Tom Lucas and became the mother of a daughter, Sunshine, 7, and a son, Harmony, 4, in the course of the series.

During much of that time Susan was a self-described "vegetarian, earth mother hippie who breast-fed my babies in public." She wore unconventional clothes — never any leather — and did her own cooking, sewing and house painting.

A year and a half ago Lucas sued Susan for divorce, giving the actress custody of the children. They lived in a Hollywood Hills house which Susan still owns.

But last November she met and fell in love with Stephen Stills, rock n' roll star, composer and former member of the Crosby, Stills and Nash group. According to Susan, it was love at first sight.

It wasn't long thereafter that Susan moved into Stills' Bel Air mansion with "Sunny" and "Harms" as playmates call her offspring.

"Stephen and I are old-fashioned," Susan said. "Look, we're engaged." She flashed a large diamond solitaire with pride. "That's really unusual in the 70s. Getting engaged, I mean. Stephen even asked my father for my hand.

"I've changed the way I live because I thought I was droning into old age a couple of years ago. I cut off 30 inches of my hair — it was so long I could sit on it — and flew to Australia to do a John Denver TV special.

"When I got to Australia, the first thing I did was eat a big steak, the first meat I'd eaten in seven years. Now I eat meat all the time. I smoke and drink, too. And I traded my Volkswagen van for a 911-S Porsche.

"It's a complete change. But if I get pregnant, I'd be a vegetarian and earth mother again. All those things I was doing I believe in.

"I'm having a difficult time reconciling my work with the quality of my life. I can't take my children on locations with me because of the custody arrangement. My ex-husband has them on weekends.

"And I want to be with my kids. I'd like to work about three more years and then quit acting because I'm missing out on something better — time with the children. If I wait any longer than that, it would be too late.

"Right now my motor is racing. I'm working all the time, flying here and there to be at concerts with Stephen, on the telephone all the time. Never settling down. There's no natural flow to my life."

Susan stars in Love At First Bite with George Hamilton and recently completed a pair of TV movies, SOS. Titanic and Sex and The Single Parent, a subject with which she has more than a nodding acquaintance.

Susan admits her life is in transition. But then it always has been.

"I'm not the kind of mother who can turn her children over to a servant, although I have people working for me," Susan said. "But neither can I be all the things I want — an excellent parent, good actress and attentive fiance and mate to Stephen."

HOW TO WRITE
CLASSIFIED ACTION
AD

1—IT'S BEST to start your ad with the name of the article or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment, room, etc., for rent, or property for sale; start your ad with the location.

2—BE CLEAR. Readers respond more quickly and favorably by giving complete, definite information. Always include the price in your advertisement.

3—MAKE IT EASY for the reader-prospect to reach you. Always give your telephone number or your name and address. If you do not have regular hours, state a preferred time for the prospect to get in touch with you.

4—PLAY SAFE. You get the greatest reader attention by using consecutive insertions. A six-day order is best and costs less, and you can, of course, stop your ad as soon as you get the results you want. You pay only for the days your ad appeared. Lower yearly rates are available to those who wish to keep their services or products before the public.

5—PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you want to know about your offer. The answer you give will make a good Want Ad.

6—GIVE YOUR PROSPECT every inducement you can with good copy. Classified action ad readers have the money and are already interested in buying the merchandise or service you have to offer; the details and information you give are the most important.

7—TO PLACE YOUR AD, call 386-2121, your direct line number to fast Want Ad action. A courteous, efficient advisor will be glad to help you word and place your order. And remember, Classified Action Ads afford you the most complete coverage. Telephones are open 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8:00 to 5:30 p.m. Saturday. Don't allow the reader to speculate.

The Lord is my Shepherd
I shall not want
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures
He leadeth me beside the still waters
He restoreth my soul
He leadeth me in the path of righteousness for his name sake
Yea though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death
I will fear no evil
For thou art with me, thy rod and thy staff they comfort me
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies
Thou anointest my head with oil
My cup runneth over
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life and I will dwell in the House of the Lord forever.

Pick the Seeds for Freezer Crop

GARDENING
jack beastall

The problem in compiling such a list is that each seed grower selects from a standard variety and gives the selection a name which is exclusive to the company making the selection. Therefore, we have many names for varieties which are closely related but with some slight variation in character.

For example, we started with the Thomas Laxton pea many years ago, then by selection came Laxton's Progress, Laxton's Progress Improved, Laxton's Progress Selected, and Laxton's Progress Reselected, each handled originally by a separate seed firm.

To provide the gardener with all the names accumulated by the different vegetables suitable for quick-freezing is therefore almost impossible.

The following list is from catalogues of three Canadian seed companies, one with head office in Ontario, one in Manitoba and one in British Columbia, and is given as a guide to gardeners who have not already found suitable varieties. But these are not by any means the only varieties available.

Green Beans: Improved Tendergreen; Tendercrop; and Executive.

Wax Beans: TopNotch Golden Wax; Kinghorn Wax; Eastern Butterwax.

Broccoli: De Cicco Green Sprouting; Early Purple Head; Chartreuse. The last two, while both broccoli, produce single heads similar to the cauliflower.

Cauliflower: Early Snowball in all three catalogues.

Sweet Corn: Market Beauty; Tasty Vee; Stylepack; Golden Cross Bantam.

Spinach: Long Standing Bloomsdale.

Several bulletins are available dealing with the preparation of vegetables and other foods for freezing. While a list of vegetables which are usually frozen together with preparation, are given, no varieties are mentioned which are especially suitable for freezing.

Any allotment gardener or home gardener who grows vegetables mainly for freezing would be wise to obtain a seed catalogue from a firm supplying both commercial growers and home gardeners, and carefully read the descriptions and cultural directions for each recommended variety.

It will be found that some commercial varieties mature the whole crop in 24 to 48 hours, while others reach maturity over seven to 14 days. It will depend on the time available for freezing which variety is best suited to the schedule of the homemaker.

It is also wise to watch for the height of the different varieties. Tall corn, beans and peas can create a lot of shade in a small home garden or allotment plot, to the detriment of other crops. Select the dwarf varieties if possible and use a double sowing, if necessary, to make up the difference in quantity from the dwarf plants. Dwarf varieties also mature more quickly.

APPLICATION FOR AMENDMENT OF POLLUTION CONTROL PERMIT

THIS APPLICATION is to be filed with the Director of Pollution Control, PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS, VICTORIA, British Columbia, V8V 1X4. Any person who qualifies as an objector under section 13 of the Pollution Control Act may, within 30 days of the date of application, or within 30 days of the date of publication in The British Columbia Gazette or in a newspaper, or where service is required, within 30 days of serving a copy of the application, file with the Director at the above address an objection in writing to the granting of an amendment, stating the manner in which he is affected.

PREAMBLE — The purpose of this application is to extend the life of the site by increasing the fill height and land area to be used; to increase the daily quantity of solid wastes discharged; to destroy tree stumps, construction debris and other selected materials by regulated burning four times per year; to provide storage lagoon facilities for oil bearing wastes and to provide for dumping of septic tank pumpage on the working face of the landfill on a temporary basis.

I, THE CAPITAL REGIONAL DISTRICT of 524 YATES STREET, P.O. DRAWER 1000, VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, V8W 2S6 hereby apply for amendment(s), as described below, to Pollution Control Permit No. PR-1284 granted on 24th MAY, 1973, which authorized the discharge of refuse from municipal and other sources located at within the Capital Regional District, B.C., to the ground at Hartland Road Sanitary Landfill Site.

AMENDMENTS REQUESTED (describe "Before" and "After" conditions):

(1) Amend Permit validity date from "This Permit is valid until 31st December 1978" to ". . . until 31st December 1983."
(2) Amend Permit face plate to include oily wastes and temporary disposal of septic tank pumpage in addition to refuse.
(3) To amend Appendix 01(b) to increase the quantity of refuse authorized from ". . . an average of 1600 cubic yards (1220 m^3) per day," to ". . . a maximum of 1800 m^3 per day." In addition, controlled burning 800 m^3 of selected materials four times per year.
(4) Amend Appendix 01(e) to more fully describe ". . . leachate control facilities as directed . . ." by providing for leachate recycling facilities to the landfill in the summer months and aerated lagoon treatment and discharge of leachate to Heal Creek in the winter months.
(5) To add Appendix 02 to provide for the temporary discharge of 61 m^3 per day of septic tank sludge to the working face of the landfill.
(6) To add Appendix 03 to provide for the retention and periodic flaring of 230 m^3 per year of oil bearing wastes.
(7) To amend Appendix "A" to show an increased area for disposal within the north half of Section 65 and the south half of Section 54, Highland District, wholly within the Heal Creek Watershed and to raise the authorized final fill height to elevation 520 feet from the present restriction of elevation 510 feet.

This application dated on 13th MARCH, 1979, was posted on the ground in accordance with the Pollution Control Regulations.

Hoffa Cut in Little Bits?

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Former Teamsters President James R. Hoffa was bashed in the head with a baseball bat in Detroit, his body sliced into small pieces in New Jersey and dumped in a Florida swamp, an informer has told federal investigators.

The Philadelphia Bulletin, quoting law enforcement sources, said today former mob hitman Charles Allen recounted what he had heard from underworld figures about Hoffa's death. Allen said he had not witnessed the slaying.

However, other informants have apparently confirmed the account, the newspaper said, although there was no tangible evidence to back it up.

According to the sources, Allen described Hoffa's killer only as "Monster Man," described as being 6-foot-4 and weighing 240 pounds.

Federal sources quoted Allen as saying, "Jimmy came toward the car in Detroit and was hit on the side of the head with a baseball bat. The shot bashed his head in and they knew he was dead."

Allen told federal investigators Hoffa's body was then taken to New Jersey where it was cut up by three men into pieces 1 foot long and 4 inches wide. These were packed in two 55-gallon drums, taken to a Florida swamp and dumped.

Federal authoritiess are continuing the investigation into the 62-year-old Hoffa's disappearance from a Detroit restaurant parking lot in July 1975. No trace of his body has been found.

At the time of his disappearance, Hoffa was seeking to regain control of the Teamsters union from president Frank Fitzsimmons, who took over the helm when Hoffa was sent to federal prison in 1967 for mail fraud and jury tampering.

It was in Lewisburg prison that Allen met and became friendly with Hoffa. Allen turned FBI informer after being arrested last summer in New Jersey while allegedly operating a synthetic drug factory.

Dancing Banned

CAPE TOWN (Reuter) — Blacks are being allowed into 68 "whites only" sports clubs in South Africa — so long as they do not want to dance. Justice Minister James Kruger told Parliament the clubs have been granted international status, allowing them to serve drinks and food to all races but that the licences banned dancing when non-whites are present.

Computer to Check For Lottery Winners

A new Victoria-based company has been formed to handle all lottery ticket purchases for customers on a yearly contract basis and to notify them of every win.

The service is free except for one thing. The customer must agree to pay a five-percent commission on all prizes.

The company, Reliable Lottery Service Ltd., has its headquarters at 829 Broughton and will have branch offices in Vancouver, Prince George and in two Okanagan cities by start-up day June 1.

All branches will be linked by computer.

Victoria manager Terry Young said the service works this way:

A customer agrees to buy a minimum number of Express and Provincial lottery tickets for one year and pays for them all in advance.

All tickets are kept in the vault of Reliable Lottery.

"If someone wins a million dollars we will cash the ticket together," Young said.

Library Ads 'Nothing'

Victoria Ald. Bob Wright said a fuss being made by his colleagues over newspaper ads offering the old library building for sale is nothing but political claptrap.

"It's much political fooferaw over nothing," Wright said today.

On Wednesday five aldermen criticized the ads, saying they shouldn't have been run until sale of the building had been discussed by council.

Two of the aldermen said the ads had been authorized by Wright and Mayor Mike Young.

But Wright said that's nonsense.

He said the ads were placed by the city manager's office because municipal administrators wanted to have some figures to place before council when discussions on the future of the building arose.

He said the ads only called for offers on the building, at Yates and Blanshard, and made it clear that none of the bids had to be accepted.

"I think people are playing political games," said Wright. "We're running a multimillion dollar business and I'm not going to condemn our staff for getting these offers together for council's consideration.

"I'm not excited about it because we'll have to make a philisophical decision (about whether or not to sell the building) and I'm not afraid to have the facts before me."

HITSCHMANOVA

$50,000 For Lotta

Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, the founder of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada, has been named this year's recipient of the $50,000 Royal Bank Award.

Hitschmanova, internationally known for her work with USC in providing aide to needy people around the world, is the 15th Canadian to receive the tax-free award.

Clover Point Saving Seen

Spending another $8,000 on Clover Point sewer engineering could save $2-$2.5 million on a new outfall pipe, committee chairman Bob Wright said Wednesday.

The committee will recommend to the Capital Regional Board next Wednesday that consulting data be obtained to show how the proposed outfall may be shortened to 4,400 from 6,900 feet, allowing sewage to be discharged where the point of maximum tidal flow is thought to be.

"Then we will seek further information to convince the Pollution Control Branch to amend the permit to allow a reduction in the pipe," Wright said.

There would still be a 500-foot diffuser on the end of the outfall to dissipate sewage flow efficiently, he said.

The added cost of gathering new data for submission to the PCB was not estimated.

Wright was optimistic that approvals would be granted and that the job could start soon.

"It is exciting in a day of rising costs to have a potential saving to Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich taxpayers of some $7 million."

Times News Services

The federal Liberal Party will lose at least three cabinet ministers in the Metropolitan Toronto area and will not win a seat in the borough of Scarborough unless voters' attitudes change soon, says the party's Ontario campaign chairman.

Canvassers, candidates and others have reported hostility towards the Liberals in Scarborough, on Toronto's east side, Sen. Royce Frith said Wednesday.

He said he is worried about Scarborough East, where Labor Minister Martin O'Connell is the incumbent; Scarborough West, where Liberal MP Alan Martin is the incumbent; York-Scarborough, taken from the Liberals in the October byelection by Progressive Conservative Paul McCrossan; and Scarborough Centre, a new riding where a Liberal candidate will be nominated Monday.

He said Secretary of State John Roberts (St. Paul's) and Anthony Abbott, minister of revenue and small businesses in Mississauga North, also are in trouble.

In Sydney, N.S., Wednesday Prime Minister Trudeau said results of the latest Gallup poll, taken three weeks before the election was called, indicate Canada will have a majority government after the May 22 election.

Trudeau said the drop in New Democrat support to 15 per cent of decided voters from 19 per cent while the Liberals and Conservatives are tied at 41 per cent is good.

"It will make people choose between the two main parties."

The poll also shows an increase in the undecided vote to 35 per cent from 29 per cent the previous month.

Egypt Will Hit Back Sadat Warns Arabs

Times News Services

CAIRO — In a defiant speech, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat today told Arab opponents of his peace treaty with Israel that Egypt can do without their aid if it is linked to outside control over Egyptian policy.

He said Egypt will hit back at Palestinians if they launch any terrorist act against his country.

"Egypt can return for one slap, two slaps, and we shall return this a hundred and a thousand times stronger."

He called on Palestinians in the West Bank of Jordan and the Gaza Strip to stop demonstrations against Israel and co-operate instead in his upcoming negotiations with Israel on Palestinian autonomy as the first step on the road to self-determination.

However, PLO leader Yasser Arafat again today exhorted Arab states to launch a "strategic strike" against U.S. interests in retaliation to President Carter's peace moves. A Kuwaiti newspaper said Palestinian commandos are training for strikes inside Egypt.

In Jerusalem, a terrorist bomb exploded today near a bus stop in the Arab east end, wounding four Arabs and two Jews, none seriously, authorities reported.

In Nicosia, Cyprus, terrorist exploded bombs outside the Israeli Embassy and the local agents for Egypt's airline, shattering windows in surrounding areas but causing no causulaties.

The Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries today announced a special session in Kuwait next Monday to debate whether to suspend Egypt's membership. The OPEC announcement, at Iraq's urging, was the latest Arab move to retaliate against the peace treaty.

Sadat challenged his Arab detractors in a three-hour policy report to Parliament presenting the treaty for ratification, to get better terms for peace from Israel. If they can do so, he said, "then I shall cancel the terms I got and follow them."

Sadat boasted that the arms deal he has made with the Uniited States after the treaty was signed will mean "20 leaps forward" for the Egyptian armed forces. He said the deal includes Phantom F-4 fighter-bombers, missiles and warships.

The Egyptian Cabinet Wednesday approved the peace treaty with Israel unanimously and Sadat convened the Parliament today for its ratification.

Fallout Kills N-Trial

MONTESANO, Wash. (AP) — Trespassing charges against 148 anti-nuclear demonstrators have been dropped here because an impartial jury could not be found in the aftermath of the nuclear power plant leak near Harrisburg, Pa.

The charges, which involved protesters arrested last June at the construction site of the Satsop nuclear plants, were dismissed by County District Court Judge Edward Brown.

The prosecutor, Curt Janhunen, said as a result of the Harrisburg plant incident, he could not find an impartial local jury of six people.

"It would be irresponsible for me as the attorney for the people in Grays Harbor county to ask jurors to put aside their fears and personal concerns about their own safety and to objectively and unemotionally decide the case," said Janhunen.

Chuck Caldart, lawyer for the Crabshell Alliance, an anti-nuclear group, said it was a victory that came in an unexpected manner.

Bennett Lying: Barrett

NDP leader Dave Barrett said today Premier Bill Bennett lied to the people of B.C. over the possible takeover of Ocean Falls pulp mill by a private eastern corporation.

Barrett said Bennett Wednesday issued a statement denying the B.C.-owned mill was up for sale but turned around today and admitted negotiations are under way with a number of prospective buyers, including Kruger paper of Quebec.

In fact, Barrett said, there is a signed letter of intent between Kruger and the B.C. resources corporation over Ocean Falls.

"He was not telling the truth yesterday when he said it was not for sale," Barrett told a news conference.

"The premier has decided to come clean this morning."

Barrett said he wonders what else is for sale in B.C. that Bennett has not told the people about.

Bennett said Wednesday in Vancouver that there are no negotiations under way for Ocean Falls but there is an "opportunity."

Today the premier said the government has been keeping Ocean Falls going for the past couple of years but its future depends on private enterprise.

"Ocean Falls is uneconomic. The best guarantee of continued employment and development is to have a fully integrated forest industry in that area," the premier said.

Bennett said the town and paper mill would become part of a large forestry complex that will be owned by private interets.

One of the conditions of any sale would be that the company maintain its head office in B.C., Bennett said.

Under the letter of intent, Ocean Falls cannot be sold until Kruger completes an economic study of the operation.

CUPW Bosses Voted to Defy

OTTAWA (CP) — Although doubts were raised by Ontario and Western representatives of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW), the union's national executive board made a majority decision Oct. 18 to defy Parliament's back-to-work order, the Ontario Supreme Court was told Wednesday.

Members were advised to continue their national strike despite the back-to-work order which took effect Oct. 19, Leroy Hiltz, national secretary-treasurer of CUPW, said at the trial of union president Jean-Claude Parrot. The trial was adjourned to Friday.

Hiltz was testifying under protection of the Canada Evidence Act, meaning that his statements cannot be used against him, because he has been charged along with Parrot and the rest of the CUPW executive board with defying an act of Parliament.

Hiltz said there was extensive discussion on whether to defy the back-to-work law at an Oct. 18 CUPW executive board meeting.

The director of the Atlantic region, Darrell Tingley, and the director of the Quebec region, Clement Morel, reported to the executive board that members in their regions were prepared to defy the law.

Doubts were raised by a representative of the Ontario region and the director of the Western region, Frank Walden, "indicated that his members would not defy the law regardless of the executive board's decision," Hiltz said.

However, after a full discussion the board voted to continue the strike, which had started legally Oct. 16. Hiltz said according to the union constitution, all members of the union executive are bound by majority decisins of CUPW's national executive board.

City Hall Mugging

City police today are looking for two suspects in connection with a $20 mugging under the city hall archways in Centennial Square Wednesday night.

A police spokesman said John Eric Hill was walking across the square just after 10 p.m. when he was attacked from behind and thrown to the ground.

He told police one man sat on him while the other took his wallet containing $20.

Hill said one of the men was in his mid 20s, five feet six inches tall, 145 pounds with light brown hair. He didn't see the other.

U.S. Sleeping Pill Use Draws Severe Warning

By VICTOR COHN

WASHINGTON (WP) — The heavy consumption of sleeping pills by Americans is on the whole medically unjustified and possibly dangerous, a National Academy of Sciences study group said Wednesday.

In one of the most severe indictments yet of these pills, currently taken by 8.5 million persons a year, the group said they should not be the primary treatment for most patients with persistent insomnia.

The study group, a committee of the academy's Institute of Medicine, said the pills can often be useful. But it called on doctors to tell patients more about their dangers, to limit prescriptions mainly to "very limited numbers of pills for use for a few nights at a time," and to prescribe the drugs only rarely for regular use for more than two to four weeks.

The committee said drug ads in medical journals extolling sleeping-pill benefits are often incomplete.

Doctors prescribe the pills far less than they once did. In 1971, they wrote 41.7 million prescriptions; in 1977, only 25.6 million, though they wrote several million more for tranquilizers, anti-depressants and antihistamines, which some patients use to seek sleep.

Nonetheless, the committee said, "it is difficult to justify" most current use.

In recent years, the sleeping pills once most often used, the barbiturates, have been passed in popularity by the generally safer benzodiazepines, which includes Dalmane, as well as the tranquilizers Valium and Librium.

But the committee said:

—Only in the past year did the Food and Drug Administration require Hoffman-La Roche to tell doctors that Dalmane breaks down in the bloodstream to produce one product that can stay there for days.

—Even the company's new labelling fails to say that this lingering compound's level on the eighth morning after a week of consecutive use is likely to be four to six times that on the first morning — with a proportionately greater potential for making the user too drugged to drive or operate machinery safely.

Dollar Reaches '79 High

Times News Services

The Canadian dollar rose to a 1979 high today and was at 86.90 cents (U.S.) at noon in New York.

The dollar moved up sharply Wednesday on the interbank wholesale market where banks trade large amounts of currencies with one another, closing at 86.75 cents (U.S.), up from Tuesday's close of 86.40 and this year's previous peak of 86.45.

Analysts attribute the Canadian dollar's growing appeal for world traders to high interest rates, a relatively stable political situation and a positive outlook on energy issues.

"A resurgence of oil and energy problems on the world markets has made our dollar very attractive," one analyst said.

Invaders On Kampala's Doorstep

Times News Services

Invading Tanzanian and Ugandan exile forces have captured Uganda's international airport at Entebbe and now are on the outskirts of the virtually undefended capital of Kampala, diplomatic sources said today in Nairobi, Kenya.

Uganda government radio said President Idi Amin made a dramatic reappearance in his beleaguered capital of Kampala today and told a group of soldiers: "I'm still going strong and am physically fit."

The account could not be independently confirmed, but it fitted the Ugandan dictator's flair for the flamboyant gesture.

The diplomatic sources in Nairobi said the invasion force launched its final assault Wednesday with one prong driving towards Entebbe, Uganda's fourth biggest city on the northern shore of Lake Victoria, and the other pushing towards the suburbs of Kampala.

One of the sources said Entebbe fell to the invaders Wednesday night.

Ugandan exile sources said the invading force moving into the southern suburbs of Kampala has halted its advance and is waiting for two other columns to push into the western and nortwestern suburbs along the roads from Hoima and Mityana.

Residents of Kampala and military sources in Tanzania reported that the anti-Amin invasion force seized key roads north, west and south of Kampala, overran Amin's death-and-torture factory at the Makindye military police barracks five kilometres south of the city and pushed into the suburbs without apparent resistance.

The informants said most of the Libyan troops who had been defending the city since Amin's Ugandan army disintegrated have retreated 24 kilometres east along the Jinja road to an Anglican college at Mukono.

Exile sources in Dar es Salaam, the Tanzanian capital, said the road east to Jinja, Uganda's second largest city, was left open as an escape route for the troops which Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy sent to help Amin, a fellow-Moslem.

Some sources said Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere and the exile leaders of the Uganda National Liberation Front hope Amin and the Libyans will escape east into Kenya. But some observers in Nairobi speculate that the Ugandan president is preparing a defence line at Jinja.

Unconfirmed reports say at least 150 Libyans out of an estimated total force of 2,600 have been killed in the fighting.

The invaders, estimated at more than 7,000, have been pushing slowly toward Kampala since late last year after Amin started the war in October by invading part of northern Tanzania. The Tanzanian army pushed his forces back and then, reinforced by Ugandan exiles, crossed into Uganda with the declared aim of ousting Amin.

Time Short To Get On the List

Enumeration of voters for the provincial election has been completed but those eligible voters whose names aren't on the list will have a scramble of less than a week to register.

Deputy chief electoral officer Bob Patterson, inundated with queries Wednesday following Premier Bennett's election call the previous evening, said the voters' lists close next Wednesday, April 11.

He said registration centres will be opened in Victoria department stores, malls and other key locations to take late registrations.

Patterson could not say where the centres will be but was hopeful they will be operating today or by Friday at the latest.

Registration itself is a fairly straightforward procedure involving the completion of an application form and signing to certify that the person is an eligible voter, he said.

Couriers will tour the centres at regular intervals to collect names of those registered and take them to the office of the registrar of voters at 933 Yates.

Patterson said all voters contacted in the enumeration operation proper will receive postcards in the next few days, informing them that they are duly registered.

Enumeration for this provincial election was conducted at a fairly leisurely pace. The operation, involving about 150 enumerators in the Greater Victoria area, began last September and was completed last month.

But Patterson said the actual totals are still not available.

Eligible voters are those 19 years of age or older, either Canadian citizens or British subjects by birth or nationalization, who have lived in B.C. for the last six months and in Canada for the last 12 months.

MIKA RAPS 'DOWNTOWN CLIQUE'

Industry-Dumping Charged

By PAUL MOSS
Times Staff

Saanich Ald. John Mika said today the resurrection of the Royal Oak industrial park proposal is part of a strategy by downtown interests to dump industry on Saanich so that long-established industrial sites in the city of Victoria can be redeveloped more profitably for apartments.

Mika also claimed that Greater Victoria industrial development commissioners Barry Mayhew is the paid mouthpiece for this "downtown clique," and that Saanich Mayor Mel Couvelier has betrayed voters by reversing his earlier opposition to the Royal Oak site.

The alderman was commenting on two developments Wednesday in the multi-episode industrial park saga:

— Mayhew's own criticism of Mika and three other "obstructionist" colleagues on council as an anti-development faction which is retarding economic growth in the municipality.

— And the 5-4 decision by Saanich council's planning committee to reconsider the proposal for an industrial park in the Royal Oak area.

Couvelier, who helped defeat the issue at a public hearing more than a year ago, Wednesday joined Aldermen David Paterson, Fred Severson, Sandy Noel and Geoff Vantreight in calling for the seond look.

Mika claimed that Mayhew himself has been a "bust" as an industrial development commissioner.

"The only two jobs I know that have been created are Mayhew's own and that of his secretary's," he said.

"That's as much benefit as we have got from 18 months of this operation."

He conceded, however, that he doesn't blame Mayhew personally for this failure, which in his view stems from the way the commissioner's job was created.

Mika said former municipal affairs minister Hugh Curtis and Economic Development Minister Don Phillips insisted that the function financed partly by the provincial government "should be run by their friends in the downtown community" rather than entrusting it to the Capital Regional District.

As a result, he said, purely parochial interests are giving orders to Mayhew and he has to carry them out.

"They want to clear out some of their older industrial land around the waterfront so they build expensive apartment blocks like Laurel Point," Mika said. "They want to dump the industry in Saanich to get rid of it."

Couvelier said today he voted the way he did because in his view council must look again seriously at the Royal Oak proposal.

He said he still believes the Interurban site would have been a better site for industry, both because serviced land could have been provided more cheaply and because Saanich taxpayers would have benefited from a $4 million windfall profit.

But although he regrets council's rejection of the Interurban site as a bad decision, "it looks like Royal Oak is the only one possible to put together at the present time."

Ald. Howard Sturrock, another of the quartet of aldermen criticized for obstructionism by Mayhew, claimed (like Mika) that he has supported at least 80 per cent of the rezoning applications to come before council.

Sturrock said he has voted for industry in the Whittier-Boleskine and Quadra-Hulford areas, but he assesses each application on its merits.

The motion adopted by the planning committee Wednesday instructs staff to update the report published in November, 1977, on the proposal for industrial development in the Glanford-Vanalman area of Royal Oak.

The report will be re-submitted to the planning committee and then council with a view to calling another public hearing.

In the course of the debate, the committee heard appeals both to reconsider and reject the proposed industrial development. The former came from spokesmen for the Greater Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Construction Association of Victoria; the latter from the Royal Oak Community Association.

'No More In the Pot' CUPE Told

The final wage offer to Greater Victoria municipal employees is fair and generous compared to contracts already signed by other B.C. public sector workers, Victoria Mayor Mike Young said Wednesday.

"It is also as much as we can possibly recommend to our councils," he said following a meeting of the Greater Victoria Labor Relations Association's board of directors.

He said the employers' package should now be put to the members of the various Canadian Union of Public Employee locals involved.

The GVLRA originally offered six per cent in each year of a two-year agreement but recently increased the offer to 7.25 per cent each year, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Oak Bay Mayor Brian Smith, who is also GVLRA chairman, reiterated that the wage offer is final.

Smith said the board unanaimously agreed Wednesday that the wage proposal is the best the employees will get.

The GVLRA released statistics which indicated that in agreements reached so far involving public sector employees on Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland, the average wage increase is for 6.7 per cent this year and 6.8 next year.

Neither Young nor Smith would say what will happen if the offer is rejected.

Smith said only that the employers are not looking for a work stoppage.

"The decision not to work will be theirs, not ours," he said, adding as far as he knows, employees don't want a strike either.

He said all other cost items have been settled but there are some non-cost matters still to be hammered out.

Talks between the GVLRA and the Joint Negotiating Committee, bargaining for five CUPE locals reached an impasse Tuesday and a committee spokesman said the negotiators are taking some recommendations to their members.

Bubble Bills Bloated

Gas and bubbles (of the tennis variety) add up to unnecessary inflation, Saanich aldermen learned Wednesday.

During a budget committee debate parks and recreation department officials said as an economy measure they want to convert the heating at the new Cedar Hill tennis bubble from gas to oil.

If the conversion is carried out, they said, heating costs this year will be an estimated $7,500. If not, the bill will be at least $10,000.

Pickets Knock Principal, Board

Pickets appeared in front of St. Andrew's Catholic school at 1002 Pandora today calling for the resignation of the principal and the school board.

One of the demonstrators, Sarah Burgess-Baier, who resigned last month after serving two years as a teacher at the school, said the pickets represent a group of parents who have lost confidence in the board and elementary school principal Joseph Murphy.

She said she quit her job in order to speak out about the problems at the school which she said centre around poor communication between parents and the school board, a lack of proper supplies and poor supervision.

The school was given a grant of more than $100,000 for the 1977/78 school year and yet there is no sign of where the money went, Mrs. Burgess-Baier said.

The disgruntled parents claim the money went to equip a diocesan high school operated by a different school board.

The teachers had hoped that some of the money would be spent on purchasing more basic supplies, like extra reading material or visual aids for use in the classroom but that hasn't happened, she said.

She said the school board never gives any straight answers when queried about the grant or the school's general financial situation.

Mrs. Burgess-Baier also said Murphy has a difficult time communicating with the children and with the parents whenever there are problems.

A petition demanding the resignation of the board and Murphy was signed by 80 per cent of the families, she said.

The pickets will stay up until the demand is carried out.

Parish priest Rev. Philip Hanley said today he doesn't feel any of the complaints are justified.

He said the school's books are being handled by an accounting firm and they will be open for scrutiny at a public meeting scheduled for April 18 at the school hall.

"I think they (the books) are in perfect shape," he said.

"If they are wrong on that issue they can be wrong on the other issues."

He referred the matter of supervision and supplies to school board chairman Helen Jones who was not available for comment.

Murphy, the principal, said he would not comment until the April 18 meeting.

Speed Cut Ordered

The speed limit on the Trans-Canada Highway between Tillicum and Harriet will be reduced from 80 km/h to 70 effective Monday, the highways ministry said today.

The reduction on the newly-widened highway was recommended because of concern from Saanich municipality on the traffic speeds near the Tillicum intersection.

Police Reach Dead End In Hunt for Missing Woman

Colwood RCMP have reached a dead end in their search for a 22-year-old View Royal woman who disappeared 15 months ago.

A police spokesman said today the case involving Maureen Roberta Hourigan has been marked by several bizarre incidents over the months.

She has been reported as dead, kidnapped, and living in hiding in both Victoria and Vancouver. But on every lead, police have drawn a blank.

HOURIGAN

Last April police received a call from a man who claimed she had been found dead in a motel in Nanaimo. It was false.

A month later the woman's father was contacted by a man in Vancouver who said he'd lead him to his daughter if he gave him $200. At a secret rendezvous in Vancouver Hourigan paid; the man left and never returned.

Then last September, Maureen's sister Lana got a call from a woman in Victoria who said she knew where Maureen was staying and left a phone number.

The phone at that number, however, had been disconnected.

Late in 1978 a person giving the name of Maureen Hourigan applied for social assistance in Vancouver and was given a voucher to stay at a hotel over the weekend. The person was asked to show up for an interview on Monday but never appeared.

Finally in February hopes were again raised when police learned an entry had been made in Maureen's medical services file three months earlier. That, however, turned out to be a paper error. The entry should have gone into Lana's file.

today's markets

Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market rose sharply in active mid-afternoon trading today.

Advances outnumbered declines 216 to 156 with 215 issues unchanged.

The Toronto Stock Exchange said a trading halt called at the opening Wednesday in All-Can Holdings Ltd. B shares will continue through Friday. Two of the company's officers and a third man were charged Wednesday with conspiring to affect the public price of the stock, which last traded at $8⅝.

Trading was halted at mid-session in shares of Bridge and Tank Co. of Canada Ltd. at the company's request pending an announcement. The common shares last traded at $7.

Among other industrials, Conduits Amherst Ltd. advanced $1.20 to $5½, Silverwood Industries A 1⅜ to $12½, Hudson's Bay Co. ⅝ to $33¾, Indusmin Ltd. ⅝ to $20 and Gulf Canada ⅝ to $48¼.

Roman Corp. gained ½ to $28½.

Canadian Superior Oil was up 2½ to $113¾, Woldwide Energy ⅜ to $9 and Francana Oil and Gas ¼ to $10½. Ranger Oil Canada was down ¼ to $20½ and Czar Resources Ltd. ⅛ to $8⅝.

New York

The U.S. government reported early today that wholesale prices of finished goods rose one per cent last month, making a net increase of 3.3 per cent for the first quarter of the year.

But analysts said the latest reading on price trends at the next-to-last step in the distribution chain came as no surprise to Wall Street.

Fisher Foods fell 1⅜ to $12⅝. The company said it had a significant decline in its first-quarter earnings, and added that recent activity in its stock might have stemmed from unfounded rumors of an impending takeover.

Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices recorded modest gains in moderate trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange today. Topping winners, FCA Interntional advanced 15 cents at $3.70 on a volume of 30,000. Hudson's Bay Co. followed with a gain of ¼ at $33½ on a volume of 14,199. Among other winners, Canadian International Power A climbed eight cents at 86 cents, CP Ltd. ⅛ at $28¾, IU International ¼ at $13⅛, Norcen Energy Resources ¼ at $21⅛, and Toronto Dominion Bank ⅛ at $22⅝.

London

LONDON (Reuter) — Higher earnings figures from several large companies helped push the London stock market up sharply near the close of trading today. The Financial Times index jumped 12.4 to 536.2. Industrials and oils firmed while golds held steady. Canadian shares eased.

JBL

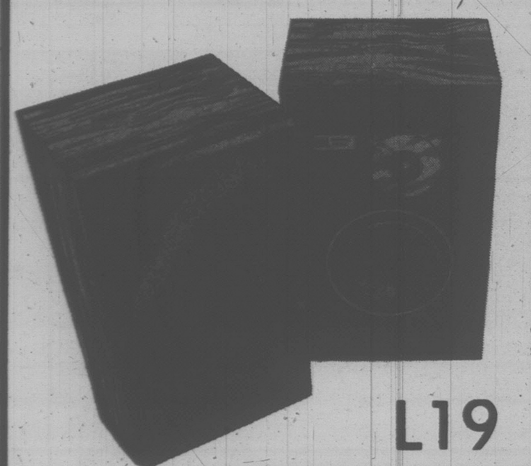
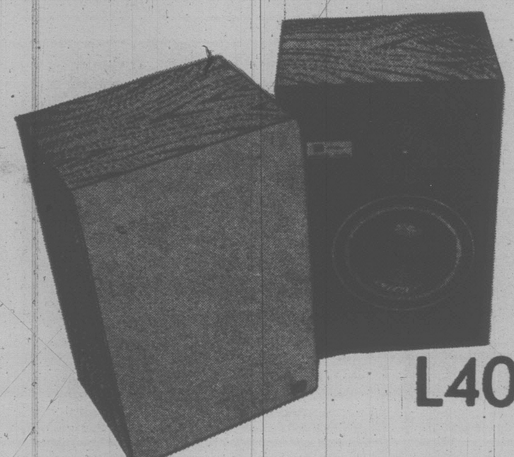
SOUND US OUT!



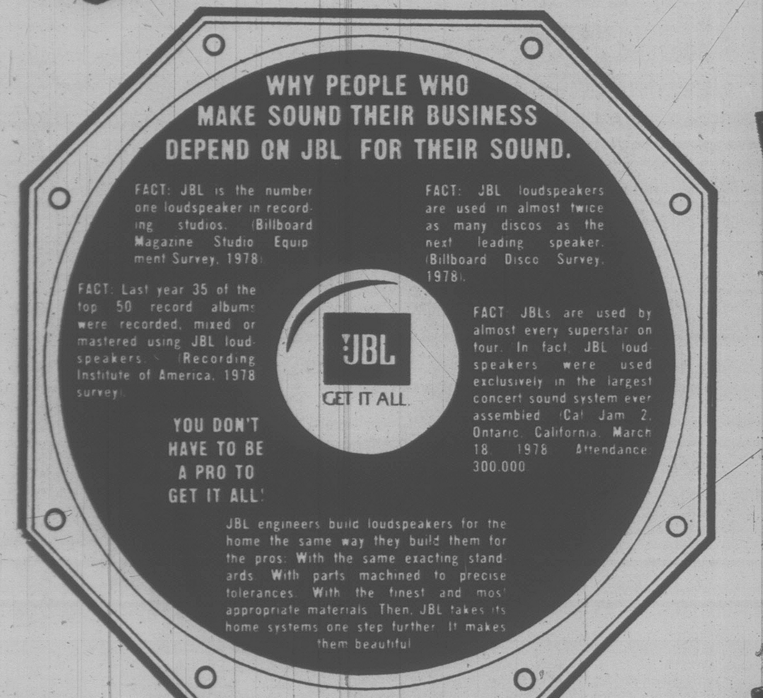
L19
For professionals who need an accurate reproducer in control rooms where space is limited, JBL recently created a broadcast monitor, the 4301. Its outstanding performance immediately won enthusiastic acclaim from the broadcast and recording industries. The L19 is the acoustically identical home version of this superb loudspeaker.

L19 199⁹⁵



L40
New techniques in acoustical analysis and computer simulation were applied to create and refine the L40. The same high frequency dome radiator used in the L110 and a uniquely damped low frequency loudspeaker give the L40 performance unprecedented in a two-way system.

L40 269⁹⁵



WHY PEOPLE WHO MAKE SOUND THEIR BUSINESS DEPEND ON JBL FOR THEIR SOUND.

FACT: JBL is the number one loudspeaker in recording studios. (Billboard Magazine Studio Equipment Survey, 1978)

FACT: JBL loudspeakers are used in almost twice as many discos as the next leading speaker. (Billboard Disco Survey, 1978).

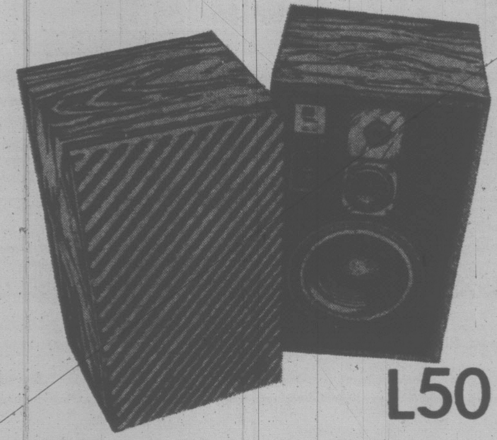
FACT: Last year 35 of the top 50 record albums were recorded, mixed or mastered using JBL loudspeakers. (Recording Institute of America, 1978 survey).

FACT: JBLs are used by almost every superstar on tour. In fact, JBL loudspeakers were used exclusively in the largest concert sound system ever assembled (Cal Jam 2, Ontario, California, March 18, 1978 Attendance: 300,000.

JBL
GET IT ALL.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE A PRO TO GET IT ALL!

JBL engineers build loudspeakers for the home the same way they build them for the pros: With the same exacting standards. With parts machined to precise tolerances. With the finest and most appropriate materials. Then, JBL takes its home systems one step further. It makes them beautiful.



L50
JBL's least expensive three-way design combines outstanding drivers in a vertical line array, controlled by a complex frequency dividing network. The thorough, advanced engineering of the L50 has resulted in highly accurate, natural sound reproduction which offers outstanding value in its price range.

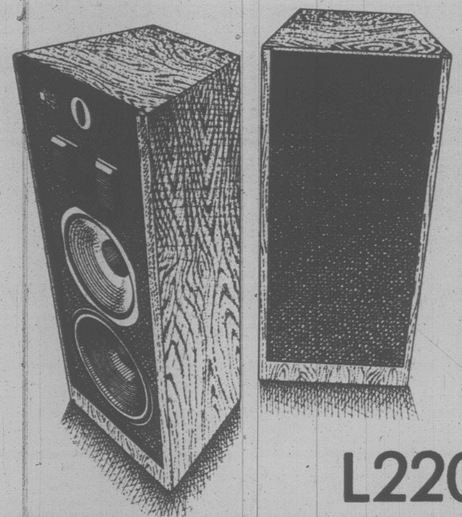
L65
The L65 employs the same high frequency ring radiator used in the L300 and the larger JBL professional studio monitors for unsurpassed power capacity and very wide dispersion. The midrange and low frequency loudspeakers are specifically designed for this system, and a smoked glass top provides both a decorative accent and a practical, easily maintained surface.

L65 629⁹⁵



NEW

L220
The word for JBL's new L220's is AWESOME. The sound is clear, spacious and powerful. The appearance, tall and slender. The stereo imaging is breathtaking, due in part to the perfect vertical and acoustical alignment of the components: New high frequency elliptical ring radiator, 5" midrange with new refracting wave guide, 14" woofer with massive 12 lb. magnetic assembly and 15" passive radiator. When JBL, the No. 1 loudspeaker in top recording studios, says "new" it means a true advancement in the state of the art.

L220 999⁹⁵

HD-440 SPEAKERS

You can't hear these loudspeakers. Because the Marantz HD-440 bookshelf systems are designed to let you hear the music instead. There's none of the coloration that marks inferior designs - and can lead to listening fatigue. And what a speaker complement for a compact, modestly-priced system; 8-inch woofer, 3½-inch midrange and 3½-inch tweeter. All specified and built by Marantz to the same high standards as their most expensive loudspeakers. •Power Handling Capacity: 50 watts integrated program material. •Frequency Response: 45 Hz to 18 kHz, ± 3dB. •Enclosure covered with walnut-grain pattern vinyl.

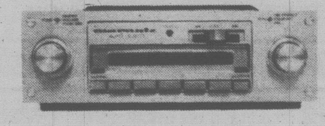
marantz TAKES TO THE ROAD!



CAR-300

A second model, the CAR-300, AM/FM cassette system offers superior mobile high fidelity sound at an affordable price with features and performance qualities rivaling the most sophisticated equipment. In addition to many innovative features which are standard in the new Marantz' automotive high fidelity line, the CAR-300 delivers 12 Watts Maximum RMS Power. Also included are: •5 station pre-sets - AM or FM. •FM stereo muting. •Superhard permalloy tape head. •FM stereo LED indicator, and •Automatic eject.

CAR-350

In the Marantz CAR-350, convenience and performance are the major highlights. Its DIN size ultra compact chassis - engineered for the hard-to-fit car requiring a small nose piece and exceptionally shallow depth - permits in-dash installation not possible with many larger units. An AM/FM stereo combined with the ease of an auto reverse cassette, the CAR-350 offers 12 Watts Maximum RMS Power. Featuring FM stereo muting, double-function LED's, tape direction selector, super-hard* permalloy tape head, tone control, automatic eject, and a continuous/single play switch which will eject the tape at the end of one side or allow continuous automatic reverse listening.

The under-dash Marantz SA-230, with bass and treble controls, delivers 10 watts per channel with less than 0.5% THD, 40 watts maximum RMS power.

FEATURES: 1. Power Indicator. This LED (Light Emitting Diode) indicator will illuminate, whenever the car stereo is switched ON. 2. High Filter Switch. Place this switch to the ON position to reduce undersirable tape hiss and other high frequency noise such as that encountered with AM radio reception. 3. Treble Control. Provides 12dB boost or attenuation of higher (treble) audio frequencies. 4. Bass Control. Provides 12dB boost or attenuation of lower (bass) audio frequencies.

SA-247

The Marantz SA-247 is an under-dash 60 Watt RMS power amplifier with precise seven-band equalization and a unique electronic matrix function that creates the dramatic effect of a much larger listening area when the "Ambience" button is pushed. The SA-247 delivers 15 watts per channel with less than 0.5% THD, 60 watts maximum RMS power.

CRAIG® ROAD-RATED RECEIVERS

Craig Engineers have redesigned the car radio! The result is a whole new generation of mobile sound units called the Craig Road-Rated Receivers ... R3 for short. With a Craig R3 Road-Rated Receiver, the on-the-road reception is noticeably better than anything else available, because these new Craigs were designed from scratch to meet the special needs of a moving vehicle! Craig Engineers know that maximizing one spec at the expense of others does not make a good mobile receiver, so, in order to achieve the optimum mobile performance, they carefully balanced sensitivity, RF intermodulation, alternate channel rejection, IF rejection, and capture ratio. That's why these R3 Receivers not only pull in stations, they hold them — even very weak stations, even in bad areas! And they do so with amazing fidelity!

R3 ROAD RATED RECEIVER

The new Craig Road-Rated Receivers come in lots of models ... there's one just right for you! Stereo Cassette Players with AM/FM/MPX Stereo, — with or without pushbuttons, Digital Readouts that tell you the time, and even some with the Craig Powerplay Amplifier. Audition these superb Craig Road-Rated Receivers today!

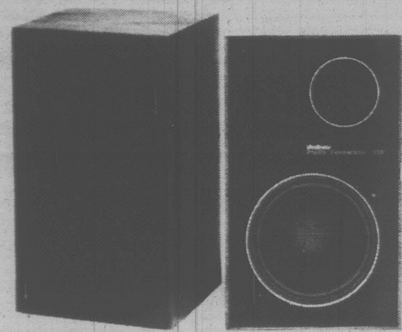
QUALITY MOBILE HI-FI SYSTEMS

For your Car, Truck, Van, Boat, Camper, Airplane, Etc.

Ultralinear . . . .
where VALUE is Built-in!



Even the most serious music listener will appreciate the cyrstal clear, wide-band frequency reproduction of this efficient three-way system. The specially designed 12" long excursion, low frequency driver features a large diameter high temperature voice coil. The higher frequencies cross over to a fully enclosed 6" foam suspension midrange transducer and a 1" soft dome, high frequency radiator. Front mounted level controls for both midrange and high frequencies allow you to precisely adjust this air suspension system to match any room's acoustical environment. The handsome enclosure is constructed in genuine oak with super sheer black transparacoustic fabric.

Ultralinear 228 299⁹⁵ EACH

The latest entry in Ultralinear's studio comparator loudspeaker series, the Ultralinear 210 reproduces the range and clarity of many far more expensive loudspeaker systems. The specially designed 12" air suspension low frequency driver features a new heavy mass white pulp cone to ensure against low frequency distortion at all volume levels. Completing the system is a 5" self-enclosed midrange transducer and a 1" ultra-wide dispersion, soft dome high frequency radiator. The front mounted high frequency level control lets you adjust the overall presence of your speaker system to match any room's acoustical environment, and like every Ultralinear, the entire system is circuit-breaker protected. The enclosure is a simulated walnut grain with grille covers of black double knit fabric.

Ultralinear 210 199⁹⁵ EACH

Ultralinear M15 89⁹⁵ EACH

The newest entry in Ultralinear's full size air suspension series, the Model 175 incorporates a back-to-basics approach in speaker design. Tight bass response is produced by the 12" foam edge low frequency driver. The middle and upper frequencies are handled by a 4½" sealed back midrange transducer and a 2½" edge treated high frequency radiator. No frills, value engineering make this one a sound investment. The simulated walnut grained cabinet is available with a grille of grid pattern acoustic foam in black.

Ultralinear 175 149⁹⁵ EACH

Big sound performance at a small price, the Ultralinear 66 has it all. This compact three-way air suspension system features an 8" foam edge low frequency driver for solid bass response. The higher frequencies are reproduced loud and clear through the 4½" sealed back midrange transducer and the 2½" edge treated high frequency radiator. The attractive cabinet is finished in simulated walnut grain with a grille of black double knit fabric.

Ultralinear 66 99⁹⁵ EACH

A real treat for the eyes as well as the ears, the Ultralinear 265 meets the wide-band performance requirements of the most serious music enthusiasts. Extended frequency response starts with a massive 15" foam edge suspension, low frequency driver with large diameter high temperature voice coil. Ultralinear's 265 also features a newly designed dual aperature tuned bass port for startling bass response and presence at all volume levels. Completing this professional quality system is a 6" midrange transducer in its own airtight sub-enclosure, a 1" soft dome high frequency radiator and a 1" ultra-high frequency soft dome radiator with a wire mesh grid for optimum sound dispersion. The handsomely proportioned enclosure is available in three finishes including genuine oak with super-sheer black transparacoustic® grille.

Ultralinear 265 449⁰⁰ EACH

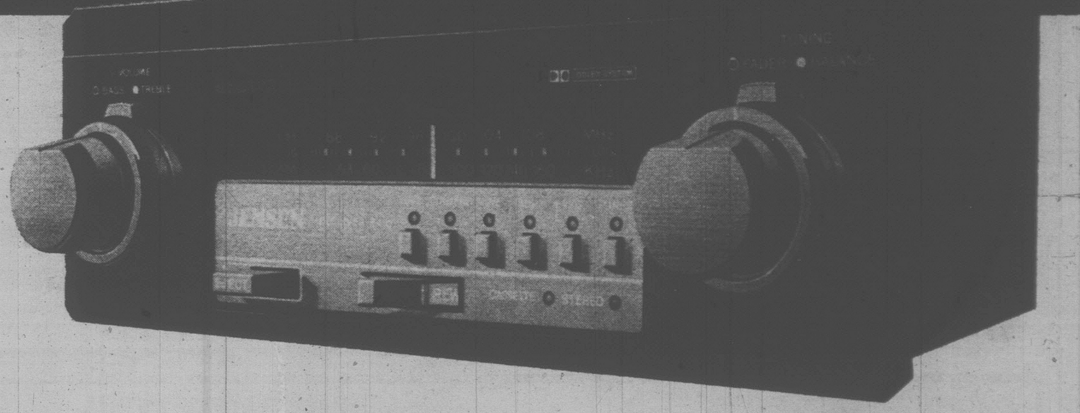
Jensen Car Stereo Receivers and Speakers



A car stereo for superb sound reproduction in every mode: cassette, FM and AM.

The R410's Local/Distance control assures the best FM reception on any locale. And the remarkably sensitive FM tuner pulls in more stations with less interference.

And numerous receiver features improve the sound: Dolby® Noise Reduction, Loudness, Fader, Balance, separate Bass and Treble controls and Interstation Muting.

There's even an exclusive Automatic Tape Alarm that reminds the listener to remove an engaged cassette when the ignition is turned off.

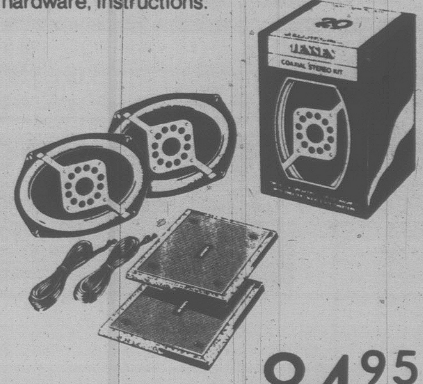
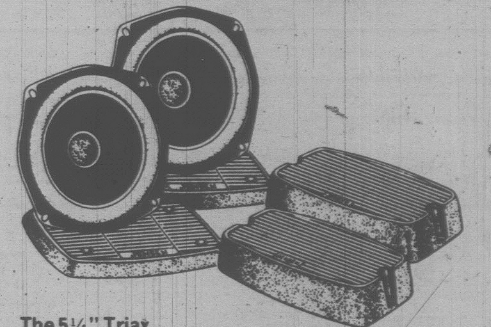
Jensen 6" x 9" coaxial stereo speaker kit
Distortion free sound from two 6" x 9" coaxial speakers. Powerful 20 oz. Syntox-6® ceramic magnets, separate 3" tweeter. 25 watt power rating, compatible with 4 and 8 ohm tape units. Flexair® cone suspension. The ultimate in high-fidelity sound. Kit includes 30' heavy-duty speaker cable, custom grills, mounting hardware, instructions.



84⁹⁵

Triaxials®



The 5¼" Triax.

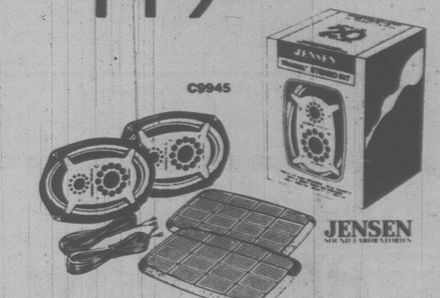
This 5¼" Triaxial features individual tweeter and midrange drivers in a unit that's separate from the 5¼" woofer.

That way the tweeter and mid-range can be mounted high on the front door, headliner, or dashboard, where their high and mid frequencies will reach the listener's ears.

The woofer, on the other hand, mounts low in the doors. Installation is easy with the new shallow housing. And the resonant bass tones will reach the listener's ears.

119⁹⁵



The 6" x 9" Triax.

Three-way sound. Jensen started it all with the 6" x 9" Triax.® . The first car stereo speaker ever with a separate woofer, tweeter and midrange. And its popularity is still going strong.

Now there are two more members of the Triaxial 3-way speaker family. Each with its own specific applications that make Jensen Triaxials available to more cars than ever.

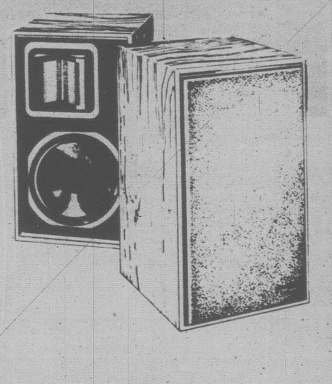
HEIL AIR-MOTION TRANSFORMER

Midrange and high frequency signals from 1,000 Hz are reproduced by a new full size Heil air-motion transformer utilizing an improved focusing system. When compared with conventional cone or dome loudspeaker designs, the Heil air-motion transformer has a great sense of freedom and dynamic range, a greater ability to recreate the original musical reality.

The presence and, above all, the performance of the amt 1b convey the exceptional beauty and outstanding engineering of this classic loudspeaker. The total effect is that of excellence — the feel of ESS.

In an age given to overstatement it is difficult to convey the achievement represented to convey the achievement represented by the amt 1b. Audition this remarkable loudspeaker. Listen carefully. Discover a truly superb instrument.

amt 1b bookshelf



ESS, in reconstructing the uncompromising excellence of the classic amt 1b in a versatile bookshelf format, has taken great pains to develop a design around the same superb driver components used in the more expensive floor standing amt 1b.

The amt Booksheelf is, in every detail, the finest instrument ESS is capable of making in this convenient format. Which is another way of saying that this totally resonsive, spectacularly sounding, cleanly handsome loudpseaker is the ultimate bookshelf. Quite simply, the finest ... at any price.

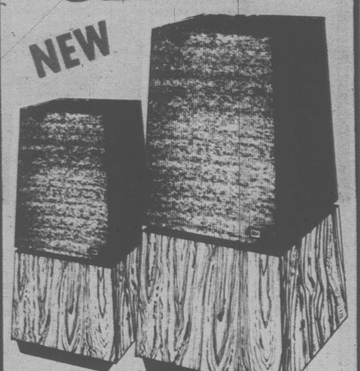
THE CLASSIC NEW



The new Tempest Classic is the central system of the remarkable third generation of Heil air motion transformer loudspeakers. Delivering the pure, total fidelity for which E.S.S. has always been famous. The Classic utilizes the latest advances in the Heil loudspeaker technology.

The Classic follows the distinctive AMTIB classical configuration, the walnut veneer cabinet houses a sophisticated sound reproduction system. The Heil air motion transformer midrange/high frequency system produces a more open, translucent sound than ever before. Its spectacular 120° horizontal dispersion gives stereo imagery unmatched by any conventional system. Listen to the Classic delivering sound as clear as light.

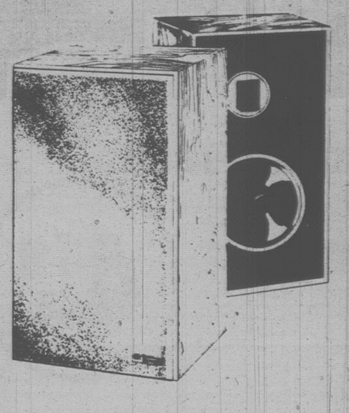
LS-5 Tempest



The low frequency transducers used in the LS5 loudspeakers utilize a magnetic circuit that critically damps the drivers' moving assembly to make possible a flat frequency over an extended range. Frequency response characteristics have been chosen that create a seamless transition between the woofer and the high definition "Power Ring" Heil air-motion transformer. The result: clean, crisp bass without obscuring the great clarity and detail of the Heil midrange/tweeter.

SUPERSCOPE JVC

$299.95 for name brand component stereo system. Hard to believe? Well, believe it. A&B Sound does it again. We started with the Superscope R1220 AM/FM receiver with all the features of much more expensive models. To play your records we include the BSR 200X semi-automatic turntable. Finally we chose the JVC SKA1 3-way speakers. The SK41 is an air suspension design with an 8" woofer for tight, rich bass, a 3" midrange driver and a 2" cone tweeter for smooth highs. So, if you're long on sound but short on dollars, come on in and have a listen.

COMPLETE MUSIC SYSTEM $299

YAMAHA marantz

Is the $500 name brand stereo a thing of the past? Not at A&B Sound. Listen to this. The Marantz 1515 is a full feature receiver with 30 watts total RMS at no more than 0.08% distortion. To gently care for your records we've included the new Quanta 500 belt drive turntable which features automatic shutoff and is complete with a high quality ADC magnetic cartridge. Putting the music to your ears are the Yamaha NS220 rock monitor speakers. The NS220 is a two air suspension speakers featuring an 8" long throw woofer for tight bass response and a 2" phenolic ring tweeter for excellent high frequency dispersion. A lot of stereo for not a lot of money.

JRS-201 EQUALIZING RECEIVER

JRS-201 Is this the best 35 watt per channel receiver? The JRS-201 boasts the audio industry's lowest distortion in a receiver (0.03%), a DC circuitry that has a response of OHZ to 40,000 HZ a graphic equalizer, dual tape monitors that use the equalizer when making a recording, a subsonic filter to remove record warp rumble, two pairs of speaker connections, and JVC's rugged durability for years of the highest performance with all these features. We think it is the best.

C-1

The ultimate expression of the cassette art. That's the C-1. Three-head operation. Three motor, dual capstan closed-loop transport design. Friction-coupled level controls. LSI logic-controlled transport. The C-1 is probably closer to its computer/instrumentation roots than to an audio product. The playback head, a unique "Delta" design incorporating both magnetic and non-magnetic ferrite materials, assures minimum feed-through from the record head and eliminates low frequency contour effects. In summary, if you wish the most advanced cassette system in the world, A&B Sound will be pleased to explain and demonstrate the C-1 — it's beyond comparison.

This matched music system features a receiver and turntable with specs twice as good as last year. The new JVC JR-S201 DC powered stereo receiver is now setting a performance standard for other 35 watt per channel receivers. Another JVC feature is the graphic equalizer 5 band tone control. The JVC QL-A2 direct drive turntable uses a piece of quartz crystal to regulate the platter speed. In fact, the quartz-lock QL-A2 ensures platter speed accuracy to one/ten thousandth of a per cent! That's greatly improved over a regular direct drive. Plus the QL-A2 has auto return and shut off. A pair of Ultralinear 175, three-way speakers complete this system. With a full 12" woofer, 4½" midrange and 2½" tweeter, this circuit breaker protected system represents true value engineering.

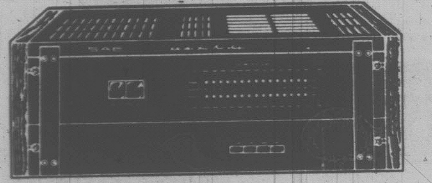
AMPLIFIERS



The SAE line of Stereo Power Amplifiers was developed and built with one basic philosophy, which is to incorporate the same state-of-the-art circuitry, wherever possible, in every model in the series.

In the amps, the only difference in the various models are power output, and features. For this reason, we will discuss the basic circuit and construction features of the SAE amplifiers as a group instead of reviewing the individual models. No matter which model you select SAE's philosophy ensures the finest available sonic performance and quality of construction.

- ★ Fully complementary design, (all models) used throughout the entire amplifier.
- ★ Quality parts such as G-10 Mil-Spec glass epoxy circuit boards.
- ★ Toroid transformers.
- ★ Protection circuitry: three different types.
- ★ LED display (2400L, 2300, 2200, 3100).
- ★ Series outputs (2600, 2400L).
- ★ 0.05% THD, 0.05% IM, S/N 100db.

Soundcraftsmen A NOTE ABOUT EQUALIZATION

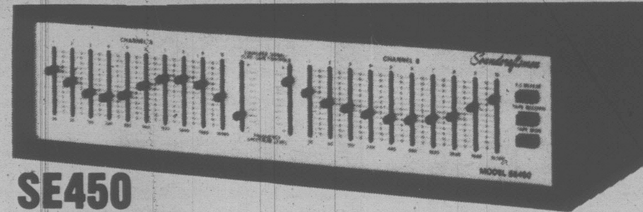
WHY EQUALIZATION?

- ☐ EQUALIZING FOR ROOM CHANGES: Some factors that would call for definite changes in your Equalizer settings. (1) Draperies open or closed (2) Sliding glass door open or closed. (3) Room full of people. (4) Seating arrangements changed. (5) Relocation of speakers.
- ☐ EQUALIZATION OF RECORDS: You can compensate for record deficiencies.
- ☐ COMPENSATING FOR RADIO STATIONS: Some stations are noted for excesses in either low or high frequencies.
- ☐ EQUALIZING TAPES: Perfectly equalized tape recordings can be made by simply pressing a switch. You can correct the source signal to your preference, and RECORD this onto your tape.
- ☐ CHANGING OVERALL BALANCE: You can make up for many deficiencies in recordings to more accurately duplicate the sounds of the original performance, or shape each curve to your own listening interests.
- ☐ HEARING DEFICIENCIES: Every ear has its own individual frequency response characteristics. Equalization overcomes nearly all hearing deficiencies.
- ☐ SOUND REINFORCEMENT: Many other commercial uses are possible. One of these is sound reinforcement in an amplified musical ensemble.
- ☐ CHANGING THE "COLOR" OF YOUR SPEAKER SYSTEMS All speakers have their own characteristics or "color." Regardless of how expensive or widely acclaimed a speaker system is, the added dimension of audio frequency equalization can measurably improve the sound of the speaker systems.
- ☐ SPECIAL EFFECTS: You can boost or cut the loudness of a specific instrument or groups of instruments to obtain more pleasing instrumental balance or to add presence to a solo.
- ☐ P.A. SYSTEMS: The Soundcraftsmen Equalizer is a perfect "low-cost" method of improving gain characteristics and obtaining excellent intelligibility in smaller P.A. systems.

IF YOU CHECKED 2 OR MORE, YOU NEED EQUALIZATION

ONLY THE SOUNDCRAFTSMEN "TOTAL EQUALIZATION SYSTEM" PROVIDES YOU WITH ALL OF THE INDISPENSABLE FEATURES AND ACCESSORIES YOU NEED:

- ✓ YOU NEED FULL-SPECTRUM BOOST OR CUT CONTROLLABILITY: SOUNDCRAFTSMEN'S "zero-gain" circuit allows overall full spectrum boost or cut for each channel. Only "zero-gain" equalization eliminates the dangers of distortion and damage to related equipment caused by the high signal levels that can be generated by any audio equalizer.
- ✓ YOU NEED A POSITIVE METHOD OF READING dB SETTINGS: SOUNDCRAFTSMEN has visual calibrations of each octave in dB increments for precise setting and resetting accuracy.
- ✓ YOU NEED AT LEAST 24 dB TOTAL CONTROL OF EACH OF THE TEN OCTAVES ON BOTH CHANNELS: SOUNDCRAFTSMEN provides more than +12 dB control — (typically + 14 to + 15 db) — thru specially-tapered slide potentiometers. Each control covers a single octave, from 20 Hz up thru 10 octaves to 20,480 Hz.
- ✓ YOU NEED TO BE ABLE TO LOOK AT YOUR ACTUAL "EQ" CURVES: SOUNDCRAFTSMEN'S separate left channel-right channel front panel design enables you to visualize your actual control settings and depicts graphically the curves you have created.
- ✓ YOU NEED MORE THAN A FEW "TONE BALANCING" CONTROLS: SOUNDCRAFTSMEN provides two completely separate equalizers, one for each channel, with no interconnection electronically, and no visual inter-mixture of controls.
- ✓ YOU NEED A UNIT THAT WILL ADD ZERO NOISE AND DISTORTION: SOUNDCRAFTSMEN's signal-to-noise and distortion performance figures are far superior to most hi-fidelity components.
- ✓ YOU NEED THE ABILITY TO EQUALIZE TAPE RECORDINGS — You can equalize as you record, for live-performance permanently-equalized reels or cassettes.



SE450

HARMONIC DISTORTION: Less than .01% at 2V.
IM DISTORTION: Less than .01% at 2V.
SIGNAL-TO-NOISE: 105 dB at 10V output.
OCTAVE CONTROLS: ± 16 dB boost or cut — each octave (all other octaves set at maximum). ± 12 dB boost or cut — each octave (all other octaves set at zero).
GAIN CUT CAPABILITY: + 22 dB/ - 28 dB - all controls at maximum.
FILTER TYPE: Op-Amp synthesized inductors.

Vacuum Cleans and educes Static Automatically ... Safely ... In Seconds! Ideal care for all records! 33⅓-45-78 RPM. Soft, resilient, natural mohair brushes reach deep into grooves to gently, safely loosen and lift damaging microduct particles. Vacuuming immediately removes dust. Static reduction circuit reduces dust-attracting electromagnetism to near neutral voltage. Vac-O-Rec cleaned records play with original fidelity.
